4. The Chairman shall supply to each polling officer a sufficient number of copies of so much of the list of voters revised in accordance with section 22, Act II (B. 14. At the close of the poll for each ward, the polling officer shall forward to the Chairman the voting papers which have been received by him duly sealed and secured, sending the voting papers to which objections have been taken separately from those to which no objections have been taken.

15. All claims or objections preferred under section 21 shall be decided by the Chairman ward by ward, and he shall give such notice in the Municipal Office of the date of hearing for each ward as may be practicable. Such hearing shall be conducted with open doors, in order that any intending candidates or their agents may be present, and the Chairman shall hear any person present who asks to be heard before disposing of such claim or objection.

(d) Such objection must be in writing and must be delivered to the Chairman on or before the 14th March.

17. Such objections, as well as all objections under Rule 10 or Rule 11, shall be heard by the Chairman after the date of election, and the provisions of Rule 15 shall apply to the hearing of the objections.

18. The Chairman shall, as soon as practicable, after disposing of objections under the last preceding rule, publish at the Municipal Office and in the Calcutta Gazette—

(a) The names of all candidates elected for wards for which there was no polling as provided in section 24;

(b) The names of all candidates for wards for which there has been polling, together with the number of valid votes given for each candidate, and the two candidates who have obtained the majority of valid votes shall be deemed to be duly elected Commissioners.

19. Except as otherwise provided in section 23, the Chairman's decision in all matters connected with the preparation of the list of voters and the validity of votes shall be final for the purposes of the election.

20. The following penalties are imposed for breach of these rules :—

These rules also include rules for the management of hospitals and dispensaries under Government supervision, which supersede those forming part of the Dispensary Manual, issued with the Government of Bengal notification dated the 2nd September 1886.

RULES FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF HOSPITALS AND DISPENSARIES UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY.

IN these rules—

(a) "Local authority" means any body of persons for the time being invested by law with the control and administration of any matters within a specified local area. It includes a Joint-Committee under section 30 and a Local Board under section 101 of Bengal Act III of 1885.

(b) "Local fund" means any fund under the control or management of a local authority.

CLASSIFICATION.

RULE 1.—Hospitals and dispensaries under Government supervision are divided into the following classes:—

CLASS I.—State hospitals and dispensaries maintained by Provincial Funds and under Government management. (The fact that an institution is possessed of endowments, or receives contributions from local funds or private subscriptions, does not remove it from this category so long as Provincial Funds are practically responsible for all the charges connected with it.)

CLASS II.—Local Fund hospitals and dispensaries under the control and administration of local authorities (i.e. District Boards, Local Boards, and Municipal Committees), or guaranteed or maintained by local funds. [The fact that such an institution is aided by private subscriptions, or receives assistance from Government in the shape of part of the salary of the medical officer, grants of medicine, or otherwise, does not remove it from this category so long as its existence is practically dependent upon local funds.]

CLASS III.—Private hospitals and dispensaries. This class is sub-divided into—

(A)—Institutions maintained entirely at the cost of private individuals or associations or from private endowments. [The fact that Government supplies superior inspection or registers does not remove an institution from this category.]

(B)—Institutions supported by private subscriptions or endowments, but receiving aid from Government or local funds.

CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH GOVERNMENT AID AND SUPERVISION WILL BE GIVEN.

RULE 2.—A dispensary may be opened by a local authority with the sanction, general or special, of the Commissioner, and on provision of the necessary funds in the annual budget, and it may be closed by the same authority with the same sanction. When thus opened or closed by a local authority, the fact shall be reported by the Civil Surgeon to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, in order that the dispensary may be added to or struck off from the list in Class II. No dispensary in Class II in which a Government medical subordinate is employed shall, however, be closed without the sanction of Government, and in the case of a dispensary in Class III, three months' notice shall be given before the dispensary is closed. All dispensaries maintained by local authorities with public funds entrusted to them by Government are subject to all the rules hereby laid down for the management of such institutions. Whenever a dispensary under Class III is opened or closed by a private individual, the fact shall be reported by the Civil Surgeon to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals. If it is desired that such institution shall be brought under the supervision and inspection of Government officers, or if it receives aid in any way (other than grant of forms and registers free of cost) from Government or local funds, it shall be brought on to the Government list, but not otherwise. If brought on to the Government list, it shall be subject to these rules.

RULE 3.—Applications for grants from Government in respect of any dispensary shall be submitted to Government through the Magistrate and the Commissioner.

The Lieutenant-Governor reserves the right to withdraw Government supervision or aid in any case, or at any time, when it may seem desirable to do so.

No grant may be made by a local authority in aid of any hospital or dispensary which has not received the recognition of Government and been classified under these rules. Grants-in-aid shall be made only in accordance with these rules.

RULE 4.—A guarantee bond for the maintenance of a dispensary for a given period may, if thought necessary, be required from the intending supporters of an institution in Class III as a condition precedent to their obtaining assistance from Government in money or in any other way.

RULE 5.—The Managing Committee of every hospital or dispensary under these rules, whether in Class I, Class II, or Class III, shall submit to the Medical Department, through the Civil Surgeon of the district, such reports, returns, and accounts as may be prescribed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals from time to time. Such reports, returns, and accounts shall be in such forms, and be submitted on such dates, as may be prescribed. All books, registers, and forms which may be necessary for the preparation and submission of such reports, returns, and accounts will be supplied by Government free of cost.

RULE 6.—Every institution which is recognised by Government and brought under these rules is subject to inspection and supervision by the Commissioner of the Division, by the Civil authorities of the district, by the Civil Surgeon, by the administrative officers of the Medical Department, and by any other person who may be generally or specially appointed by the Commissioner of the Division in that behalf. No charge will be made for such inspection or supervision.

RULE 7.—Government aid to a hospital or dispensary will be conditional on the observance of due economy in the management of the dispensary funds. The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals will bring to the notice of Government any instance in which he considers that such economy is not observed, and that the Government aid should be continued or withdrawn.

RULE 8.—Every dispensary under these rules, which has accommodation for in-patients, shall admit all cases brought by the police for examination and treatment; and shall provide facilities for post mortem examinations being conducted in such cases. At head-quarters of sub-divisions, where a special provision of medicines is made for Government servants, these medicines shall be separately stored and dispensed to Government servants in the dispensary and by its establishment.

APPOINTMENT, PAY, LEAVE AND PENSION OF MEDICAL OFFICERS.

RULE 9.—The medical officer of every institution in Class I of these rules shall be a member of the Government service, and shall be appointed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

The medical officer of a dispensary in Class II shall be nominated by the local authority and approved by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals. In the case of dispensaries situated at the head-quarters of districts or of sub-divisions, he shall be a member of the Government service, and shall in all cases possess such qualifications as may be declared to be necessary for such an appointment.

The medical officer for a dispensary in Class III shall ordinarily be appointed by the supporters of the institution in any manner they think fit; but if the dispensary receives pecuniary aid from Government, the grant of such aid may be coupled with any suitable conditions regarding the officer in charge.

RULE 10.—The conditions required in the preceding rule are, in the case of a dispensary in Class II, if the medical officer nominated is not a member of the Government service,—

(a) that he be a duly qualified medical man, licensed or certified by a recognised medical college or school, his license or diploma being subject to examination and approval by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals;

(b) that he be not a dismissed servant of Government, or disqualified for his duties by age, infirmity, or character; and

(c) that in the event of misconduct, insolvency, or professional incompetence by reason of age or otherwise, being proved against him to the satisfaction of the Medical Department, he be removed from his charge on the requisition of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

In the case of dispensaries in Class III assisted by Government funds—

(a) that he be not a dismissed servant of Government, or disqualified for his duties by age, infirmity, or character; and

(b) that in the event of misconduct, insolvency, or professional incompetence by reason of age or otherwise, being proved against any medical officer in a dispensary in class III assisted by Government funds or in class II, to the satisfaction of the Medical Department, he shall be removed from his charge on the requisition of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

RULE 11.—In the case of a hospital or dispensary situated at the head-quarters of a sub-division, the Government medical officer in charge of the sub-division will usually be in charge of the hospital or dispensary in addition to his other duties, and will receive from the managers of the dispensary an additional allowance of Rs. 10 a month if he is a Civil Hospital Assistant, or Rs. 20 a month if he is an Assistant Surgeon. It will be open to the managers, however, to obtain the services of a medical subordinate of the Government establishment of such higher rank as they may desire, on the payment by them of the full amount by which the authorised pay and allowances of such officer may exceed the amount sanctioned by Government for the medical charge of the sub-division.

RULE 12.—The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals may at any time, for departmental or other reasons, remove or transfer any Government medical subordinate whose services have been lent to an institution in Class II or III, and may appoint another medical subordinate to succeed him. In every such case, except as hereinafter provided, the transit pay and travelling allowances both of the officer transferred and of his successor shall be entirely paid by Government Provided that, if any officer is transferred at the request of the local authority or Managing Committee, the transit pay and travelling allowances both of the officer transferred and of his successor shall be entirely paid by the local authority or Managing Committee concerned.

RULE 13.—The pay to which a Government medical subordinate in medical charge of any dispensary is entitled is only the pay of his grade, and no allowance in excess of his authorized pay can be granted by a local authority without the consent of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

RULE 14.—A Government medical subordinate appointed to the charge of a hospital or dispensary under these rules will retain his right to pension and leave allowances under the rules of the Civil Service Regulations.

RULE 15.—All applications for leave from Government medical subordinates must be submitted, through the Managing Committee and the Civil Surgeon, to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, who alone is authorized to grant the leave and to appoint a substitute whose transit pay and travelling allowance will be paid by Government.

RULE 16.—Medical officers in charge of hospitals or dispensaries in Class II or Class III, who are not in Government service, shall be entitled to such leave as the local authority or Managing Committee may grant; provided that the leave or allowances during leave shall not exceed what would be admissible under the rules which apply to an officer paid from general revenues, and that in the case of an institution in Class II, if rules for the grant of leave have been framed by the local authority concerned, leave shall only be granted in accordance with such rules. The Local authority or Managing Committee shall appoint a locum tenens duly qualified under rule 9, and shall provide for any expenditure that may be incurred on account of the pay of the medical officer while on leave, and the pay and travelling allowances, if any, of his locum tenens.

RULE 17.—The salaries or part salaries of Government medical subordinates, including such enhanced pay as they may be entitled to on promotion, as well as the contributions towards their leave and pension allowances, which are due from a local authority or manager of a dispensary, must be paid each month, and the Magistrate of the district will be held responsible that such payments are duly made, and that steps are taken to recover their amount from the managers of the dispensary. In special cases, where on a full consideration of the entire income and expenditure of the local authority concerned, the Magistrate and the Commissioner are of opinion that it is really unable to meet the increased charge arising from the promotion of a medical subordinate, the Government will be prepared to help either by appointing an officer on lower pay, or by granting the amount due from Provincial funds.

MEDICAL STORES.

RULE 18.—The indents for medical stores for hospitals and dispensaries in Classes II and III must be drawn up by the medical officer of the institution and be checked and passed by the Civil Surgeon before the stores are purchased. Such institutions shall make their own arrangements for the supply of medicines and medical stores. Cinchona febrifuge and quinine can, however, at the option of the managing body, be obtained from the Government Quinologist direct on payment.

RULE 19.—Medical stores will be supplied to State hospitals and dispensaries from the Government Medical Store Department; but the indent must be checked and countersigned by the Civil Surgeon, and the supply will ordinarily be confined to the articles specified in the list given in Appendix B, Form XV. It will, however, be in the discretion of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals to sanction or disallow any demand.

RULE 20.—Medical stores to be supplied from the Medical Store Department must be indented for annually, and the annual indent must be submitted on the date fixed by the Civil Surgeon, to enable him to submit the combined indent for his district punctually on the date fixed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal.

MANAGEMENT AND SUPERVISION.

RULE 21.—The management of hospitals and dispensaries under these rules shall be vested as follows:—

If the institution is in—

(a) Class I—in such officer, person or persons as Government may direct.

(b) Class II—in the local authority which provides the major portion of the funds from which the institution is maintained, or in a Managing Committee appointed by that authority. Such Managing Committee may include persons who are not members of the local authority. The members shall be notified by the Commissioner in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Commissioner shall exercise in respect of the hospital or dispensary for which it is appointed such powers as may be delegated to it by the local authority.

(c) Class III—in a Manager or Managing Committee to be nominated by the supporters and approved by the Commissioner of the Division; provided that no Committee shall be appointed for any institution in this class, which receives no aid from Government or Local funds, unless the proprietors or chief supporters apply for such appointment.

No medical officer and no employé of the dispensary shall be eligible for appointment as a member of the Dispensary Committee.

RULE 22.—In cases falling under (b) and (c) of rule 21, the Local authority or the Managing Committee shall elect two of their number to be Chairman and Vice-Chairman respectively, and may also elect another of their number as Secretary.

RULE 23.—The Managing Committee shall meet at least once a quarter, and shall scrutinize the accounts and enquire into all matters affecting the welfare of the institution. They shall examine and pass the monthly accounts, and shall keep a minute-book in which their proceedings shall be recorded.

RULE 24.—The Managing Committee shall be responsible for the management of the funds of the institution. It shall be their duty to see that the guaranteed and promised subscriptions are regularly collected. After defraying the current expenses of the institution, the balance at the end of the month, if any, of the donations, subscriptions and interest realized by the Committee shall be deposited by them in the Post Office Savings Bank. When the amount at credit of the dispensary exceeds Rs. 200, the Comptroller-General should ordinarily be asked to invest the whole or a part of it in Government securities. No other mode of investment will be allowed without the previous sanction of Government.

RULE 25.—The Secretary shall keep the accounts of all funded and other property belonging to the institution. He shall receive from the medical officer in charge a monthly account of the receipts and disbursements, and shall examine and countersign all the establishment pay and contingent bills of the institution. He shall, at the end of each month, prepare a statement of the accounts, which he shall submit to the Committee at their next meeting. A copy shall also be sent to the Superintendent.

RULE 26.—In the case of institutions in Class II, all subscriptions, donations, and the interest on endowments shall be credited to the local fund, but a separate account of dispensary receipts and expenditure shall be kept. The endowments and subsequent investments, which must be made in Government securities, shall be held in the custody of the Comptroller-General apart from the assets of the local fund. Small sums available for investment should be placed in the Government Savings Bank. The securities must not be sold, and these invested funds must not be appropriated or used in any way without the sanction of Government.

RULE 27.—The Civil Surgeon shall be the Superintendent of every hospital and dispensary in his district which is classified under these rules, and shall exercise complete professional control over the medical officer in immediate charge.

RULE 28.—The Superintendent shall scrutinize the expenditure and accounts of every hospital and dispensary in his district, and shall call the attention of the managing body to any irregularity or other circumstance which, in his opinion, deserves notice. The managing body shall be bound to consider any communication from the Superintendent, to afford him full information as to the conduct of the medical officer in charge and all other matters affecting the welfare of the sick and the management of the institution. In all professional matters the decision of the Superintendent will be final; but if any difference of opinion arises between him and the managing body regarding any non-professional matter affecting the management of the institution, a reference must be made to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals or to Government for a decision.

RULE 29.—The Superintendent shall visit each dispensary in his district not less than four times annually, except by special dispensation from the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, and shall prepare and submit promptly to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals inspection reports in Form XXVI given in Appendix D.

RULE 30.—The Superintendent shall furnish an annual report of the working of the hospitals and dispensaries in his district to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, according to the scheme given in Appendix C, and annual returns in accordance with the forms annexed.

RULE 31.—The Managing Committee of every hospital or dispensary shall cause to be kept at the institution—

(a) a record of the work done, showing day by day the number of patients treated, the affections for which they were treated, and in important cases some account of the symptoms, the treatment, progress, and the result;

(b) a record of the accounts of the institution.

These shall be written up daily by the medical officer in charge, and shall be open at all times to the inspection of inspecting officers.

The medical officer shall write up all other books and records prescribed under these rules, and in any case in which this is not done, the reasons should be stated in the inspection report of the Superintendent.

RULE 32.—An extract from the proceedings of each meeting of the Managing Committee and of the local authority, so far as they relate to hospitals and dispensaries, shall be promptly forwarded to the Superintendent, who may, if he thinks fit, and shall, if the Managing Committee so desire, submit it with his remarks to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

RULE 33.—A Visitors' book shall be kept in every hospital and dispensary, in which will be recorded the remarks of visitors. A copy of these remarks shall be forwarded, on the day of entry, to the Superintendent, who will, if necessary, transmit it with his remarks to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals within three days of its receipt in his office.

GENERAL.

RULE 34.—The medical officer in charge of a hospital or dispensary is responsible for the proper treatment of the sick, and this duty shall not on any account be delegated to a subordinate; he is also responsible for all matters connected with the comfort and well-being of the patients, and for the proper working of the dispensary establishment.

RULE 35.—The Managing Committee shall prescribe the hours of attendance (which shall not be less than four hours in the morning and two hours in the afternoon) within which the medical officer must be present at the dispensary. He must also give attention to urgent cases at other hours.

The hours of attendance shall be clearly stated in a notice posted in some conspicuous part of the dispensary.

RULE 36.—Any person attending at a charitable dispensary is entitled to receive advice and medicines free of charge; but the medical officer should impress upon any person who is not poor the duty of subscribing to the dispensary or paying for the medicines supplied to him, and should bring to the notice of the Committee any cases in which the privilege is abused.

RULE 37.—No medicines shall be issued from the dispensary stock to any one who does not receive treatment at the dispensary either as an in-door or out-door patient.

RULE 38.—Where special accommodation has been provided for paying patients, fees may be levied according to a scale previously sanctioned in that behalf by the Managing Committee.

RULE 39.—The medical officer in charge of a dispensary has the privilege of engaging in private practice, provided it does not interfere with his attendance at the dispensary during the hours prescribed in rule 35, or in any other way with his dispensary work.

RULE 40.—No medical officer in charge of a hospital or dispensary, or any compounder, dresser, or other servant of such institution, shall have any interest in a private dispensary or druggist's shop. A medical officer may, with the consent of the Civil Surgeon and Managing Committee, keep a private supply of medicine for the use of his private patients.

RULE 41.—When accommodation is provided for the medical officer in or near the dispensary, he must live in the residence provided for him.

RULE 42.—In dispensaries in which there are house-patients, a bed-head ticket in the prescribed form shall be hung over the bed of each in-patient.

RULE 43.—Medicines and instruments shall be kept under lock and key, except small quantities of the articles in daily use during the attendance of patients.

RULE 44.—Poisons must be kept under separate lock and key.

RULE 45.—No building for the location of a dispensary or hospital in Classes II and III, and no extension of such building, shall be constructed by the local authority or manager until the plan of such building or extension shall have been approved by the Civil Surgeon. If in-patients are to be accommodated, each patient should have at least 60 superficial and 810 cubic feet of space, and the beds should be so placed that the patients will not be obliged to sleep in a draught of air. Plans and estimates of dispensaries in Class I must be approved by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal.

RULE 46.—In the case of institutions in Class II or Class III, repairs to the dispensary buildings shall be executed by, and be chargeable to, the Local authority or Managing Committee as the case may be.

RULE 47.—Menial servants will be appointed and discharged by the Managing Committee of the institution. Compounders and dressers will also be appointed and be liable to removal by the Managing Committee subject to the approval of the Superintendent.

RULE 48.—Dispensary servants must not be employed in the private service of the medical officer.

RULE 49.—The employment of apprentices is prohibited, except with the special permission of the Superintendent in the case of candidates training for the compounders' examination in the sudder dispensary at a civil station.

RULE 50.—Articles of clothing which are not infected, and other moveable property belonging to deceased house-patients, should be sent through the police to the local Munsif or District Judge for disposal under the provisions of Regulation V of 1799.

THE MONSOON OF 1891.

THE following report is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

The 5th January 1892. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY OF THE MONSOON PERIOD OF 1891.

THE following statement is intended to give a very brief history of the more important features which have characterised the south-west monsoon period and the preceding months of 1891.

The weather conditions in January were of fairly normal character, and for the greater part of the month typical north-east monsoon weather obtained. The number of barometric depressions originating in or coming from Northern India was small, and only two in any way affected the weather in Bengal, and of these one only was of any considerable importance. One small depression advanced over Bengal from the 8th to the 10th, but it gave no rain, though weather conditions were distinctly disturbed by it, and a wave of high temperature passed over the province in front of it. The second depression passed through Behar and Bengal on the 23rd and 24th, and gave fairly general, and in some cases heavy, rain in all districts except East Bengal and Orissa. With the exception of these two periods, weather was generally fine with almost cloudless skies. For the whole month the mean pressure was in excess of the normal at the majority of stations, but the variations were not usually more than a hundredth of an inch, while temperature was also higher than usual by about a degree. Cloud proportion was in distinct defect at almost all stations; but, on the other hand, humidity was higher than usual. The rainfall in Behar and in Chutia Nagpur equalled rather more than an inch, and was very distinctly in excess of the normal. The falls in South-West and North Bengal averaged from about a quarter to a third of an inch, and were rather less than the normal falls; but Orissa and East Bengal were almost rainless throughout the month.

On the first day of February conditions in Bengal were fairly normal, but another deep depression quickly made its appearance over North-Western India, and on the 2nd of the month an exceptionally deep storm covered the north-west of the Punjab. The greater part of this storm broke up against the Himalayas, giving apparently a heavy fall of snow. In connection with this storm also, a depression advanced over Bengal, giving a great increase of temperature in front of it, and a few showers also fell in Behar at the same time. In the rear of this depression a wave of exceptionally cold air advanced over Bengal, produced probably by the heavy fall of snow in the Himalayas, and in the three days from the 4th to the 7th a fall of temperature, varying from about 10° to 20°, took place over the province, and temperature became about 10° below the normal. Conditions then became more normal until about the 20th, when another deep depression appeared over the Punjab, which was accompanied by very steep baric gradients and a strong cyclonic circulation of winds. The depression advanced in a south-easterly direction towards Sirsa, and on the 22nd it, to a great extent, filled up and disappeared, but it left a large low pressure area which stretched over Bengal, and general rain set in over the greater part of the province from about the 21st to the 25th. During this period the falls equalled about three times the normal for the whole month in East and North Bengal, they were about twice as large as the normal fall in South-West Bengal and North Behar, while the falls were also considerably in excess of the normal in Orissa and South Behar, and about normal in Chutia Nagpur. The actual average falls in February ranged from more than three inches in East Bengal to about two-thirds of an inch in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Pressure during the month was everywhere above the normal, the excess ranging from about two to four hundredths of an inch, while temperature was slightly below the normal in all districts except North Bengal, where there was a slight excess. The air was also more humid than usual in all districts except South-West Bengal and Orissa where it was drier, and over the whole province the cloud proportion was about equal to the normal.

The meteorological conditions which obtained in March were of a most unusual character. Almost throughout the month, instead of the fine settled weather with steadily increasing temperature, with an almost complete absence of rainfall and cloud, and the low humidity which usually prevails, weather was in a more or less disturbed condition, rain was general, and at many stations very heavy on many days in the month; skies were heavily clouded, temperature was abnormally low, and the air was very damp. This reversion of the ordinary weather conditions was brought about by the existence of disturbed atmospheric conditions, in most cases connected with feeble barometric depressions, for almost the whole month. On the 4th a shallow barometric depression formed over the central parts of India and the Peninsula, which at once caused disturbed weather and rain in Bengal. This depression drifted slowly in an easterly direction over the province and affected the weather up till about the 10th. On the 11th a very decided barometric depression formed in North-Western India, which afterwards drifted away in an easterly direction along the line of the Himalayas, and this again caused weather to be rather stormy in Bengal. From about the 15th to the 18th conditions became more settled, when once again disturbances set in, the disturbance apparently commencing in the hills and in the higher strata of the atmosphere. On the 22nd a distinct area of low pressure had formed, which stretched from the south of Behar through Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal into Orissa, and this afterwards travelled in an easterly and south-easterly direction to the north-east angle of the Bay, and then into Burma, which it reached on the 25th. During the whole of this period very disturbed weather, with many local storms, obtained, and rainfall was frequent up to the 26th, but for the remainder of the month fine settled weather with almost cloudless skies and complete absence of rain set in. The rainfall in March was therefore generally excessive. It was about six times the normal amount in Behar, about five times the normal in Chutia Nagpur, four times in Orissa, three times as large as usual in South-West and North Bengal, while in East Bengal it was almost normal in amount. Generally the falls averaged from about two-and-a-half to four-and-a-half inches. Notwithstanding the disturbed conditions, the mean pressure in Bengal was in excess of the normal, the usual excess averaging about three or four hundredths of an inch. The mean temperature for the whole month was about 4° in defect, but during the second week the day temperature at many stations was 10° and 12° lower than usual. Owing to the abnormal disturbances and rainfall, both humidity and cloud proportion were also largely in excess of the normal.

In April, for about the first twenty days, fine weather, of the usual hot season type, obtained, and with the rapid rise of temperature which then took place the unusually low temperature which had existed in March was rapidly replaced by a moderate excess above the normal. From the 20th of April, however, a shallow low pressure area was formed in the west and centre of the province accompanied by the usual cyclonic circulation of winds, and a period of disturbed weather with numerous local storms and rain set in over the province which lasted till almost the close of the month. The rainfall in East Bengal in April was about a third larger than the normal, and this division received 5·18 inches. In all other divisions the falls were in defect of the normal. In North Bengal the fall was a little less than two inches, or about two-thirds the normal. South-West Bengal received an inch or only half the usual fall. In Orissa the fall was only half an inch or about two-fifths of the normal, while in Behar and Chutia Nagpur the falls only averaged between one and two tenths of an inch, and generally were only equal to a fourth of the normal fall. Pressure in April was above the normal, the excess equalling about two or three hundredths of an inch. The mean temperature of the whole province for the month was nearly normal, though in Orissa, East and North Bengal and South Behar slight excess temperatures were registered; while, on the other hand, slight defects were reported in South-West Bengal, North Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Humidity was, if anything, a little lower than usual, while cloud proportion was generally higher.

In May, weather conditions almost throughout the month were unusually disturbed, and local storms with rain were numerous, particularly in the second and third weeks, and in the southern, eastern and northern districts. After this also conditions continued disturbed with more frequent rainfall, and there were many local storms up to the close of the month over almost the whole Province, the rainfall being due, first to the action of a small storm from the Bay, which advanced across the Orissa Coast on the 24th, and, second, to a small depression which advanced from the Bay between Saugor Island and Chittagong on the 29th, and which gave moderate rain to the southern and eastern districts. The rainfall during May was rather lighter than usual during the first week It then became heavier, and was in excess of the normal in all districts except South Behar, Orissa, and Chutia Nagpur for the second and third weeks, but during the last part of the month, it became exceedingly heavy and was in large excess in all districts. Thus the falls in East Bengal averaged fourteen inches, or nearly five inches more than usual. North Bengal received nearly twelve inches, or three-and-a-third inches in excess; South-West Bengal more than nine inches, or nearly four inches more than usual. North Behar registered five-and-a-half inches, or two and a third inches in excess, and Orissa also rather more than five inches or an inch-and-a-third in excess. South Behar and Chutia Nagpur received about four inches or roughly an inch-and-a-half more than usual.

The variations of pressure from the normal in May were a little irregular, but for the whole month there was a slight excess, generally equalling about one or two hundredths of an inch. Temperature was at first in considerable excess of the normal, but at the close of the month it was equally in defect owing to the heaviness of the rainfall, and the average for the whole month showed a defect of half a degree. Humidity and cloud proportion were both rather largely in excess of the normal during May.

During the first five months of the year, or in what may be termed the pre-monsoon months, it will be seen that the meteorological conditions in Bengal were very unusual. It is true that in January conditions were fairly normal, but even in this month the rainfall in Behar and Chutia Nagpur was about twice as heavy as usual, while defective falls were received elsewhere. In February conditions were very disturbed owing to the unusual nature and intensity of the cold weather storms, and the Province generally received a rainfall about twice or three times its normal amount. In March the conditions were exceptionally disturbed and stormy, and rainfalls were usually from about twice up to seven times the usual amount. April, on the other hand, was a fairly quiet and normal month, though rainfalls were generally rather largely in defect; but in May disturbed conditions again commenced and continued almost throughout the month, with the result that rainfalls were generally from 50 to 75 per cent. in excess. For the whole period of five months, it may be said that the rainfall in Bengal was about 92 per cent. in excess of the normal. All the meteorological divisions, indeed, showed a large excess for this period, the smallest being 38 per cent. of excess in East Bengal, and the largest 168 per cent. in excess in South Behar, and 137 per cent. in excess in North Behar; while all the other divisions showed excess amounts of from 50 to 90 per cent.

The monthly mean pressures, recorded throughout the five months, were in distinct excess of the normal, the excess usually being about 0·02″ or 0·03.″ Temperature, on the other hand, was in moderate excess in January, about normal or in slight defect in February, April, and May, and in very large defect in March. Humidity and cloud proportion were above the usual amounts almost throughout this period.

In the Bay there were no signs of any advancing monsoon current up to the 20th of May, when rather strong winds set in representing probably the first advance of the monsoon. A small storm, which was of moderate intensity at sea, formed in front of this advance, and it afterwards travelled in a north north-westerly direction, crossing the coast near Gopalpur on the 24th, and giving a wave of moisture-laden winds and rain to Bengal generally. Another small depression formed in this advance of monsoon winds in the northern half of the Bay, and advanced across the Sunderbuns during the 29th of May, again giving a slight advance of monsoon winds to South Bengal, but though a burst of monsoon winds and rain was thus given to Bengal in May, yet the monsoon current did not establish itself permanently over the province at this time, and it again retreated into the centre or south of the Bay.

The meteorology of June was most unusual. In ordinary years, after the preliminary advance of the monsoon winds, which takes place in the south of the Bay in the second half of May, similar advances usually take place early in June, and these, spreading over Bengal, give the ordinary monsoon rains which commence on an average date of the 12th to the 15th, and continue steadily up till the middle of October. In the present year, owing apparently to the unusual weakness of the general monsoon current, the monsoon winds were not able to advance further than the middle of the Bay up till quite the end of the month, and hence the general monsoon rainfall did not begin in Bengal until the 27th, or a fortnight later than usual. Also, even when the current did set in over Bengal, its strength appeared to be much below the normal, and consequently the wind velocities at the coast stations round the head of the Bay during June were much lower than usual. The rainfall in this month was therefore comparatively very small, even though there had been an advance of monsoon winds at the end of May which had given good rain over a large part of the Province during the first three days of June. In East Bengal there was a fall of nearly thirteen inches, or five inches less than usual; North Bengal received nine inches, or more than eight inches in defect; Orissa only registered two-and-a-half inches, or more than six inches less than usual; South-West Bengal received six inches or four inches less than the average; South Behar averaged five-and-a-half inches of rain, or rather more than an inch in defect; Chutia Nagpur received rather less than four inches, and was nearly four-and-a-quarter inches in defect; while, finally, North Behar received more than eight inches of rain, or practically a normal fall. In some of the smaller districts the falls indeed were only from 10 to 20 per cent. of the normal, and such was the case in Pooree and Cuttack.

In June the variations of pressure from the normal were considerable in different districts and at neighbouring stations, and also at different periods of the month; but the variations to a great extend neutralized one another, and consequently the mean pressure for the month varied only slighly from the normal pressure, usually being in defect by one or two hundredths of an inch. Temperature was on the average about one degree in excess of the normal, but the excess was largest in Orissa, South-West Bengal and South Behar. In cloud proportion and humidity the variations were unimportant.

In July the monsoon current blowing over Bengal, as judged by the wind velocities at the coast stations, appeared to be stronger than usual, but the rainfall was only in excess of the normal in North Bengal, while elsewhere it was rather defective. The current was fairly steady in character, and the number of barometric depressions or feeble cyclonic storms forming in the Bay, was smaller than usual. Only one depression of any importance formed at the head of the Bay on the 24th and passed inland, and there was also one cyclonic storm which generated in the east of the Bay, but which did not reach the land until August. For the first twenty days of July, conditions were of ordinary rather light monsoon character in Bengal and over the Bay, but on the 22nd a distinct low pressure area formed in the north-west angle of the Bay, which continued almost unchanged in position and intensity up to the 24th, when it developed rather rapidly, and on the morning of the 25th a very definite and rather influential barometric depression existed, the centre of which was over the Sunderbuns to the east of Saugor Island. It then advanced in a north-westerly direction, and on the 26th the centre of the storm was in Chutia Nagpur; on the 27th it was near Jubbulpore and Sutna; on the 28th near Jhansi; on the 29th to the west of Ajmir; and on the 30th it was near Bikanir, and was rapidly filling up. The storm was accompanied by a strong cyclonic circulation of winds, and in its rear a heavy wave of moisture-laden winds spread over Bengal and over Northern India generally, and from the 26th to the 30th of July very heavy rain fell in Bengal. In July, therefore, the rainfall in North Bengal equalled about sixteen-and-a-half inches, or nearly two-and-a-half inches more than usual; in East Bengal also about sixteen-and-a-half inches fell or practically a normal fall; in Chutia Nagpur the fall averaged nearly thirteen inches or slightly less than the normal; and in South-West Bengal rather more than eleven inches fell, or again slightly less than the normal. Behar received between ten and ten-and-a-half inches or about two inches less than the normal, while in Orissa a little more than nine inches fell, or about three-and-a-quarter inches less than usual. In the following districts the falls were very scanty and did not equal half the normal amounts:—Pooree and Shahabad; while in the following the falls were less than two-thirds the usual fall:—Howrah, North Bhagulpore and Sarun.

In July pressure was, on the whole, in decided defect of the normal for a considerable portion of the month, while temperature was almost normal in all divisions except South Behar, where a distinct excess was registered. The average humidity was practically normal, while the cloud proportion was, if anything, larger than usual.

In August the moonsoon current, as judged by the wind velocities, was in distinct defect of the normal almost throughout the month, but as no less than four feeble barometric depressions and one cyclonic storm affected the weather, and as all of these either passed through or affected the south-western districts of the Province, these hence received rather abundant rainfall, while the remainder of the Province, and particularly the northern divisions, received falls decidedly below the normal. The cyclonic storm was formed in the Bay on the 31st of July to the north-west of Diamond Island, and commenced to move in a north-westerly or north north-westerly direction. On the 1st of August it was to the west of Akyab, and was giving very heavy weather in the Bay On the morning of the 2nd, the storm centre was nearly over the Sunderbuns, between Chittagong and Saugor Island, when it suddenly changed the direction of its advance and travelled almost due west along the face of the Sunderbuns, and on the 3rd the centre was to the west of Balasore. It then advanced through Chutia Nagpur to Sutna where it filled up on the 6th. On the 7th a small depression which had formed near the north-west angle of the Bay passed inland to the west of Saugor Island, advancing in a north-westerly direction. This passed into the North-West Provinces and the Punjab, and on the 10th it was near Delhi. On the 12th a depression was formed with a centre near Jessore, which afterwards moved in a westerly and north-westerly direction and filled up near Allahabad. This small storm gave very heavy weather near the head of the Bay. Again, on the 20th, another depression formed in the north-west angle of the Bay and passed inland near Balasore on the 24th, and again on the 31st a new depression was formed off the South Orissa Coast which gave moderate rain to Orissa.

The rainfall in August was heaviest in Orissa, where nearly sixteen inches fell, or four-and-a-half inches more than the normal. Chutia Nagpur received twelve-and-a-half inches, or nearly an inch in defect of the normal. In South-West Bengal the falls averaged nearly eleven inches or about two inches less than usual. In East Bengal ten-and-a-half inches fell, or no less than five-and-a-half inches in defect. South Behar received nine-and-a half inches or about two inches less than the normal fall. The falls, however, were still more decidedly in defect in North Bengal and North Behar. North Bengal received only a little more than six inches, or rather more than seven-and-a-half inches less than usual, while in North Behar the actual falls averaged seven-and-a-half inches or four inches in defect. The following districts received falls during August of less than half the usual amount:—Moorshedabad, Noakholly, Pubna, Maldah, Dinagepore, Rungpore, Cooch Behar, Julpigoree, and Purneah; while falls of from half to two-thirds the normal were recorded in Nuddea, Khoolna, Jessore, Chittagong, Furreedpore, Tipperah, Bogra, and North Bhagulpore.

The mean pressure for August was again not far removed from the normal. Compared with the general pressure for the province, there was slightly deficient pressure in the north-west angle of the Bay and the adjacent parts of South-West Bengal, which apparently determined the position of formation of the greater number of barometric depressions during the month. Temperature was below the normal by moderate amounts in Orissa, and slightly below it in Chutia Nagpur, but in all other divisions excess temperature was registered, the usual excess equalling from half to one degree. Humidity was almost normal during the month, but cloud proportion was, if anything, slightly in excess of the normal.

In September again the monsoon current appeared to be particularly weak, but it continued to blow feebly over Bengal up till almost the close of the month, and slight rainfall was fairly general in all districts up to the 28th or 29th. The number of shallow barometric depressions which formed in the north-west angle of the Bay during the early part of the month was rather considerable; indeed, in the first eighteen days, four depressions generated and passed westwards and north-westwards through Orissa and South-West Bengal, though they were all so feeble that they scarcely require separate descriptions, and later on a depression advanced from Burma across the Bay, and also passed through Orissa on the 22nd of September. Most of these moved in a north-westerly direction along a trough of low pressure, which extended from the head of the Bay over part of the Central and North-West Provinces. The influence of the depressions was, however, rather limited, and the rainfall caused by them, though generally heavy near the track of the centre, was almost entirely confined to the western and south-western districts of the Province. Hence rainfall was in excess of the normal in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, while it was in decided defect elsewhere, and particularly in the northern districts, such as North Behar and North Bengal, where the falls only equalled about a third of the normal quantities.

The rainfall in September in Orissa was the very large amount of eighteen-and-a-half inches, or more than eight inches in excess of the normal amount, while the next largest fall was in Chutia Nagpur, which only received nine inches or a little more than the usual fall in this month. The falls in South-West and East Bengal equalled about six inches, while in South Behar and North Bengal they were less than five inches, and in North Behar the falls only averaged the small amount of three-and-a-half inches. The defects in these districts in September were no less than the following amounts:—North Bengal eight-and-a-half inches, North Behar six-and-a-half inches, East Bengal six inches, South Behar three-and-a-half inches, and South-West Bengal two-and-a-half inches. In this month the following districts received falls of about a quarter of the usual amount:—Rajshahye, Rungpore, North Bhagulpore, Durbhunga and Mozufferpore; while falls of only about half to a quarter of the usual amount were registered in Burdwan, Beerbhoom, Nuddea, Chittagong, Noakhally, Tipperah, Mymensingh, Pubna, Bogra, Maldah, Dinagepore, Cooch Behar, Julpigoree, Darjeeling, Purneah, Chumparun, Sarun, Gya and Monghyr. On the other hand, in the district of Cuttack the fall equalled no less than 129 per cent. in excess of the normal, and about 50 per cent. in excess in Pooree and Balasore.

The only storm worthy of record during September was one which passed into the Indian region as a definitely formed storm from Siam. On the 20th it had advanced in a westerly direction from Siam, and its centre was in the Gulf of Martaban to the south of Rangoon. It then advanced in a west-north-westerly direction with such great rapidity that by the evening of the 22nd it had crossed the whole of the Bay of Bengal and was passing into Orissa, close to False Point. The small storm was, however, of no particular intensity; the lowest pressure reported at False Point being 29·436 inches, and it gave only squally weather in the Bay and at the coast stations during its passage. It afterwards passed into the Central Provinces, where its movement became northerly; later on it moved in a north-easterly direction till it reached Allahabad, where it practically filled up.

Pressure in September was very irregular owing to the number of depressions formed, but the means for the whole month were very nearly normal in South-West Bengal, below it by 0·02 inch in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and the west of Behar, and above it elsewhere by variable amounts ranging up to 0·08 inch. Owing to the distribution of the rainfall, temperature was considerably below the normal in Orissa, and slightly below it in Chutia Nagpur; but elsewhere it was above it, the excess being larger than one degree in North and South Behar and North Bengal. The variations of humidity and cloud proportion during September were not important.

In October the weakness of the south-west monsoon current again made itself felt by the unusually early period at which it withdrew from Bengal, and by the early cessation of the monsoon rains, for the rainfall due to this current practically entirely ceased on 5th October instead of in the middle of the month as happens in normal years. There was also an unusual absence of cyclonic storms or of barometric depressions such as are usually formed in this month, and, beyond a depression of very moderate dimensions, which formed in the south-west of the Bay towards the close of the month, and which passed across the south of the Peninsula, there was no storm or even disturbed weather of any kind. Fine settled weather therefore prevailed in Bengal almost uninterruptedly from about the first week in the month, and winds were more strongly northerly, and the northerly winds were also stronger than usual in the last three weeks of October, while temperature, humidity and cloud proportion, owing to the setting in of northerly winds, were all considerably below the normal during the month. Pressure, on the other hand, was unusually high almost throughout the month, and was considerably in excess of the normal for the period.

Rainfall was, however, unusually scanty, the average falls in the large meteorological divisions ranging only from 2·02 inches in North Bengal to 0·53 inch in Chutia Nagpur, while the amounts in defect varied from nearly five inches in Orissa to about two inches in Behar. Expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for October, the actual rainfall of the whole Province only equalled about 31 per cent., while in such divisions as Chutia Nagpur, South-West Bengal, and Orissa the falls only equalled about 20 per cent., and no single division received as much as 50 per cent. of the normal fall. In the following divisions, indeed, the falls received were less than 10 per cent. of the usual amount for October:—Midnapore, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Burdwan, Khoolna, Hazaribagh and Manbhoom; while falls less than 20 per cent. of the normal were received in Cuttack, Balasore, Nuddea, Jessore, Backergunge, Dacca, Darjeeling, South Bhagulpore and Lohardugga.

As a general rule, the review of the monsoon period concludes with the month of October; but in the present year the meteorology of the first half of November has been so important that it is included in the monsoon period. Indeed, in November, two very severe cyclones formed in the Bay, one of which appeared in the Indian region on the 1st of November and afterwards travelled through Bengal, giving moderate amounts of rain, while the second was formed on the 21st to the west of the Andamans and advanced rapidly in a north-easterly direction crossing the Burma Coast on the night of the 23rd, or on the early morning of the 24th, between Akyab and Diamond Island, and then rapidly broke up in the Arakan Hills. It was a very severe storm, and did much damage at sea, and it gave rather heavy rain to Burma; but as the rainfall did not extend to Bengal, this review of the meteorology of the monsoon period has, with the accompanying tables, been closed on 15th November.

The cyclone of the early part of November was, on the whole a small one in diameter, but its fierceness was very great and was quite equal to the majority of cyclones which have been previously described. It is probable that this cyclone was generated in the Gulf of Siam, and that it crossed the Malay Peninsula into the Andaman Sea as a severe storm. It certainly existed as a violent storm on the 1st of November, a little to the east of the Andaman Islands, and it crossed Port Blair on the night of the 1st and morning of the 2nd. Even at this time it was a very severe storm, though the diameter of the hurricane winds was probably not more than 60 or 80 miles, and it did a large amount of damage both at sea and on land at the Andamans. It then moved in a west north-westerly or north-westerly direction towards the Ganjam Coast, and as it began to approach that coast, it increased very decidedly in intensity, and became one of the most severe storms on record. On the morning of the 4th it was to the south-east of Gopalpur, but as it approached the coast it changed the direction of its movement and travelled first in a northerly and then in a north-easterly direction. The centre passed very close to False Point between 4 and 5 P.M. of the 5th, and passed over the Intermediate Light-vessel off the mouth of the Hooghly at 2-30 A.M. of the 6th.

It then passed through South Bengal between Saugor Island and Chittagong, and passed through East Bengal into Sylhet and Upper Burma and Upper Assam. In its progress it did a large amount of damage to the shipping and on land, but as it passed into South Bengal it commenced rapidly to decrease in intensity and soon became a feeble storm.

It brought up exceptionally heavy rain to Orissa, Pooree receiving 13·61 inches, Kendrapara 15·7 inches, &c., during the storm; but the rainfalls in South and East Bengal were much lighter. Owing to the action of the storm, in the first fifteen days of November Orissa received an average fall of no less than 6·24 inches, while East Bengal received rather more than two inches. The falls in South-West Bengal averaged an inch and in North Bengal six-tenths of an inch. A few showers fell in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, but North Behar received no rain. The rainfall for the first half of November in Orissa was about seven times the normal, and in North Bengal it was more than four times the usual amount. In South-West Bengal it was three-and-a-half times the normal, and in East Bengal it was two-and-a-half times as much as usual, but in the other districts the falls were decidedly less than usual. The rainfall, however, was not evenly distributed, and in North Bengal the falls were particularly irregular: the district of Bogra received about two inches, Pubna and Rajshahye about an inch, Maldah, Dinagepore, Rungpore and Darjeeling less than a fifth of an inch, and Julpigoree and Cooch Behar practically no rain at all. The whole of North Behar was rainless, and the whole of South Behar was also practically rainless except the Sonthal Pergunnahs district, where a little less than half an inch fell. In Chutia Nagpur the falls in the Singbhoom district averaged nearly half an inch, while the Hazaribagh, Lohardugga and Manbhoom districts received falls varying up to about a fifth of an inch. In the other divisions the falls were more copious and also rather more regular. In East Bengal, Tipperah received nearly four inches, Dacca about two-and-a-half inches, Chittagong Hill Tracts and Furreedpore a little less than two inches, and Chittagong, Backergunge, Noakhally, and Mymensingh from one to one-and-a-half inches. In South-West Bengal the Saugor Island district received two-and-a-half inches, Jessore, Khoolna, Moorshedabad, and Beerbhoom between one and two inches, Nuddea, Bankoora, Burdwan, and 24-Pergunnahs about half an inch, and Midnapore, Howrah, and Hooghly about a quarter of an inch. The falls were particularly heavy in Orissa, where the Pooree and Cuttack districts received an average fall of about eight inches and the Balasore district about four inches. It will therefore be seen that the meteorology of November was very important in so far as the rainfall was concerned.

The principal features of the monsoon season of 1891, and of the months preceding it in Bengal, have therefore been—

1. Pressure was almost uniformly in excess of the normal by amounts of about 0·02″ to 0·03″ up to the commencement of the rains.

2. Temperature was in slight excess at the commencement of the year, and afterwards generally slightly in defect up till the rains, except in March, when the defect was particularly large.

3. The number of cold weather storms which occurred in the early part of the year was particularly large, and the storms themselves were exceptionally influential, and in March the weather was disturbed from the occurrence of storms for almost the whole month.

4. The hot weather storms of the type of nor'-westers were very numerous in May, but of about the usual number in the other months; these storms were of about the normal character, and none of those reported were of exceptional intensity, and no tornadoes appear to have formed.

5. Rainfall in the pre-monsoon period was exceptionally abundant, and the general rainfall in the Province was nearly twice as large as usual, the excess being largest in North and South Behar and smallest in East Bengal.

6. The actual monsoon rains set in over Bengal about a fortnight later than usual, and the rains did not break until June 27th or 28th.

7. Even from the period of the commencement of the monsoon up till its close, the monsoon current was particularly weak and gave generally only very light rain.

8. About the normal number of barometric depressions or feeble cyclonic storms were formed in the Bay during the monsoon, but these showed an unusually strong tendency to advance through Orissa into the Central Provinces, Chutia Nagpur, &c.

9. Hence rainfall was frequently in excess of the normal in Orissa, while it was in defect in all other districts, and for the monsoon season while Orissa received about 10 per cent. more rainfall than usual, the other divisions received from 10 to 30 or even 40 per cent. less than usual, the largest defects equalling about 30 to 40 per cent. occurring in parts of North Bengal and North Behar.

10. The monsoon current also retreated from Bengal very much earlier and much more rapidly than usual, the rainfall ceasing on about the 5th of October, instead of in the middle of October as in normal years, and the closing of the rains was thus about ten days earlier than usual.

11. As the monsoon began a fortnight late, and closed ten days earlier, the monsoon period was unusually short and extended over only a little more than three months.

12. In the earlier part of the retreat of the south-west monsoon down the Bay, no storms of importance were formed, and October was an unusually quiet month, but in November two very fierce cyclones formed, one of which advanced into the north-west angle of the Bay and into Bengal, and the other into Burma, and both gave rather heavy rain.

13. The rainfall of the first half of November was therefore very important, and general rain was received in the south-western, southern, and south-eastern districts of the province.

14. The following tables give briefly the amount and variation of the rainfall in each of the seven meteorological divisions month by month for the monsoon season the 1st of May to 15th November, inclusive.

15. Finally, the rainfall of the whole province from May to 15th November inclusive has averaged 47·70 inches, while the normal fall for the period is 55·79, so that the actual fall has been in defect of the normal by 8·09 inches. Expressed as a percentage, the actual rainfall of the province of Bengal for the monsoon season of 1891 has been in defect of the normal by about 15 per cent.

* Mean of 5 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last for the week ending Saturday, the 2nd of January 1892.

Explanation.—..... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 5th January 1892

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 2ND OF JANUARY 1892.

THE week has again been one which calls for no detailed comment, as ordinary north-east monsoon or cold weather conditions have prevailed throughout the period. On the 27th the changes of barometric pressure were very small, and pressure remained above the normal by amounts ranging from 0·03" to 0·1". The fall of temperature, however, which had commenced at the close of the previous week continued slowly on the 27th, and temperature was generally below the normal by from 1° to 3° at the western and southern stations, while it was above by almost similar amounts at the eastern and northern stations. Light northerly winds prevailed over the whole province, the air was moderately dry, the sky almost free from cloud, and there was no rain. On the 28th pressure had commenced to fall slowly, though it still remained above the normal, but temperature had risen at the majority of stations by moderate amounts, and almost all stations, except a few in South Bengal and Orissa, registered temperatures in excess of the normal. On the 29th a further fall of the barometer took place, though pressure still remained very slightly in excess, of the normal, but on this day temperature had commenced to fall rather briskly at the majority of stations. On the 30th a further moderate fall of pressure had occurred, and pressure became distinctly below the normal, while a slight fall of temperature was also reported at many stations. On the 31st of December a further rather rapid fall of pressure took place, the fall at some of the western stations almost equalling a tenth of an inch, and pressure became below the normal by amounts ranging from about 0·06" to 0·12", while temperature also again fell at many stations. This continuous and rather rapid fall of pressure was apparently connected with the formation of a very feeble barometric depression in North-Western India, which on the 31st appeared to have a centre near Lucknow. This at once affected the weather in Bengal slightly, and on the 1st of January southerly winds set in at some of the southern stations, and winds generally appeared to be influenced by low pressure in the hills; the sky also clouded over considerably, while humidity became very high at some stations, but no rain fell. The depression, however, did not develop, for on the morning of January the 1st a moderate increase of pressure was reported, and on the 2nd again a further moderate increase had taken place, through pressure was still slightly below the normal. The feeble depression, though only of brief existence, and though it had practically disappeared on the 2nd, had, however, caused temperature to increase moderately to rapidly in Bengal, and on the 2nd it was generally about 2° in excess of the normal. On the 2nd however winds had again become generally northerly, the sky had begun to clear rather rapidy, and weather was generally returning to its normal cold weather character, and throughout the whole week rainfall was thus entirely absent from the province.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week over the whole province has been very nearly normal, and at about half the stations slight defects have been recorded. while at the other half slight excess pressures have been registered. These small variations have, however, been rather irregular, though generally at the south-western and western stations slight excess pressures have been registered, and at the northern and eastern stations slight defects.

Temperature. - The variations of temperature during the week have already been described. For the whole of this period, the mean temperature of the province has been absolutely normal. but in different districts there have been considerable variations, for the mean temperature of Orissa has been 1·9° below the normal, while in North Bengal and Behar there has been an excess temperature of half a degree and upwards.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. During the week it will be seen that the maximum or day temperatures have generally been in excess of the normal, while the night or minimum temperatures have been in defect, the defect at such places as Cuttack and Calcutta being considerable:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

DECREASES.

	Tons.		Tons.
Rice	1,294	Jute, unscrewed	15,225
Most of the rice-exporting stations on the Northern section show decreases under this head, said to be due to scanty production.		The falling off was in despatches from the principal jute-booking stations on the Northern, Dacca, and Eastern sections.
Cotton piece-goods	1,575	Salt	7,133

AUSTRALIA—MONTALIVET ISLANDS.

Existence of certain reefs lying near the island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 564 of 1891) that information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H.M. Surveying vessel Penguin, dated 17th September 1891, of the existence of the undermentioned reefs lying near Montalivet islands, the result of recent examination of the locality:—

1. Ingram reef originally reported by Mr. H. Lee, commanding the Adelaide S.S. Company's vessel Rob Roy, is one mile in length in a north-west and south-east direction, and three cables broad, with depths of 28 to 30 fathoms around. The shallowest part, a coral patch of small extent, is awash at low water, and lies with the northern Montalivet island bearing S. by W., distant 6½ miles, or in approximately on Admiralty charts lat. 14° 6′ 55″ S., long. 125° 20′ 45″ E. The sea does not usually break on this reef except near low water. The Penguin passed twice within a mile of it, before finding it, and though the weather was favourable, no indication of shoal water was seen.

2. Albert reef lying westward of the West Montalivet island, appears to be detached from that island, but vessels should not attempt to pass between. The north-west part which dries at low water is situated in approximately lat. 14° 11′ S., long. 125° 6′ E.

3. Rob Roy reefs extend about 6 miles in a north and south direction, with a breadth of about 3 miles. The western breakers lie in approximately lat. 14° 25′ S., long. 124° 50 E.; the northern breaker is situated in approximately lat 14° 22′ S., long. 124° 52′ E, About half a mile south-east of the northern breaker there is a sand cay, which is awah at half tide.

CAUTION.—As in the neighbourhood of the dangers near Montalivet islands the tides are strong, the banks and reefs steep-to, and the water unusually turbid, great care is necessary when navigating in the locality.

The depths given are at low water spring tides.

Approaching Zanzibar harbour, red buoys should be left on the starboard hand, black buoys on the port hand (consequently the colours of the two Southern pass buoys are reversed, but in order to prevent confusion, the old buoys are for the present kept in position). The buoys recently placed are can buoys:—

(1.) A can buoy, black and red chequered, is moored in 3½ fathoms water on the southern edge of Seagull shoal, with White Block house bearing E. by N. ½ N., distant 1$\frac{6}{10}$ miles, and large house on Bet el Ras S.S.E.

(2.) A black can buoy is moored in 5 fathoms water on the bank northward of Bet el Ras with Bububu house bearing E. by N. ¾ N., distant 6½ cables, and Large house on Bet el Ras S. by E.

(3.) A black can buoy is moored in 5 fathoms water, about half a cable seaward of the edge of the bank off Bet el Ras, with Bububu house bearing N.E. ½ N., and Large house on Bet el Ras S E., distant 3 cables.

(4.) A red can buoy is moored in 6¾ fathoms water near the eastern edge of Chapani reef, with White stone pillar bearing N.E. by E. ½ E., distant 5½ cables, and Square white house S. ½ W.

(5.) A red can buoy is moored in 7 fathoms water near the eastern edge of Chapani reef, with White stone tower bearing N.E. ¾ E., distant 6½ cables, and Square white house south.

(6.) A black can buoy is moored in 5 fathoms water near the eastern edge of Kisiki reef, with Mbweni house bearing E. by S. ¾ S., distant 1$\frac{4}{10}$ miles, and Conspicuous house on Ras Buyu S.S.E. ½ E. The old buoy (red) near the above mentioned buoy remains in position for the present.

A rock (Oliver rock) consisting of a coral head, with 9 feet water over it, and 25 fathoms close around, lies with the south extreme of Cassini island bearing N. 80° E., distant 4$\frac{3}{10}$ miles. The sea was not seen to break on this rock, the Penguin passed over it without observing any sign of shoal water.

Approximate position on Admiralty charts, lat. 13° 56¼′ S, long. 125° 39¼′ E.

NOTE.—The rock marked awash in lat. 14° 0′ 30″ S., long. 125° 35′ E., does not exist.

2. A shoal (Bassett-Smith shoal) about one mile in diameter, with general depths of 5 to 6 fathoms, and 50 fathoms around, with a head of 20 feet near its western edge, is situated in approximately lat. 13° 16′ 50″ S., long. 125° 50′ E. The sea did not break on this shoal, and there was no appearance of danger in the vicinity.

4. A rock (Warn rock) consisting of a small coral head, with 6 fathoms over it, lies in approximately lat. 13° 8½′ S., long. 126° 11′ E.

Inner Route.

1. A coral pinnacle (Lee rock) with 3 feet water on it, and 10 to 17 fathoms close around, lies with Pascal island summit bearing S. 83° W., distant 7$\frac{2}{10}$ miles, or in approximately lat. 14° 2′ S., long. 125° 52′ E. The Penguin passed twice within a few feet of this rock, but no indication of danger was seen.

2. A coral shoal (Tancred shoal), 7 cables in diameter, with 3 to 7 fathoms over it, and 16 to 22 fathoms around, lies with Low rocks summit bearing No. 56° W., distant 2 miles, or in approximately lat. 14° 3¾′ S., long, 126° 0′ E.

3. The extensive reef charted north of Gibson point does not exist, but there is a rock (Fury rock) awash at high water, lying with the islet north of Gibson point bearing East, distant 1$\frac{2}{10}$ miles. A reef dry at low water, extends 4 cables north-west of this rock, and foul ground for a distance of 1$\frac{2}{10}$ miles north of it. Approximate position, lat. 13° 56½′ S. long. 126° 4′ E.

4. Bishop rocks consist of a small group of coral heads, drying 2 feet at low water, and lying with the north extreme of Troughton island bearing S. 75° E., distant 2$\frac{1}{10}$ miles, or in approximately lat. 13° 42¾′ S. long. 126° 12′ E.

5. A coral reef, with 2 fathoms over it, lies with the north extreme of Troughton island bearing S. 50° E., distant 6$\frac{9}{10}$ miles, and is separated by a deep channel from the south point of Eastern Holothuria reef. Approximate position, lat. 13° 39½′ S., long. 126° 9¼′ E.

6 Branch Banks consisting of two coral shoals with 6 and 7 fathoms over them, lie with the north extreme of Trougnton island bearing S. 18° W., distant 8$\frac{1}{10}$ miles, or in approximately lat. 13° 35½′ S., long. 126° 17′ E. Depths of 6 fathoms were obtained for a distance of one mile east of this position.

CAUTION.—As in the neighbourhood of the dangers off cape Bougainville the tides are strong, the banks and reefs steep-to, and the water unusually turbid, great care is necessary when navigating in the locality.

The depths given are at low water spring tides.

2. Any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before that date will be received and considered by the Lieutenant-Governor.

DRAFT RULES UNDER SECTION 18, CLAUSE 1, OF THE INDIAN FACTORIES ACT XV OF 1881 AS AMENDED BY ACT XI OF 1891.

THE terms factory, child employed, and certifying Surgeon, when used in these rules or in any supplementary rules that may hereafter be made under the Act, shall have the meaning given to them in the Act. Inspector means the Magistrate of the district or an Inspector appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 3 of the Act. Occupier means the Manager, and includes the person for the time being actually in charge of a factory.

2. Every Inspector who is not himself the Magistrate of the district shall, in respect of factories in any district, be officially subordinate to the Magistrate of the district, and in Calcutta to the Commissioner of Police.

3. Each Inspector shall keep a register of all the factories within his jurisdiction in the form A attached to these rules. There shall be a separate part in the register for the factories in each district of the Inspector's jurisdiction.

4. The Inspector may at any time send through the post, under registered cover, a notice to the occupier of any factory within his jurisdiction, not already entered on his register of factories, intimating his intention of placing such factory upon his register.

5. Any person served with a notice under rule 4, whose premises do not fall within the definition of a factory given in the Act, may, within 30 days of the receipt of such notice, forward to the Inspector a statement setting forth his objections to the registration of his premises as a factory. The Inspector shall consider and dispose of such objection after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, and shall make up his register of factories in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

6. When any premises cease to be occupied as a factory, the occupier may give notice of the fact to the Inspector, who shall, if satisfied that the Act is no longer applicable to such premises, remove them from his register of factories. The Inspector may, without such notice, of his own motion, at any time, remove any factory from his register if satisfied that it is no longer used as such.

7. Before the fence or guard of any part of the machinery is removed, the machinery protected by it shall be stopped, and the fence or guard shall be replaced before the machinery is again set in motion.

8. The occupier of a factory shall cause a sufficient supply of good water to be kept at a suitable place or places on the factory premises for the use of the operatives. A tap or taps connected with any public water-works, from which a sufficient quantity of water can at all times be drawn as required, shall be deemed a sufficient supply for the purpose of this rule. When the operatives cannot leave their places, the occupier shall cause the water to be carried to them as required or at reasonable intervals.

9. Every factory shall be provided with sufficient accommodation in respect of latrines and urinals, which shall be kept in a cleanly state. The accommodation for male and female operatives shall be separate.

10. Every factory shall be kept in a clean state and free from effluvia arising from any drain, privy, or other nuisance. All refuse likely to be injurious to health shall be removed with as little delay as possible.

11. Every factory shall be ventilated in such manner as to render harmless, as far as is practicable, the gases, vapours, dust, or other impurities generated in the course of the processes carried on therein that may be injurious to health.

12. All the inside walls of the rooms of a factory, and all the ceilings or tops of such rooms, and all the passages and staircases shall be lime-washed at least once in two years, dating from the time of last lime-washing.

13. All the beams, rafters, doors and other wood-work shall be painted or varnished once in six years, and shall be kept in a cleanly state.

14. A factory shall not be so overcrowded while work is carried on therein as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed therein.

15. An Inspector shall be competent to pass in respect of any factory such orders as he may consider necessary to give effect to rules 8 to 14 above.

16. Each factory shall be inspected by an Inspector at least twice in each calendar year.

17. Every Inspector shall keep a register of his inspections of each factory in form B attached to these rules, in which he shall record all orders and remarks made by him on each occasion of his inspection.

18. The Inspector shall without delay furnish a copy of such orders or remarks to the Commissioner of the Division (through the Magistrate of the district, if the Inspector be not himself such Magistrate) and also to the occupier of the factory concerned. In Calcutta the copy shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police and the occupier. This procedure shall also be observed in respect of orders passed under rule 15 and under section 12, clause C of the Act.

19. The despatch through the post, under registered cover, of the copy of such orders and remarks shall be deemed to be sufficient service on the occupier of the factory of any orders or directions therein contained.

20. The occupier of a factory shall, if required by the Inspector, bring before him on the occasion of any inspection all children employed in the factory, and any operatives in service of such occupier whom the Inspector may wish to see.

21. Each certifying Surgeon shall give the certificate described in section 5 of the Act in the form C attached to these rules. Forms of certificate in counterfoil will be supplied to the certifying Surgeons by the Magistrate of the district, and in Calcutta by the Commissioner of Police.

22. Every occupier of a factory shall keep a file of all certificates of certifying Surgeons relating to children in his employ, and shall produce it when required by the Inspector. Every such certificate shall be returned by such occupier to the parent or guardian of the child to whom it relates on his leaving the factory for other employ and on demand of such parent or guardian. If there be no such parent or guardian, the certificate may be made over to the child on his own demand.

23. Every occupier of a factory shall keep registers in forms D and E attached to these rules, and no such register shall be destroyed or removed from the factory without the written permission of the Inspector.

25. A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol, V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

THE CANAL REVENUE REPORTS FOR 1890-91.

No. 24*I.A.*

Government of Bengal.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Irrigation Accounts.

Dated Calcutta, the 11th January 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Canal Revenue Reports for 1890-91 and Chief Engineer's Note on the same.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor regrets the delay in the submission of this Canal Revenue Report, which is due on the 15th November, to the Government of India, and expects that in future it will be prepared with greater punctuality.

Major Work

2. There are in Bengal four canal systems which are classed as Major Works. Three of these combine Irrigation with Navigation, and the fourth (Hidgellee Tidal Canal) is purely a Navigation work. The Midnapur Canal system is complete, and no further expenditure on the Capital Account will be incurred from Imperial funds. The Sone Canal system is practically complete and in full work. Expenditure on subsidiary works, chiefly connected with drainage, on improvements to the outlets, and on masonry road crossings required for village channels continues against the unspent balances of estimates sanctioned before 31st March 1891. No further sanctions will be given debitable to Imperial funds. On the Orissa Canal system there is still a good deal to be done to complete the distributaries and minor channels, and it will be some years before the system is fully developed. The Hidgellee Tidal Canal was completed in 1874, but is now being remodelled. The funds required have been advanced by the Imperial Government, and interest is payable by the Local Government at 4 per cent.

Minor Works. 3. The works classed as "Minor Works and Navigation" are divided under three heads—(1) those for which both Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept, (2) those for which only Revenue Accounts are kept, (3) those for which neither Capital nor Revenue Accounts are kept.

Under the first head there are three projects in operation, viz., the Calcutta and Eastern Canals, the Orissa Coast Canal, and the Sarun Canals. The two former are Navigation works. By the first, communication is maintained between Calcutta and Eastern Bengal through the Sundarbuns, and the second is, in combination with the Hidgellee Canal, the main highway between Bengal and Orissa, and the only means at present by which food could be thrown into Orissa in time of famine, except by sea. The object of the Sarun Canals is to supply water from the Gandak to the Sarun district, partly for irrigation and partly for the manufacture of indigo.

Under the second head there is only the Nuddea rivers, the work on which consists of the improvement and maintenance of the river channels to secure a continuous supply of water from the Ganges to the Hooghly, and to facilitate navigation.

Under the third head there are the Eden Canal and the Madhuban Canal. The former is a small work for flushing some of the nullahs in the Burdwan district with water from the river Damooda, chiefly to give a supply of good drinking water. The canal is also in dry years used for irrigation. The latter is a small irrigation work in the Chumparun district.

Capital Account. 4. The outlay of the last two years and the total outlay to date on the Capital Account is shown in the following table:—

Establishment	47,656

The Taldundah Extension Canal, which was shown as in progress in the report for last year, was proceeded with and was very nearly complete at the close of the year.

The lock at Paradeep, which is the outfall lock for this canal, was practically complete within the year, as at the close only the coping had to be put on and the gates to be hung.

Distributaries were in progress on all the canals, and though no addition was made to the completed length during the year, work was so far advanced that water could have been given if necessary during the current year from a length of 70 to 80 miles of new distributaries.

During the year estimates were submitted and sanctioned for 252 miles of distributaries and for 27 miles of embankments.

The Daib protective embankment was fully completed.

There is now no reason for further delay in completing the Orissa project so far as regards detailed sanctioned estimates, but progress continues slow owing to the want of labour. During the year under review work was also hindered by rain in February and March.

Midnapur Canal.

6. The transactions of the year (direct charges) affecting the Capital account of the Midnapur Canal were the following:—

	Rs.
Works	3,300
Establishment	1,136
Tools and plant	(—)24
Suspense accounts	—39,537
Total ...	—35,125
Less receipts on Capital account	765
Net ...	—35,890

As all further outlay on this canal has, under recent orders from the Government of India, to be met from Provincial revenues, it was necessary to write back the suspense or stock balance from head 49, Major Works, to head 43, Minor Works and Navigation, so effecting a reduction to that extent in the sum at charge. The amount of Rs. 3,300 spent in works was used mainly on the improvement and extension of the Jakhpur drainage channel.

Hidgellee Tidal Canal.

7. The sum of Rs. 1,52,884, by which the Capital account of the Hidgellee Canal was increased (direct charges), was distributed as follows:—

	Rs.
Works	99,423
Establishment	35,978
Tools and plant	17,483
Total ...	1,52,884

The alterations or remodelling of this canal with a view of preventing the frequent closures for the removal of silt, which had been commenced in the preceding year, were proceeded with. The main object of these works is to lower the bed of the canal in order to provide waterway in spite of accumulations of silt, and to admit the drainage of the country across the canal by inlet and escape. Also to provide duplicate supply channels in order to admit the river water in the canal free from silt. The supply sluice for Range I at Gewankhally was built up to floor level, and the supply channel from it was about three-fourths completed. In Range II the lowering of the bed of the canal was taken in hand and about one-third of the work was done.

Sone Canals.

8. The Capital account of the Sone Canals was increased during the year by the amount of Rs. 1,71,361 (direct charges) distributed as follows :—

		Rs.
Works	... ...	1,32,699
Establishment	... ...	19,850
Tools and plant	... ...	6,411
Suspense accounts	... ...	14,716
Total	...	1,73,676
Less receipts on Capital account	...	2,315
Net	...	1,71,361

The expenditure on these canals from Imperial funds is about to be closed, and will be limited to those works sanctioned before 1st April 1890 and not then completed. The unspent balance of such estimates amounted on that date to Rs. 6,16,733.

The most important works done during the year were the Chowri and Chowsa drainage cuts, and an escape from the Kuttea distributary. Progress was also made in the provision of permanent outlets and in constructing crossings for village channels under the district roads. An important drainage cut in the Buxar Division and an additional weir on the Patna Canal at lock No. II were in progress at the end of the year. The latter work was completed in May.

Calcutta and Eastern Canals.

9. On the Calcutta and Eastern Canals the Capital account was increased by Rs. 5,613 (direct charges) as under—

		Rs.
Works	... ...	1,599
Establishment	... ...	574
Tools and plant	... ...	3,427
Suspense accounts	... ...	13
Total	...	5,613

The works constructed were two additional buildings for storing wreckage, while a portable engine was received from the Orissa Coast Canal and its value adjusted.

Orissa Coast Canal.

10. On the Orissa Coast Canal the outlay amounts to Rs. 17,212 (direct charges) as shown below—

		Rs.
Works	... ...	17,269
Establishment	... ...	6,085
Tools and plant	... ...	(—)4,098
Suspense accounts	... ...	(—)2,029
Total	...	17,227
Less receipts on Capital account	...	15
Net	...	17,212

The expenditure on works was incurred on clearing several brickfields, on the construction of toll-houses and sheds for khallasies, on excavation of tanks for drinking water at locks, and on the purchase of a house for the Executive Engineer's Office.

The cost of repairs was less in 1890-91 than in any of the previous four years. This is, however, met by heavier charges for establishment (Direction, Accounts and Executive). Owing to the varied nature of the work in Bengal, the total charges for the establishment employed in the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department have to be distributed among various heads, including Civil Works (Provincial and Imperial), Agricultural (embankments and drainage), Major Works (Capital and Revenue), and Minor Works. Up to 1886-87 this distribution was effected by charging a fixed percentage against Land Revenue and other heads, while the balance was debited to Provincial Roads and Buildings. Since 1887-88 a fixed percentage has been charged against Capital Expenditure on Major Works and against Civil Works, the balance being allotted to Canal Revenue. Hence it follows that without any increase in the total establishment charge of the Province the amount debited against the Revenue account of the Major Works may increase owing to smaller charges being made under other heads.

The net result of the year's working resulted in a loss of Rs. 92,995. The interest charges of the year were Rs. 23,87,119. The total to be made good by the Province was Rs. 24,80,114. From the commencement up to the close of the year 1890-91, the total charge to Provincial revenues on account of Major Irrigation Works has been Rs. 4,02,95,964.

Areas and water-rates.

13. The main source of revenue from the Major Works is the amount received as water-rates. The following will show the area irrigated, the water-rates earned on such area, and the amounts collected for the year under review and for the preceding year:—

	1889-90.			1890-91.

NOTE.—In the above the earnings show the assessed amount due on account of the irrigation of the year, part of which falls due after the 31st March, and the collections are the gross totals, deducting refunds.

The collections in any year depend to some extent on the assessments of the previous year, more especially on the Sone system, where the assessments for rabi irrigation and half of the assessments on long leases fall due after the close of the financial year.

14. On the Orissa system the area irrigated was somewhat less than in 1889-90, but was greater than in any previous year, and the area leased at the end of the year, 184,418 acres, was greater than that irrigated during the year, which indicates that the demand for irrigation is increasing. There has been a satisfactory decrease in the area assessed for unauthorised irrigation, and the assessments for the year were completed and the demands sent in with greater punctuality than before. On the other hand the collections of water-rates are still unsatisfactory, being much less than the annual demand, so that the amount in arrear is greater at the end of the year than it was at the beginning; but in spite of this some improvement in collection is observed, and the amount collected was larger than in any previous year. The following figures show how the total demand of the year was constituted and the progress made in realising it:—

	Demand of year 1890-91.	Collected or remitted.

Arrears of 1887-88 and previous years	19,556	10,344

The number of certificates issued during the year was 13,594 as compared with 8,586 in 1889-90. Only 10,928 were disposed of, and the balance outstanding at the end of the year had risen to 9,104. The amount recovered on 10,152 certificates was only Rs. 25,000 (approximately), that is about Rs. 2-8 on each certificate.

The statement given in paragraph 26 of the Chief Engineer's Note shows to what extent incorrect demands had been made. The large amount under "Unirrigated crops" is partly due to the recent exemption of low-lying lands, which are included in existing leases and so assessed in the first instance, but the existing system of assessing and collecting water-rates on these canals is in many ways unsatisfactory, and a revised system, based on that in force on the Sone Canals, has been worked out and is shortly to be introduced.

The returns from navigation have advanced considerably, and the collections of the year are the highest yet obtained on these canals.

15. On the Midnapur Canal there was a satisfactory increase in the area irrigated and in the earnings of the year; but the collections of the year were not satisfactory, and the arrear balance increased from Rs. 50,644 to Rs. 64,967. There was, however, greater activity shown in the certificate work during the past year. Seven thousand six hundred and sixty-four cases were instituted, and 9,150 cases were disposed of, the pending balance being reduced from 3,444 to 1,958. The number of cases is still very high compared with the Sone Canals, on which with three times the area irrigated far fewer certificates are required. The navigation receipts, which are an important item on this canal, fell considerably during the year. This is attributed mainly to dulness in trade and partly to a closure of some of the reaches for repairs.

16. As regards the Hidgellee Canal, the year is marked by increased expenditure and diminished receipts, the former being due to extensive silt clearance, to heavy charges for repairs to dredging plant, and to the cost of constructing a slip for boats at Balasore. The falling off in receipts, which are derived almost exclusively from navigation, is due to the long closure of the canal for silt clearance and in connection with remodelling which is in progress.

17. The decrease in the area irrigated and consequently in the earnings on the Sone Canals is attributable to the more abundant rainfall of 1890-91, which was, as the average of 22 stations on that system, 52·86 inches against 39·27 inches in 1889-90, and against 41·70 inches, being the mean of 20 years. Considering this heavy rainfall the area irrigated is large, and it is especially satisfactory to find the area under 5-years' leases so well maintained. There is an increase over the preceding year in the area assessed from unauthorised irrigation, which is to be regretted. The area so assessed in 1889-90 was, however, unusually small. The collections, though considerably less than in 1889-90, when they were inflated by the recovery of heavy arrears, are still greater than the demand of the year, and show progress in reducing the arrear balance. In the Patna district, however, the collections were very bad. Here the arrears had greatly increased and the accounts were in confusion owing to the scandalous incompetence of the circle officer, who was then in charge, and has since died. Since the close of the year vigorous measures have been taken, and the balance outstanding has been much reduced.

The amounts remitted for incorrect demands and written off as irrecoverable were Rs. 5,324 and Rs. 16,136, respectively, and are smaller than in any of the four previous years. The chief causes of remissions were mistakes in assessment, owing to their having been made without sufficient proof of the land having been irrigated or of its being liable to assessment.

The work done in disposing of certificate cases has also been good. Four thousand eight hundred and ninty-one cases were instituted as against 5,577 in 1889-90. Five thousand three hundred and eleven cases were disposed of at the close of the year, the balance pending was only 1,586, and has since been still further reduced.

The receipts from navigation have been satisfactory, and show a steady, if slow, increase.

18. The Lieutenant-Governor made a close inspection of this canal in November last, and has nothing but approval to record of the system on which it is now being worked and of the spirit which animates its staff. Complaints of wrongful assessment and of non-receipt of water, which once were numerous, are now reduced to a minimum, and when made are disposed of rapidly and in a liberal spirit: the utmost care is taken to secure accuracy in the leases and assessments and punctuality in the payments: the arrears which on the 1st April were over Rs. 2,10,000 had been brought down to about Rs. 55,000: the pending certificates were 1,586 at the end of March and 415 at the end of November. The irrigated lands stood out long lines of greenness and fertility, a startling contrast to the parched and impoverished tracts which they intersect. As long as the principle is upheld which Mr. Odling has inculcated on his engineers that the first duty of a Canal Officer is to show good irrigated crops, so long may it be safely said that the canal is an unmixed blessing to the country.

19. Turning now to the Minor Works, the revenue from which is almost entirely derived from navigation, the following brief remarks may be made:— Revenue, Minor Works.

On the Calcutta and Eastern Canals there has been a fair increase in the receipts, but this has been counterbalanced by increased charges, especially for establishment, which item is higher this year than in any previous one. The net revenue, Rs. 2,01,128, is lower than it has been since 1881-82. The working of the system of toll collections was good as noticed in paragraph 108 of the Chief Engineer's Note. The method of charging tolls according to measurement and the rates of toll on this system of canals are now under revision with the view of making the payments fall more equally on the various kinds of boats and classes of goods.

On the Orissa Coast Canal there is a very slight increase in the receipts. The net revenue is, however, less than in the previous year owing to the extra charge for establishment. When the works now in progress on the Hidgellee Tidal Canal are completed, it is hoped that the returns from the Orissa Coast Canal will improve. The want of roads in the country adjoining this canal is also an impediment to expansion of traffic. Two feeder roads are now being taken up by the District Board of Balasore, towards which the Local Government has contributed Rs. 7,000.

The receipts from the Nuddea Rivers have increased slightly, but owing to increased charges for repairs and establishment the net revenue has decreased from Rs. 92,834 to Rs. 90,588.

The Sarun, Madhuban, and Eden Canals are small works which ordinarily bring in a very slight revenue, while they are a source of expense to maintain. On the other hand, in a dry season like that of the present year, they are of considerable value to the parts of the country in which they are situated.

20. The figures in Appendix I, which record the number of days spent by each Irrigation Officer on tour, show that while some have been active and energetic in the work of inspection, others have fallen far short of the standard which ought to be attained. The attention of all officers in the Department should be called to this table, and Chief Engineer is requested to mention in next year's report the names of those officers who have been most remiss in this branch of their duties.

21. This is the last Canal Revenue Report which will be issued over the signature of Colonel J. M. McNeile, who will retire from the Government service shortly after the Report is published. Sir Charles Elliott cannot allow this distinguished officer to leave the Province without putting on record his high appreciation of his services through a long and honourable career, and his indebtedness to him for his assistance in the administration of the Public Works Department during the past year. He desires also to thank Mr. Odling, Superintending Engineer, for his excellent work on the Sone Canals.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the Chief Engineer's Note and its accompaniments be submitted to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, and published in the Calcutta Gazette; also that it be circulated to other Governments and to all Departments and Officers of this Government as usual.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ORISSÁ CANALS.

The figures in all statements showing totals of receipts or expenditure are those of the Examiner of Accounts. In dealing with details the figures of the Commissioner or of the Superintending Engineer are used.

10. The Capital, Interest, and Revenue Accounts of these canals are given below:—

The progress on the construction of the works remaining to complete this system of canals was less during the year than had been anticipated. There are difficulties in securing a sufficient supply of labour in Orissa, and the labourers which can be obtained are also for the most part cultivators of land, and leave the work at harvest time. Work was also delayed by unusual rain in January and February 1891. The more important works completed or in progress were the Taldundah Extension Canal with outfall lock at Paradeep, and the Daib protective embankment in the Machgong Extension Canal, while distributaries on all the canals were in hand.

The net result is slightly more favourable than in the preceding year, that is, there is a net loss on the working of the year of Rs. 1,22,667 compared with Rs. 1,52,786 for 1889-90. The receipts have increased by Rs. 40,812 and the working expenses by Rs. 10,693. The latter increase is due to increased charges for establishment.

No addition has been made to the completed lengths of either main canals or distributaries, but the area protected from floods has been increased by 52,129 acres, on account of the completion of the Daib embankment during the year.

The Superintending Engineer remarks as follows regarding the extension of distributaries:—

"The distributaries of the Pattamoodee, Kendrapara, Gobri, and Gobri Extension canals, of the Taldundah and Machgong Extension canals, and of the Jajepore canal, which have been sanctioned by Government, were all in hand during the year. As the financial year closes in the middle of the working season, it may perhaps be noted here that in the Kendrapara subdivision out of 143 miles of distributaries sanctioned, half the length has been thrown up to section, and all the important masonry works are well advanced, the dressing and turfing is now being done; but should there be any failure of the rains in October, it will, it is hoped, be possible to supply water from 70 to 80 miles of new channels. In the Mahanuddy Division, No 19 distributary is well in hand, and half the length will, it is hoped, be available for supply should a demand arise."

RAINFALL

14. The following statement gives the average rainfall observed during the kharif and rabi months of the last five years at thirteen stations within the tract irrigated by the Orissa canals:—

		Average of thirteen stations.

	Whole year ...	60·05	47·79	49·07	67·95	63·17

The rainfall of the year was on the whole slightly less than in the previous year, but was above the average, particularly in the kharif season. During the month of August the fall was somewhat deficient, leading to a demand for water, which is particularly necessary at this time for the operation of beason or replanting of the rice.

FLOODS.

15. The average rainfall of the year at ten stations in the Central Provinces which are drained by the Mahanuddy was 52·75 inches, or 2·84 inches less than that of 1889-90. There were no floods of any importance during the year.

IRRIGATION.

16. The areas of each crop irrigated during the last 10 years and the yearly rainfall are shown below:—

17. The whole of the known irrigated area was assessed. The figures below show the nature of assessment compared with the figures of the two preceding years :—

		1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
		Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Kharif ...	Five-year leases ...	152,282	177,169	173,577

Total, including unauthorised irrigation		159,292	186,627	180,299
Total, excluding unauthorised irrigation		155,311	183,228	178,293

The decrease in the kharif area, which is the chief item, is explained by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent to be due to (1) less unauthorised irrigation having been assessed; (2) the exclusion from leased areas of unirrigated beali and of undrained low lands; (3) to certain lands under lease on the High Level Canal, Range I, being found to be unirrigable for want of village channels or other causes.

The Superintending Engineer gives the following review of the progress of irrigation on the different canals:—

"The alterations which have taken place in the area of each crop upon the various canals, together with the percentages of the area provided with distributaries, as well as that commanded, which had been leased in each case, at the close of the official year, are shown in the two following statements:—

The deficiency in the rainfall of August led to a demand for canal water, as stated under "Rainfall," and the area which was leased during that month under each canal is given below:—

	Acres.
Taldundah Canal	135
Machgong do.	6,468
Kendrapara do.	3,128
Gobri Canal	4
Pattamoondee Canal	88
High Level Canal, Range I	61
Ditto, do. III	4,717

* * * *

Upon the High Level Canal, Range I, and Taldundah Canal, 1st section, the whole of the irrigable area has nearly come under lease, so that very little increase in leases can be expected on those canals.

The second statement shows that the total area which was under lease at the end of the year was 42·47 per cent. upon the area commanded by the canals, and 72·93 per cent. upon the area provided with distributaries. It, however, includes an area of 8,101 acres, which has been leased upon canals from which no distributaries have as yet been constructed, and a further area of 12,501 acres, which is distributed over the whole length of the Pattamoondee Canal, and is not, as reported last year, situated solely within the area which is under the command of distributaries Nos. 7 and 8. If these areas are deducted, we find that the total leased area amounts to 163,816 acres, which is 37·72 and 64·78 per cent, respectively, upon the areas commanded and provided with distributaries.

Omitting the Pattamoondee Canal, the circumstances on which are peculiar, we find that the percentage of the area leased upon that provided with distributaries was greatest upon the High Level Canal, Range III, and least upon the High Level Canal, Range I. The percentages on these canals were 92·36 and 52·72, respectively, as compared with the percentages of 78·30 and 52·51, respectively, which were obtained on those canals in the previous year; so that it appears that there has been considerable improvement upon the 3rd Range of the High Level Canal, while there has also been slight improvement upon the 1st Range. The percentage of leases on the total area provided with distributaries was also higher than that of the preceding year by 4·35 per cent."

DUTY OF WATER.

18. The following table shows the duty attained by the discharge at canal heads during the last three years:—

		Kendrapara Canal system.	Taldundah Canal system.	High Level Canal, Range I.	High Level Canal, Range II.	High Level Canal, Range III.

	Duty on gross supply	66·42	102·22	66·07	37·61	107·81

Calculated upon the average quantity of water utilized, the duty is highest on the Taldundah Canal System, and lowest on the High Level Canal, Range II. The area irrigated by each cubic foot in the former case is 110·58 acres, and in that of the latter 40·54 acres.

CROP EXPERIMENT.

19. During the year 291 experiments were made upon the outturn of crops, of which 161 were on land irrigated by canal water and 130 on unirrigated land. The results are shown in the following statement:—

ASSESSMENTS, COLLECTIONS, AND BALANCES.

20. At the commencement of the year under review the balances outstanding were—

		Rs.
Water-rates ...	...	... 1,76,762
Miscellaneous Revenue ...	...	355
	Total	... 1,77,117

as against the balances outstanding on 1st April 1891 which were—

		Rs.
Water-rates ...	...	... 1,98,364
Miscellaneous Revenue ...	...	266
	Total	... 1,98,630

notwithstanding large remissions, the outstanding balance of water-rates has again increased, and amounted at the close of the year to 73 per cent. of the demand for 1890-91.

The Deputy Revenue Superintendent gives as reasons for the poor result:—

(1) The defective ijaradari system.

(2) The time of his subordinates having been taken up with census work at the best season for collecting.

The Collector and Commissioner in forwarding the report of the Deputy Revenue Suprintendent have made no remarks regarding the collections.

21. The following statement shows the balances, assessments, and recoveries of water-rates for the last five years:—

Columns 3, 7 and 11 have been left blank for want of information.

The number of certificates instituted and the number pending have considerably increased, and taken together with the increased amount of outstandings, it is apparent that considerable efforts will have to be made to bring collections up to date.

The matter is doubtless receiving the attention of the Commissioner, but he has not offered any remark or explanation regarding the increase in the pending cases. The number of cases struck off is small proportionately with that in which the demand was realized.

COMPLAINTS.

The Deputy Revenue Superintendent remarks:—

"The filing of objections has been greatly reduced by excluding unirrigable beali and low-lying lands from assessment, and fewer cases were pending than in the previous year."

There has been a considerable reduction in the number of complaints and applications received during the year and in the balance pending which is so far satisfactory. The number pending is, however, still large, and it is hoped that the improvement made this year may be maintained.

REMISSIONS.

26. The amounts remitted and written off as irrecoverable were Rs. 38,688 against Rs. 27,055 in the year previous. The following is the Deputy Revenue Superintendent's classification of the reasons for remission:—

Remissions.	Rs	A.	P.
(a) Unirrigated crops	22,177	2	4
(b) Damaged	8,458	9	8

(s) Irrecoverable demands	347	3	11
GRAND TOTAL ...	38,688	6	10

The important items in the above, classed as (a), (b and (c , are due to the system of assessment by which the gross areas are shown as assessed, and the rates on parts of these areas are remitted on account of land with beali crops not irrigated, of low land not requiring water, and of land occupied as jagir by chowkidars. Under the revised system about to be introduced, these items will be dealt with in making the assessments, and will, to a great extent, cease to appear as remissions.

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

27. The cost of revenue establishment of the year was Rs. 52,591, the details of which are given in the following statement compared with those of the three previous years:—

	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

There has been a decrease in the cost of establishment to the extent of Rs. 2,911, which is due to the reduction in the cost of that employed under the Collector, while the cost of the establishment employed under the Public Works Department increased by Rs. 13 only. The amount paid to headmen on account of fees increased during the year by Rs. 659.

NAVIGATION.

28. As regards navigation, the management of the canals is in the hands of the engineering staff. Besides tolls on boats and rafts, the receipts include the earnings of the transport service maintained by Government between Bhuddruck on the High Level Canal and Cuttack, a distance of 75 miles.

TOLLAGE.

The tollage receipts of each of the canal systems for the last five years are shown below:—

Of the total Rs. 1,06,961, private traffic accounts for Rs. 99,248, the balance being the tolls on boats carrying Government materials and on Government steamers.

The increase of private traffic is almost entirely in the Kendrapara Canal. It was due to a large export trade in rice and oilseeds.

HEAD-WORKS

Out of the total expenditure of Rs. 76,334 on head-works, Rs. 62,422 represent the cost of maintaining the weirs, divided as follows:—

On the Mahanuddy, Beropa, Pattia, and Brahmini weirs the outlay during the year was in excess of that of last year, in consequence of the cost of repairing damages caused by floods.

TRANSPORT SERVICE.

32. The cost of working the transport service between Bhuddruck and Cuttack and between Acquapadda and Jajepur was Rs. 17,974, and the actual receipts Rs. 14,123. The loss incurred on this service is therefore Rs. 3,851, against a loss of Rs. 1,495 in the previous year.

The working charges for 1890-91 include Rs. 6,101 as tollage, which had not been previously shown, while the earnings include Rs. 748, hire of boats; allowing for which the expenditure was Rs. 11,873, and the earnings Rs. 13,499, or a net profit of Rs. 1,626 as compared with a loss of Rs. 1,495 in the previous year.

MAIN AND BRANCH CANALS.

33. The following statement compares the expenditure on each canal with that of the two previous years:—

Total	232½	1,11,712	480	239	1,09,839	460	252	99,746	395

Maintenance charges of main canals fell from Rs. 1,09,839 to Rs. 99,746. The Superintending Engineer has analysed the expenditure by sub-heads in each of the canals. There is an increase in the Kendrapara Canal caused by heavier outlay on weed clearance and on buildings to which thorough repairs were effected. On the Gobri Canal the increase is due to the item masonry works, the lower gates of the Chakerda lock having been renewed. On the Gobri Extension Canal there is an apparently very large increase. This is, however, due to the construction of the escape at Gunpore and consequent raising of the banks of the canal. This is really a work of improvement, and should have been classed as such and not as a charge to maintenance. On the Pattamoondee Canal the increase is due mainly to works executed in 1889-90 having been paid for in the year under review. On the Taldundah Canal the large apparent decrease is due to exceptional expenditure in the previous year on lock gates. On the Machgong Canal the length under maintenance has increased from 19 to 32 miles. The decrease in mileage rate compared with the previous year is due to less expenditure on masonry works and buildings. On all the reaches of the High Level Canal there has been reduced expenditure.

DISTRIBUTARIES.

34. The average mileage rate for the maintenance of distributaries was Rs. 30·06 as compared with Rs. 36·41 in the previous year:—

The lengths of distributaries in the above are those which have been brought on the revenue account, and consequently differ from the lengths given in paragraph 13, which include all so far advanced as to be fit for use, whether the capital account is still open or not.

DRAINAGE AND PROTECTIVE WORKS.

35. The total expenditure on drainage and protective works was Rs. 12,696 against Rs. 15,508 in 1889-90. The most important items under this head are the protective embankments on the High Level and Taldundah Canals, and the drainage channels connected with the Kendrapara, Taldundah and Machgong Canals.

GENERAL.

38. As has been shown in paragraph 11 the earnings of the year are greater than those of the previous year by Rs. 17,423, and the working expenses by Rs. 10,693. There has, therefore, been a slight advance on the whole due to increased navigation receipts.

The irrigated area has slightly declined. The increase in the working expenses is due, as has been already noted, to the larger charge for construction establishment. There has not yet been any improvement in the collection of water-rates, and arrears continue to accumulate. It is admitted that the work has outgrown the existing revenue staff, and a revised procedure is under consideration, by which it is intended that the work shall be distributed between the Public Works Officers and the staff under the Collector.

Under the orders of the Government of India, the amount expended on this canal during the year was written back from 49—Major Works to 43—Minor Works and Navigation, and any future outlay will have to be provided from Provincial Funds under the same head. At the close of the year the suspense balances were also transferred to Minor Works.

The sum of Rs. 3,300 expended on works classed as original construction was spent mainly on the improvement and extension of the Jackpore drainage channel and on improvements to the drainage in No. 1 distributary.

LENGTHS OF CANALS AND DISTRIBUTARIES.

42. The length of canal open for navigation during 1890-91 remained the same as that for the previous year, viz., 72 miles, and no additions were made during the year to the areas protected or commanded. The table below shows the capabilities of the canal and distributaries, and the areas protected, commanded, irrigable, and assessed:—

RAINFALL.

44. The following statement shows the rainfall for the year 1890-91 and the four previous years at four registering stations which lie within the area irrigated by the Midnapore Canal:—

FLOODS.

45. The year was an uneventful one as regards floods. The highest gauge-reading of the Cossye river taken above the Midnapore weir was R. L. 86·50 and below it 81·00, as against 92·30 and 91·55—the highest recorded. The discharge of the Cossye was greatest on the 24th August 1890, being 24,841 cubic feet per second. The highest reading of the same river at Panchkoorah was 29·00 on the 25th June, and that of the Selye river at Ghatal, 21·50.

IRRIGATION.

46. The table below shows the area of each crop irrigated during 1890-91 and in the nine previous years, as also the yearly rainfall:—

The Superintending Engineer writes:—

"The whole of the irrigated crop consisted of rice, and nearly the whole was under five years' lease, only 71 acres being under one year's lease. Last year the area irrigated amounted to 68,810 acres, including 440 acres of boro rice. The increase in the irrigated area is satisfactory, being 13,192 acres more than the area irrigated in the previous year, and is due chiefly to the smaller rainfall during the first half of the kharif season as compared with that of the previous year. The increase was almost entirely under the Midnapore weir. The Executive Engineer states:—'The demand for water was well met, and no serious difficulties were encountered during the irrigation season.' Twenty-nine acres only were irrigated by lift. The area illicitly irrigated included in the total was 1,372 acres, a large reduction on that shown in the previous year. Of this area 16 acres were charged with the penalty rate during the year. Some portion was entered as five-year leases with adjacent lands and 35 cases, involving an area of 1,116 acres, were outstanding at the end of the year."

Leases for 2,934 acres had expired on 31st March 1890, while leases for 16,126 acres were executed during the year. On 31st March 1891 leases expired for only 2,543 acres, leaving 79,459 acres under lease. In order to equalize the areas falling out of lease in each year, the Deputy Revenue Superintendent reports that some of the leases granted for 1890-91 have been made for less than five years, so as to expire in 1894 and 1895.

DUTY OF WATER

47. The duty obtained from the gross discharge during the past three years is detailed in the following statement:—

			Under Midnapore weir.	Under Panch-koorah weir.
1888-89	Kharif ...	Acres	56,385	5,545
		Duty on gross supply ...	152	111

1890-91	Kharif ...	Acres ...	76,645	4,981
		Duty on gross supply ...	160	89

The areas irrigated in the Tidal Reaches, Ranges I and II, are not taken account of in the above statement. The area in the year under review was 376 acres.

CROP EXPERIMENTS.

48. No experiments on outturn of crops were carried out during the year.

ASSESSMENTS, COLLECTIONS AND BALANCES.

49. The following comparative statement shows the balances, assessments and recoveries of water-rates on the Midnapore Canal during the last five years:—

YEAR.	Amount outstanding at commencement of year.	Amount falling due during the year.	Total for recovery.	Cash realization.	Remitted or written off.	Balance at the end of the year.

The figures in the above statement have been furnished by the Deputy Superintendent of Canal Revenue, and agree with those given in the Examiner's Memorandum.

In the arrear balance of Rs. 50,644 with which the year opened, there were no demands of older standing than 1886-87. Rupees 45,983 were for dues incurred in 1889-90, and Rs. 4,661 for those of the three preceding years.

The current demand, amounting to Rs. 1,30,595, was composed of Rs. 1,23,043 earned within the year, and Rs. 7,552 earned in the three preceding years, but not recoverable till 1890-91.

ARREARS.

50. The whole amount for recovery, including arrears, was Rs. 20,736 less than that in 1889-90, while the collections were only Rs. 986 less. In the following table arrear and current dues are distinguished, the sums composing the demand are distributed by the years in which they were earned, and the proportions of each year's earnings recovered or remitted are separately shown:—

YEAR.	Amount previously due and unrealized.	Amount falling due within the year.	Total amount due to end of the year.	ADJUSTMENT OF THE YEAR.				Balance unrealized at end of the month of March 1891.	Percentage adjusted.

Fair progress has been made in the recovery of outstanding arrears. The collection of the current demand has not been so good. The Deputy Revenue Superintendent attributes this to continual heavy rain for 12 days in March, which stopped collections at a busy time. The Commissioner, however, is of opinion that this explanation is not sufficient.

REMISSIONS.

51. In the report of the Deputy Revenue Superintendent the following classification of the remissions granted is given:—

		Rs.	A.	P.
By Collector under clause 1, rule 22, on account of failure to supply water	...	367	14	3
Remissions granted by officers disposing of certificate objection cases	...	377	15	0
By demands shown twice over by mistake	...	248	14	3
Total	...	994	11	6

Of this sum Rs. 160 are for miscellaneous revenue. Deducting this amount from the total remissions, there remains a balance of Rs. 833-14-9, which is the figure shown in the foregoing statements.

CERTIFICATES.

52. The following table shows the number of certificates issued and disposed of during the year:—

	1889-90.		1890-91.
Cases for disposal.		Rs.		Rs
1. Cases pending at the close of the preceding year	7,185	...	3,444	16,195
2. Cases instituted during the year	12,398	..	7,664	32,944

2. By being wholly satisfied	11,672	...	5,311	16,658
Total ...	16,139	...	9,150	43,054
Balance outstanding at the close of the year ...	3,444	...	1,958	6,085

Of the 3,839 cases struck off, 2,742 were for surreptitious irrigation, the amount in connection with these being large, as the rate charged had been Rs. 5 per acre. The Commissioner remarks:—

"The system of assessment and lease of lands illicitly irrigated that prevailed in the district having been found to be illegal, as noticed in paragraph 11 of last year's report, a correct procedure was introduced, though after the close of the year, with the approval of Government contained in its No. 1251I, dated 22nd August 1891. This change in the procedure will, it is hoped, tend to reduce the number of certificates which used to be filed against the illicit receivers of canal water, but were subsequently cancelled on commutation of the penalty rates to ordinary five years' leases."

COMPLAINTS.

53. The following table shows the number of complaints filed during the year and how they have been disposed of:—

Division.	(I) ORDINARY REMISSION. Received during the year and pending from previous year.	Disposed of. Remission allowed.	Disposed of. Remission refused.	Pending.	(II to IV) OTHER COMPLAINTS. On the 1st April 1890, 148 complaints were pending, 1,250 were received during the year as compared with 1,415 in the previous year, making a total of 1,398, of which 1,105 were disposed of during the year, 26·8 per cent. being established and 73 2 per cent. being rejected.

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

54. The cost of the revenue establishment during the year, as compared with three previous years, is given below:—

ESTABLISHMENT UNDER THE COLLECTOR.	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

In addition the sums paid by the Executive Engineer for water-regulation were—

	Water-regulation. Permanent.	Temporary.

1889-90	480	533
1890-91	488	595

The above figures are those of the Examiner. The Commissioner in his report gives the cost of establishment as Rs. 21,916.* He remarks—

"The cost of collection rose from Rs. 20,890, or 15·9, to Rs. 21,916, or 17·9 per cent. on the amount recovered during 1890-91. The increase was due to the payment of establishment charges for February 1890 in April 1890, and of the arrears of zilladars' conveyance allowances during the year."

* Includes Rs. 190 Tehsil office repair charges.

NAVIGATION.

55. The receipts under the head of Navigation show a decline from Rs. 1,48,164 to Rs. 1,12,754. The tolls realised from the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company during the year fell from Rs. 28,947 to Rs. 21,274, as also the revenue from native crafts from Rs. 1,16,409 to Rs. 89,556. The usual particulars regarding the traffic carried in vessels, other than those of the company, for the last ten years are given below:—

(a) Exclusive of tolls, Rs. 21,274 paid by the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company.
(b), (c), (d), (e), and (f) Exclusive of passengers 96,443, 86,783, 85,319, 96,397, and 105,360 carried by the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company's steamers.

The Superintending Engineer writes as follows regarding the falling off in tollage:—

"The revenue from tolls on private boats shows a falling off of Rs. 26,853 as compared with that of the previous year. The tolls realised from steamers also show a decrease of Rs. 7,673. The receipts are less than those of any year since 1882-83, except the year 1886-87, when the market was generally dull. There was also a large falling off in the number of boats plying in the canal. The Executive Engineer states:—'The cause of this must be chiefly attributed to the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company entering into active competition with country-boats. They have of late practically got the monopoly of the through canal traffic to Calcutta. This would not matter much to us if they paid us the same tolls as is charged for native boats, but as they only pay two-fifths of the full tollage, it will be seen that every 100 maunds of goods they divert from country-boats means a loss of three-fifths of the tolls which would have come to us had country-boats carried the goods. There is no doubt that before very long native cargo boats will cease to ply between Midnapore and Calcutta. As it is, all the large Nattore boats have left the canal, as they were unable to compete with the steamers. The Calcutta Steam Navigation Company should undoubtedly pay us full tolls on their cargo boats at least, if not on their steamers as well. When it is considered that the cost of the maintenance of the canals has been considerably increased since the steamer service was started, owing to the great damage caused by them to the canal banks and locks, it is not too much to ask them to pay the same tolls for their flats as country boats pay. Among the other causes which have contributed in a lesser degree to a falling off in the navigation receipts during the year may be mentioned the closure of the canal from Mohunpore to Ballychuck from 20th April to 10th May 1890, and from Kantapooker to Uluberriah from 5th to 31st March 1891 for silt clearance and repairs to locks."

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

57. The actual cost of maintenance and repairs during the last three years is distributed by sub-heads as shown below—

HEAD WORKS AND WEIRS.

The expenditure on the Midnapore head works was Rs. 7,120, and on the Panchkoorah head works Rs. 4,490. The expenditure on weirs was Re. 0·86 per foot run of the Midnapore weir, and Re. 0·79 of the Panchkoorah weir, against Re. 1·38 and Re. 0·60, respectively, last year.

MAIN CANAL.

The outlay on repairs to the main canal, including that on head works, on working steamers, and on drainage works, was Rs. 93,187, against Rs. 93,738 in the previous year. The Superintending Engineer remarks:—

"There was a slight reduction in the mileage rate of maintenance over that of the previous year, although the quantity of earthwork (silt clearance) executed was considerably in excess of that usually carried out."

DISTRIBUTARIES.

On distributaries the expenditure on repairs was Rs. 11,851, or Rs. 41 per mile, against Rs. 19,769, or Rs. 69 per mile, in the previous year. The saving was effected mainly under earthwork. In the following table mileage rates for the last ten years, both for main canals and distributaries, are shown:—

YEAR.		MAIN CANAL AND HEAD WORKS, &c.			DISTRIBUTARIES.
		Length of canal open.	Total cost of work.	Rate per mile.	Length of distributary channels.	Total cost of work.	Rate per mile.

1890-91	...	48	93,187	1,941	283	11,851	41

The expenditure on distributaries is less this year under all heads. The main decrease is, however, on earthwork, the cost of which was only Rs 6,925, against Rs. 13,490 in the previous year and Rs. 14,197, the average cost of the four preceding years.

DREDGING AND SILT CLEARING.

58. The amount of silt cleared by dredgers, excavators, and hand labour during the year 1890-91 and the two previous years is shown below:—

	1890-91.		1889-90.		1888-89.

The quantities are considerably less than in the previous year and the rate is also less in the heavier items.

REPAIRS TO DREDGERS.

The expenditure on tools and plant, which mainly consists of the cost of repairs to dredgers, was Rs. 23,929 against Rs. 27,612 in the previous year.

PLANTATIONS.

59. The state of the plantations for the last two years is shown in the following statement:—

GENERAL RESULTS.

60. In the financial statement in paragraph 41 it is shown that the working of the Midnapore Canal in 1890-91 gave a net revenue of Rs. 28,131 compared with Rs. 68,617 in 1889 90. The reduction of receipts occurs under all heads, but mainly under the head Navigation, in which there is a decrease of Rs. 37,334. The cost of working expenses is very nearly the same as in the previous year.

In the year 1888-89 an estimate, amounting to Rs. 7,91,963 (direct and indirect charges), was sanctioned to provide for certain alterations required in this canal to prevent frequent closures for the purpose of silt clearance, and so avoid the double loss caused, first, by the expense of removing the silt and, second by the interruption of traffic. The main features of the scheme were to lower the bed level of Ranges I and II, to construct a new supply channel to Range I, which may be laid dry for silt clearance without interrupting traffic, to feed Range II by a pipe connected with the first reach of the Orissa Coast Canal, and to build a new lock on the Russulpore river. The work was commenced in 1889-90, Rs. 49,414 being spent in that year. During 1890-91, as shown above, Rs. 1,52,884 was expended (direct charges only). The supply sluice for Range I was built up to floor-level, and the supply-channel from it was three-fourths completed. In Range II about one-third of the work of lowering the bed level was done. The parts of the scheme involving a new lock and a pipe supply to Range II, are at present in abeyance, as they depend on the possibility of keeping open the Russulpore river, which has silted up to such an extent as to threaten extinction of the passage between the locks on its two banks. This matter is being considered in connection with the present drainage scheme for the South Midnapore district, and a decision on this must be arrived at before the supply of Range II and the junction of the new proposed lock can be disposed of.

The increased expenditure on maintenance was due to extensive silt clearance being necessary and to the locks at Gewankhally and Etamogra having been thoroughly repaired.

The heavy charge for tools and plant was due to extensive repairs being required to the Bruce's dredger and hopper-barges, also to half the cost of a slip for boats at the Balasore Workshops being charged to this account.

RAINFALL.

63. The rainfall at Contai station was 75·32 inches against 57·53 inches in 1889-90. The fall was very heavy during the months of September and October.

FLOODS

64. Owing to heavy rain in the months of September and October, the country along the banks of the canal was flooded, but no damage of any consequence was done either to the works or the crops.

NAVIGATION.

65. The usual particulars regarding the traffic on the Hidgellee Tidal Canal carried in vessels other than those of the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company during the last ten years are given in the following statement:—

The heavy decline in the tollage receipts in the case of the private boats from Rs. 34,815 to Rs. 23,799, and in that of the Company's steamers from Rs. 5,523 to Rs. 3,346, was entirely due to the closure of Ranges I and II of the canal for 6½ and 3 months respectively for silt clearance.

The receipts during the year show a decline of Rs. 899 mainly in item fisheries, which is due to the closure of the canal for a longer period.

DREDGING.

67. There was no dredging work, as the silt was removed by hand-labour during the closure of canal.

The decrease in the number of trees during the year was chiefly owing to the death of cocoanut trees caused by drought. The expenditure during the year was Rs. 383 against Rs. 390, and the revenue was Rs. 68 against Rs. 62.

SONE CANALS.

The figures in all statements showing totals of receipts or expenditure are those of the Examiner of Accounts. In dealing with details the figures of the Commissioner or of the Superintending Engineer are used.

With respect to the above outlay on works of Rs. 1,32,699 spent during the year under review, the Superintending Engineer writes:—

"The progress made with original works during the year was satisfactory, the expenditure being slightly in excess of the provision made in the budget and revised estimates. The chief works under construction during the year were the Chowri and Chowsa drainage cuts, and the Kuttea escape, all of which were practically completed at its close. It having been determined that permanent outlets and village channel-crossings should be constructed as part of the canal system, estimates for the number required were sanctioned during the year and many completed. The masonry drain from the canal to the river at Baroon, the toll office and dredger sheds at that place, the drainage cut at mile 7, Doomraon Canal, the inlet at that place, three rest-sheds in the Arrah Division, and other minor works were completed. Besides the permanent outlets and village channel-crossings already alluded to, the most important works in progress at the close of the year were the Kujhi drainage cut and the additional weir at lock No. II, Patna Canal. The latter work was completed in May 1891."

It has been decided that the time has arrived for closing the account of the capital expenditure chargeable to Imperial funds on these canals. The unspent balance of estimates already sanctioned amounted on 1st April 1891 to Rs. 6,16,733.

NOTE.—The method of charging the cost of establishment was altered from 1887-88.

Compared with 1889-90 the receipts (less refunds) have fallen off from Rs. 8,80,975 to Rs. 7,29,170, that is by Rs. 1,51,805. The working expenses (direct charges) have been reduced from Rs. 6,80,959 to Rs. 6,53,286, or by Rs. 27,673. Including indirect charges, the net revenue has fallen from Rs. 1,51,045 to Rs. 27,071.

The falling off in the receipts occurs under the head Water-rates only, there having been an increase under Navigation and Miscellaneous. It is accounted for partly by reduced assessments owing to abundant rainfall, and partly by the outstanding arrear balance having been lower than in the previous year.

LENGTHS OF CANALS AND DISTRIBUTARIES.

It was well distributed, commencing early and continuing at favourable intervals during the kharif season, and during the rabi season being somewhat in excess of the normal fall."

Regarding the irrigation of the year, the Superintending Engineer writes :—

"Compared with the previous year, there was a slight falling off under 1,000 acres in the area irrigated under five-year lease, a diminution of nearly 50 per cent. in the area under annual kharif leases, and a reduction of about one-third in the hot-weather irrigation. The area irrigated during the rabi season was much the same as during the previous year despite the more favourable rainfall. The rainfall was greater and the area irrigated less than in any year since 1883-84 with the exception of 1886-87, when the rainfall was greater and the area irrigated less than during the year under review. The most satisfactory feature of the year's irrigation was the steadiness in the area under long leases. The area under lease on the 1st of April was 189,316 acres, and permits were issued during the year for 34,124 acres, applications for 22,783 acres being for various causes declined or not completed by the applicants."

77. The areas irrigated during the year 1890-91 and the two previous years, distinguishing between five-year leases and annual leases, are shown in the following table :—

Crop.		1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

In determining the areas of kharif, rabi, and sugarcane in five-year leases, the figures obtained at the time of executing the leases are assumed to hold good throughout. The proportionate areas of the crops named, assumed for the year 1890-91, are given below:—

Division.	Rice.	Sugarcane.	Rabi.	Total.
Arrah	85·4	7·4	7·2	100·0
Buxar	78·2	6·1	15·7	100·0
Eastern Sone ...	93·1	2·6	4·3	100·0

In the case of the Arrah Division, where this method has been in use for five years, the proportion remains very nearly the same as given in last year's report. In the case of the Buxar and Eastern Sone Divisions, where the requisite information has only been recorded for two years and one year, respectively, there is a considerable change from the proportions hitherto assumed, showing that the area under rice has been under-estimated, and that under sugarcane and rabi has been over-estimated.

78. The areas irrigated in each division during the last five years are shown by crops below:—

The relative areas of kharif and rabi in five-years' leases have been recomputed and differ from those in report of previous year.

The increased duty in the kharif season is attributable to the abundant rainfall. Owing to this cause conditions were not favourable for making any experiments in the duty of water measured at the outlet.

The Superintending Engineer has given an account of some observations made in the Arrah Division with the view of ascertaining the loss of water in branch canals and distributaries.

The results arrived at, which can only be regarded as approximations, show a loss of 1 cubic foot per second per mile of the mean discharge in distributaries and 1·5 cubic feet per second per mile in branch canals.

The matter is of importance and requires further investigation, especially having in view the probable extension of long leases up to the limit of available supply and the construction of permanent outlets calculated to use up as exactly as possible such supply.

Crop experiments.

80. With respect to rice, the experiments were confined, as explained in last year's Revenue Report, to crops irrigated from the canal.

The results obtained were—

For good, that is, selected, crops, the average yield obtained in 124 experiments was 32 maunds 2 seers of grain and 82 maunds 30 seers of straw per acre. In 115 cases the lands had been continuously irrigated from the canal for five years and over.

For average crops the mean yield in 33 experiments was 21 maunds 17 seers of grain and 49 maunds 6 seers of straw per acre. In 31 cases the lands had been irrigated from the canal for more than five years.

The results of the experiments taken in the rabi season are tabulated below. The experiments were not numerous, and the results of these in different subdivisons have varied considerably.

The Superintending Engineer remarks that special attention will be paid to wheat in 1891-92:—

As regards the Patna district the Commissioner remarks:—

"In this district the collections have been extremely unsatisfactory, owing partly to a defective system and partly to the inefficiency of the officer in charge. A Sub-Deputy Collector who has had experience of such work in Shahabad has been transferred to this duty, and there are signs of improvement, though these will be more evident later on."

The Superintending Engineer remarks as follows:—

"The high cost of establishment per acre is due to the comparatively small area brought under lease during the year, which bears most unfavourably in the Buxar Division. The permanent establishment is fixed with reference to the total area under irrigation, and the incidence per acre is high in those years in which comparatively few long leases are renewed. As regards temporary establishment, there has not been a material increase. The headmen's fees ought to be calculated, not on the area leased during the year, but on the total area irrigated. Calculated in this way, the fees for the three divisions would be as follows:—Eastern Sone As. 1-7, Arrah As. 1-6, Buxar As. 1-7. In future years' reports the table will be modified."

Complaints.

88. "Complaints" properly so defined, i.e, objections to assessments actually made or petitions alleging that damage has been sustained through the canals, are classified as follows:—

Total, 1889-90	8,258	3,313	4,240	705	522	95	386	41	6,867	746

The total number of complaints received during the year was 3,151 as compared with 6,867 in the previous year. Including those pending from the previous year, orders were passed on 3,590, and the balance outstanding at the close of the year had been reduced to 113. This is satisfactory. The Collector of Shahabad has also remarked on this subject—"Complaints against assessments.—These have been reduced to a minimum. The assessment work was every where carefully done."

In addition, 4,335 "applications"—in which term are included petitions for leases and outlets, for change of names in five-year leases, or for the post of headman—were received, of which 2,312 were granted, and 1,557 refused The number pending at the close of the year was 466. The details by Divisions are shown below:—

Division.	Received during the year and pending from last year.	Granted.	Refused.	Pending at the close of the year.

The Superintending Engineer has remarked on this subject:—

"The applications relate to matters in connection with irrigation, in which requests are made in the ordinary way of business. The most numerous class are those in connection with the mutation of names in a five-year lease, of which 983 were received, the next in importance are preliminary applications for a five-year lease, which numbered 739, the remainder are fully classified in the Appendix, the only ones of importance being 284 applications for registration as owner of a village channel: in 132 cases they relate to a supply of water free for drinking purposes."

APPEALS.

89. Four appeals (including three pending from the previous year) were preferred to Collectors against the orders passed by canal officers on complaints, and all were dismissed.

Eight cases were decided by engineers vested with magisterial powers under the Bengal Irrigation Act. Seven persons accused of offences under the Act were convicted and thirteen discharged.

CERTIFICATE PROCEDURE.

90. It has been decided that the certificates required in realising water-rates shall continue to be dealt with by the Special Deputy Collector in charge of the collections, and shall not be made over to the General Department of the Collectorate.

The amount of certificate work done in each district during the year under review as compared with that of the previous year is shown in the following statement:—

The demand adjusted was Rs. 50,764 as against Rs. 55,496, the remissions being Rs. 16,128 compared with Rs. 12,155. Except in Patna, where the collections have been much in arrears, the numbers of certificates pending at the close of the year are moderate.

There was an increase of about 12 per cent. in the tollage receipts, due chiefly to increased activity in the grain trade.

TRANSPORT SERVICE.

92. The transport service on the Sone Canals is worked by Messrs. Hodges and Radford under a contract for three years from the 1st December 1889. Two trips are run each way every week on the Arrah and Buxar Canals, and one trip on the Patna Canal. There are four steamers, the property of Government, of which three are hired to the contractors and one is held in reserve. The charge for steamer-hire is Rs. 600 per month, and Rs. 500 is also levied as compounded tollage.

		Arrah Canal.	Buxar Canal.	Patna Canal.	Total.

The ordinary repairs of the steamers are executed by the lessees and not by Government.

The transport service is reported to be efficiently and regularly worked, and to be popular. It is certainly a great convenience to the places served.

There are in addition to the steamers four cargo boats, the property of Government, for the hire of which Rs 1,360 was received during the year, besides which Rs. 111 was recovered by way of fees for the use of the accommodation boat.

MAINTENANCE CHARGES.

94. The expenditure on works, maintenance, and repairs will now be briefly reviewed.

EXTENSIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

On 'extensions and improvements' Rs. 3,263 was spent, mainly in substituting brick arches for wooden tops on bridges on branch canals.

REPAIRS.

The expenditure on repairs fell from Rs. 2,92,992 to Rs. 2,72,831, which is distributed under the following sub-heads :—

The expenditure on the reconstruction of the piers of the under-sluices of the Sone weir was concluded in 1889-90, and the expenditure in the head works is now normal.

The amounts given above exclude the charge for maintaining the Telegraph line from Arrah to Dehree, which has been included in paragraph 94 under head "Main Canal with Branches."

The expenditure is slightly less than in the two previous years. Generally the expenditure is less on main and branch canals and greater on distributaries. Of Rs. 44,777 spent on the first five miles of Western Main Canal, Rs. 43,430 are under the subhead Earthwork compared with Rs. 47,196 in 1,889-90 and Rs. 42,224 in 1888-89. The charge of the year under review for this portion of canal includes Rs. 5,166 for silt clearance by hand and Rs. 35,776 for dredging.

Silt-clearing and dredging.

97. The quantity of silt dredged from the Eastern and Western Main and Buxar Canals and the rate at which the work was done during the last three years are given below:—

The rates shown in the above table include the cost of lifting the silt into barges and of carrying it either over the spoil banks or into the river. The rates necessarily vary much under the latter head owing to different heights of spoil bank and of different lengths of lead to the river.

The cost of lifting the silt on to the barges or dredging proper was as shown below:—

	Quantity dredged.	1888-89 — Cost of lifting.	Rate per 1,000 cubic feet.	Quantity dredged.	1889-90— Cost of lifting.	Rate per 1,000 cubic feet.	Quantity dredged.	1890-91— Cost of lifting.	Rate per 1,000 cubic feet.

The rates do not vary much from those of the preceding year.

98. The expenditure on repairs to dredgers during the year under review is compared with that of the two previous years in the following statement:—

	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

The Superintending Engineer has given the following information as to the comparative cost of lifting the silt on to barges, allowing for interest on the capital cost of the dredgers and for the expenditure on repairs:—

	Average cost in 1890-91 of lifting per 1,000 cubic feet.			Interest on capital cost per 1,000 cubic feet lifted.			Cost of repairs per 1,000 cubic feet lifted.			Total.

English ladder dredgers	1	14	5	1	7	6	1	1	2	4	7	1

The small expenditure on repairs has given a decided advantage to the Bruce's dredgers, of which there are two employed.

99. The quantity of silt cleared by hand from main canals in the Eastern Sone Division and the cost are compared below with the figures for the two previous years:—

On the Western Main Canal 1,589,240 cubic feet were cleared by hand at a cost of Rs. 7,852.

WEED CLEARING.

100. The cost of weed-clearing for the last five years is shown in the following table:—

DIVISION.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

The figures for 1888-89 and 1889-90 have been amended, as those given in the report of last year excluded certain items which have been added.

The Superintending Engineer remarks:—

"There has been increased expenditure all round in this item, and it is reported that the weeds during 1890-91 were very troublesome and had to be removed more frequently than usual. It is difficult to ascribe a satisfactory reason for the vigorous growth of these pests: the lower average discharge of the canals during the rains may have had some share in the matter.'"

MILEAGE RATES OF REPAIRS OF CANALS AND DISTRIBUTARIES.

101. The mileage rates of cost of repairs are worked out both for canals and distributaries, and compared with the rates of the two previous years in the statement below:—

PLANTATIONS.

102. The state of the plantations in each division at the close of the years 1889-90 and 1890-91 is shown in the following statement:—

The increase shown in the Arrah and Dehree Workshop Divisions is due mainly to the plantations being established in the vicinity of the head works at Dehree. The decrease in the Eastern Sone Division is due to incorrect enumeration in the previous year.

The receipts of 1890-91 show an increase of Rs. 29,542 over those of 1889-90, though still much behind the years 1887-88 and 1888-89.

The competition of the Bengal Central Railway and of the Steam Navigation Companies is said to be getting keener every year.

The profits in the working of the canals were Rs. 2,01,128, or 3·8 per cent. on the capital outlay. Results for ten years are given below:—

The tolls collected from boats and rafts, which are the chief source of revenue, amounted to Rs. 5,02,628 compared with Rs. 4,71,555 in the previous year.

There has recently been an enquiry into the system of measuring boats and charging tolls on these canals, and a scheme is under consideration for modifying and readjusting them so as to make the distribution more equal on different classes of boats, to all of which the present system of measurement does not appear fully suitable.

BOATS.

106. The particulars regarding the boats which used the canals during the last two years are given below, and it will be seen that there is an increase under every class:—

		Number and class of boats.					Total.
		Up to 100 maunds.	Between 100 and 1,000 maunds.	Between 1,000 and 2,500 maunds.	Between 2,500 and 5,000 maunds.	Over 5,000 maunds.

and for Tolly's Nullah:—

	1890-91 ...	17,076	21,109	6,481	70	...	44,736

Besides the boats enumerated above, a number of small boats and dinghies enter Tolly's Nullah from the Kourapukhur khal, paying toll at Russa. These boats are not classified. Their number was 28,680 against 30,731 in 1889-90.

TRAFFIC.

107. The figures showing the tonnage of the boats by canal measurement and the estimated weight and value of the cargoes are shown below separately for the Calcutta Canals and Tolly's Nullah, and compared with the returns of the preceding year:—

		Number of boats.	Tonnage of boats by canal measurement.	Weight of cargo carried.	Value of cargo carried.	Tollage including demurrage.	Percentage of toll on value of cargo.

The increase of 9,289 boats during the year was partly due to the large number of pilgrims brought to Calcutta during the Ardhodya jog festival.

MISSING TICKETS.

108. The improvement which has been effected in the organisation and management of the toll system is again attested by a decrease in the number of missing tickets. The following are the figures for the last nine years:—

EXTENSIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

111. The expenditure of Rs. 36,676 charged to extensions and improvements was mainly due to the erection of a new girder bridge over Tolly's Nullah at Kalighat, on which Rs. 36,295 was spent during the year, the total estimated cost being Rs. 85,560, of which Rs. 30,000 has been contributed by the Corporation of Calcutta.

The cost of maintenance of the canal by sub-heads as compared with that of the previous year is given below:—

The increase or decrease in the expenditure as compared with that of the year before is explained below:—

Calcutta Canals.—The heavy increase of Rs. 9,279 under "Locks" was due principally to dewatering, examining, and repairing the Chitpore lock, gate, gearing, &c., and clearing the lock basin of silt. Outlay on buildings was small, viz., Rs. 936 against Rs. 3,024 of the year before. The decrease under dredging was due to breakdown of dredgers Victoria and Fouracres, which worked only for 95 and 90 days, respectively, in 7 months during the year. The decrease under "Channels" and "Banks" is attributable to large expenditure in piling and rivetting in the former year. The decrease under "Steam-launches" was due partly to the fact that no launch had to be hired for the Supervisor of the Calcutta Canals during the year as was done in the previous year. Government launches "Ethel" and "Coot" were under repairs during a greater portion of the year, which tended to curtail the working expenses. The expenditure of Rs. 284 under "Drainage" was due to the making of a new shutter for the inlet sluice at Chitpore.

Tolly's Nullah.—The increase under head "Bridges" was due to painting the Alipore and Zeerut bridges. There was a marked decrease of Rs. 11,225 under head "Channels and banks" as compared with the expenditure under this head during the preceding year, which was principally due to the fact that no outlay on silt clearance for improvement of the Kowrapookhur Khal was incurred during last year.

Eastern Canals.—The increase of Rs. 729 under "Buildings" was due to thorough repairs to the subdivisional bungalows having been undertaken during the year. There was an expenditure of Rs. 4,532 under "Plantation." New plants were purchased and planted out in the canal surplus lands at Bhangore. The increase under "Towpath" was due to the construction of a retired line of towpath in No. 4 or Assassoonee subdivision, and to some extra repairs to flood damages. The increase under "Rustic bridges" was due to the fact that thorough repairs were carried out to the remodelled bridges in No. 5 or Peroze-pore subdivision, and to extra work done for repairing flood damages. Under "Miscellaneous" the increase was partly attributable to cutting nicks on the north and south banks of Bhangore khall; and constructing boundary pillars at Bamonghatta khall, and partly to petty works of a miscellaneous nature.

DREDGING AND SILT CLEARANCE.

112. The following statement shows the quantity of silt dredged, and the expenditure incurred, and the rate per 1,000 cubic feet during the year, including the cost of delivering the mud— :—

	Quantity dredged.	Cost.	Rate per 1,000 cubic feet.
	C. feet.	Rs.	Rs. A. P.
Steam dredger Victoria ...	614.100	6,186	10 1 2
Fouracres' dredger ...	156,900	1,887	12 0 5
Marchants' dredger ...	191,700	1,896	9 14 3

Omitting the cost of delivering the mud, the rates of dredging proper, exclusive of the cost of repairs and of interest on original cost, were per 1,000 cubic feet—

	Rs. A. P.
Steam dredger Victoria	4 10 6
Fouracres' dredger	6 9 8
Marchants' dredger	0 11 6

The Superintending Engineer remarks :—

"The results of the dredging work cannot be considered satisfactory, allowing even for the time the dredgers were under repairs. The average rates of working of the Victoria and Fouracres were in excess of those of last year, and far in excess of the rates of work on the Midnapore Canal. There are, however, no steam-hoppers or hopper-barges in use, and the disposal of the excavated silt is very costly. The number of days in the months during which the two dredgers named above worked is small, and unless they are worked more regularly, good results cannot be expected."

PLANTATIONS.

113. The state of the plantations for the last two years is shown below:—

Year.	Trees over 12 feet.	Saplings from 4 to 12 feet.	Seedlings below 4 feet.	Total.
	No.	No.	No.	No.
1889-90 ...	2,046	569	427	3.042
1890-91 ...	2,208	1,382	1,314	4,904

FLOODS.

114. The whole of the rivers connecting with the Eastern Canals were in heavy flood in August and September, but gauge-readings are not available. Owing to the heavy flood in the Bhyrub river, serious damages were caused to the river protective works at Khoolna: some of the spurs were swept away and others damaged more or less. Slight slips occurred, and the river bank was eroded to a certain extent. On the whole the protective works at Khoolna, which come under the head of miscellaneous improvements, did their work well, and prevented what might have been a serious erosion.

ORISSA COAST CANAL.

CAPITAL ACCOUNT.

115. The Capital and Revenue Accounts of this canal are given below:—

1.—CAPITAL ACCOUNT.

The expenditure of Rs. 17,269 on works was incurred in the following:—

(a) Clearing brickfields at Nulcool, Sara, and Kunduli.
(b) Toll-houses and khallasies' sheds were completed and paid for.
(c) Excavations of tanks for drinking-water and for bathing purposes at the various locks were completed, except at Jamcoonda, where they are in abeyance, pending settlement of the question of the necessity for building a new lock.
(d) Mr. Bond's house, occupied on a monthly rental for Executive Engineer's office, has been purchased for Rs. 5,000, and it is now undergoing thorough repairs. Additional office accommodation is also being provided in a detached building, which, together with cost of land and special repairs and alterations, sanctioned in Bengal Government letter No. 5341, dated the 26th March 1891, will amount to Rs. 9,895.

The Superintending Engineer remarks :—

"The canal is now practically complete, although there are about 29 lakhs cubic feet of earth in certain uncut portions of the canal. This, however, is no impediment to the navigation."

The navigation receipts have advanced slightly. The Superintending Engineer, however, remarks that this may be looked upon as very satisfactory, considering the long closure of the Hidgellee Tidal Canal. There was an increased traffic in grain due to larger exports to Calcutta, and an increase in the quantity of salt imported from Calcutta.

The expenditure on repairs is less by Rs. 8,216 than in the previous year, and is reported by the Superintending Engineer to be normal. The establishment and indirect charges are much larger than in 1889 90. This is due to the fact that in that year they were unusually low owing to the large proportion of establishment charged to the Hidgellee Canal.

NAVIGATION.

117. The income from tolls rose from Rs. 63,724 to Rs. 64,220. While the tolls paid on vessels of the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company declined from Rs. 22,290 to Rs. 19,540, the receipts from country boats increased from Rs. 41,434 to Rs. 44,680. The increase of the traffic is chiefly attributable to the exports of grain to Calcutta and imports of salt from Calcutta in larger quantities than those of last year.

The receipts on each range of the canal are compared with those of the two previous years below:—

Ranges.	Miles of canal open.	Tollage receipts.
		1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

TRAFFIC.

118. The traffic on the canal during the year 1890-91, compared with that of the previous year, is shown in the following statement:—

With the view of stimulating the traffic on ranges IVA, IVB, and V, a concession has been granted for one year by which on these ranges no charge will be made for a return trip. The causes of the small receipts on this part of the canal are given in the following extract from Superintending Engineer's report:—

"This measure, the Executive Engineer reports, 'will undoubtedly increase the volume of traffic, but it should be noted that sea-going craft and steamers can penetrate by the Burrabullong and the Mutai, the country traversed by these ranges, which are thus very unfavourably situated for earning revenue compared with Range III and the Hidgellee Tidal Canal. It may also be added that a great proportion of the rice produced in the Balasore district is shipped direct from Balasore, and the Mutai to the Laccadive and Maldive islands, Mauritius, and other places outside India. This trade of course cannot be diverted by any means into the canals; also owing to the very brisk competition, which prevails at Chandbali between the various steamer companies, freight charges are very low at that port, which accordingly attracts much of the trade that might naturally be expected to follow the coast canal route to Calcutta.'

"The advisability of the construction of feeder-roads has been brought to the notice of the District Board, and a contribution of Rs. 7,000 offered by the Government towards defraying their cost. No roads were constructed during the year, but there is every probability of two lines being undertaken and completed during the current year, tending, it is hoped, to increase the traffic on the backward ranges."

DREDGING AND SILT CLEARANCE.

120. During the year under review the dredgers Clinker and Comus were employed principally in removing the silt accumulated above the Bhanitghur lock. The quantity dredged by them and the cost and rate per 1,000 cubic feet, compared with the year 1889-90, are shown in the following table:—

YEAR.	Names of dredgers.	Quantity dredged.	COST OF—			RATE.

	Rs.
Repairs to Clinker	1,743
Ditto hopper-barges	3,511
Ditto Comus	379
Ditto mud punts	Nil.

Six new mud punts were constructed during the year—three by Messrs. Burn and Company and three at the Seebpore Workshops.

PLANTATIONS.

121. The state of the plantations for the last two years is shown in the following statement:—

FLOODS.

122. In consequence of the heavy rains in September and October, the country traversed by Range III of the canal was heavily flooded. The highest flood levels of the year on the various rivers crossed by it were as follows:—

RIVER.	Place.	Date.	Gauge.
Russulpore ...	Bhanitghur ...	29th September	115·20
Soobunrekha ...	Bhograi ...	28th „ ...	113·70

Ditto ...	Chargachia ...	26th „ ...	110·50
Mutai ...	Charbettia ...	28th „ ...	110·10

There was no damage to any of the works on the rivers. On Range III at Peechabani the water rose to the height of 112·05 against 113·35 in 1888-89. On Range V the escapes at Atilabad and Gumai were heavily eroded, and temporary repairs were carried out.

There are no distributaries or village channels maintained by Government, but several cuts and channels have been constructed and maintained by the Canal Managers.

RAINFALL.

126. The average rainfall on the area under command is shown by seasons in the table below for the last three years:—

	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

*August, September, and October.

The rainfall during the year, especially in the kharif season, was excessive. In July the average fall was nearly 18 inches. There was consequently very little demand for water either for irrigation or indigo manufacture.

IRRIGATION.

127. The areas irrigated as obtained from the Canal Manager's reports during the past ten years, together with the rainfall, are given in the table below:—

DUTY OF WATER.

128. The duty of water cannot be calculated, as there is no regular irrigation, and the canals are drainage as well as irrigation channels.

129. The following comparative statement shows the balances, assessments, and recoveries of water-rates for the last ten years:—

ASSESSMENTS, COLLECTIONS AND BALANCES.

The above figures do not agree with those of the Examiner, which have been taken in the statement of Revenue account.

The outstanding balance has considerably decreased, and there now only remains a sum of Rs. 8,179 to be recovered.

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

130. The following table shows the expenditure on maintenance during the passed three years:—

	Miles.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

DREDGING AND SILT CLEARANCE.

131. There are no dredgers on the canals, and the silt is removed by hand only.

The following statement shows the total quantity of silt removed from the canals and the cost during the year as compared with those in previous year:—

The expenditure incurred was Rs. 183 against Rs. 390 in 1889-90.

GENERAL.

133. The arrangement by which a revenue of Rs. 21,850 was guaranteed by a number of the indigo concerns in the Sarun district has been finally abandoned, and on the 31st March 1891 the accounts were closed. For the current year a provisional arrangement has been made with Mr. D. Reid of the Moniara Indigo Concern, by which he is to have the use of the water and the receipts from a portion of the system in return for a payment of Rs. 11,000 per annum, together with the liability of maintaining and clearing the minor channels. It is estimated that with the Rs. 11,000 Government will be able to maintain the head works and main supply-channels. A proposal to enter into an agreement of this nature for a term of years is under consideration.

NUDDEA RIVERS.

REVENUE ACCOUNT.

134. The approximate length of the channels comprising the Nuddea rivers system is 477 miles. No capital account of expenditure is kept. The revenue account for the last two years is given below:—

The Superintending Engineer remarks that a revival of trade is indicated by a comparison of the quantities of goods carried, compared with those of the previous year.

MISSING TICKETS.

138. Regarding missing tickets, the following is extracted from Superintending Engineer's report:—

"Missing tickets have not been wholly accounted for by the Executive Engineer, who reports as follows:—'Without a special establishment for the purpose, it has been found impracticable to institute a systematic attempt to trace missing tickets. Where there is no terminal station, as on the Matabhanga, Hooghly, and Bhyrub, it is impossible for tickets to be returned to the office of issue. The through traffic up and down the Bhagiruthee from Surroopgunge and Jungypore respectively can only be checked by return of tickets, and this forms the mininum of the total on the Nuddea Rivers."

"Under the orders conveyed in Bengal Government No. 782I of the 12th May 1890 check-measurement of boats were taken up by the Toll Collector of Jungipore and by the subordinate in charge of No. 6 subdivision. Out of 474 tickets checked by the former, 54 were found to show measurements in excess and 15 short-measured. By the latter 163 tickets were checked, 4 were found excess and 14 in defect. In all cases the differences were trifling. As check-measurements can only be made within toll limits, the number of tickets checked must necessarily be comparatively small."

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

139. The cost of the revenue establishment for the last four years is shown below:—

	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

140. The charges for maintenance and repairs for the last two years are detailed below:—

PARTICULARS.	1889-90. Details.	1890-91. Details.
Repairs.	Rs.	Rs.
Reopening lower entrance channel, Bhagiruthee river	6,931	1,422
Closing Bhagiruthee, upper intake ...	7,264	...
Training works in river Bhagiruthee ...	17,849	31,438

" " Jellinghee ...	792	1,695
" " Matabhanga ...	2,357	1,641
Sounding Nuddea Rivers	5,802	5,921
Maintaining and working divisional boats ...	3,027	2,862
Petty and other charges	2,950	5,190
Total ...	47,843	52,482

The total expenditure during the year shows an increase of Rs. 4,639, which is mainly due to the erection of training works in the section above Berhampore.

MISCELLANEOUS RECEIPTS.

141. The miscellaneous receipts during the year was Rs. 156 against Rs. 61 in the previous year.

DREDGING AND SILT CLEARANCE.

142. There was no expenditure under this head during the year.

PLANTATIONS.

143. There are no plantations on the banks of the rivers. During the year under review bamboos were planted on the berm of the Bhagiruthee embankment, but the result was not very successful.

FLOODS.

144. The flood in the Bhagiruthee river during the year was the highest ever recorded. It was higher than that of 1889-90 by 7¼ inches. A breach was caused in the left embankment of the river about a mile above the Laltakori retired line at Arizpore, by which considerable damage was done to the crops.

The gauge readings at Berhampore and Gheria for four years are given below:—

YEAR.		Berhampore.	Gheria.
1886	... ...	29′ 9½″	32·35
1887	... ...	30′ 1½″	31·50
1889	... ...	30′ 4½″	34·00
1890	... ...	30′11¾″	34·70

One effect of the increased volume which entered the upper head of the river was to deepen it, and training works were successful in keeping the whole river open for navigation throughout the year, and as a consequence the toll collections were more than those of the previous year.

The Jellinghee and Matabhanga rivers were also in high floods at the same time as the Bhagiruthee, but no damage of any consequence occurred.

EDEN CANAL.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE.

145. The purpose for which this canal was originally constructed was, as stated in the last year's report, mainly to supply drinking-water. The receipts from, and expenditure on, it for the last two years are given below:—

	1889-90.	1890-91.
RECEIPTS.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	8,503	2,795
Miscellaneous	867	802
Total receipts ...	9,370	3,597
EXPENDITURE.
Works	1,786	584
Maintenance and repairs ...	15,692	24,612
Establishment... ...	7,032	8,915
Tools and plant	270	684
Total expenditure ..	24,780	34,795
Balance, deficit ...	15,410	31,198

The receipts from water-rates were much less than those of the previous year, the decrease being due to the timely rainfall, which reduced the demand for canal water.

The expenditure during the year was Rs. 10,015 more than that of the previous year. The increase was mainly on silt clearance, on which item alone Rs. 9,101 was spent. The works carried out are detailed below:—

The sand dam across the Damoodar at Joojooty was carried away by a freshet in the river in March and repaired, but again carried away in the beginning of the current year.

The Channel No. 2 at Joojooty, as also No. 1 channel and the Banka at Joojooty, was cleared of silt at a cost of Rs. 2,984 and Rs. 6,117 respectively. The quantity of silt excavated was 1,223,305 cubic feet.

Sluice No. 2 at Joojooty was repaired, its iron gates remodelled, and a pair of new wooden gates fitted on the river-side at a cost of Rs. 1,070. The four old rivers which form a system of this canal, viz., Kana Nuddee, 'Kana Damoodar and North and South Saraswatty, which were choked up with weeds, were partially cleared during the year at a cost of Rs 347.

IRRIGATION.

146. Of 4,847 biggahs leased for irrigation during the year, only 3,989 biggahs were actually irrigated against 29,080 biggahs in 1889-90. The amount realized in advance at the rate of four annas per biggah was Rs. 1,211-14, of which Rs. 214-8 will have to be returned to the lessees for the unirrigated area of 858 biggahs. The earnings therefore were Rs. 997-6. Of arrears of water rates (Rs. 1,207-3-6) Rs. 1,183-7-0 was collected during the year, leaving a balance of Rs. 23-12-6 uncollected.

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

147. The establishment employed on irrigation was Rs. 147, against Rs. 421 in 1889-90.

MADHUBAN CANAL.

EXPENDITURE.

148. The expenditure on works and maintenance of this canal during the last three years are given below:—

	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Works	582	2,957	6,236
Maintenance ...	2,297	3,257	2,011
Establishment ...	1,315	3,100	3,293
Tools and plant ...	...	23	287
Total ...	4,194	9,337	11,827

The floods of 1890 again caused much damage to the Teur weir, owing mainly to which the expenditure during the year was Rs. 2,490 in excess of that of the previous year.

No revenue is derived at present from irrigation in this canal, the ryots being allowed to irrigate their lands free of cost.

The miscellaneous receipts during the year were Rs. 42, against Rs. 36 in 1889-90.

IRRIGATION.

149. There was no demand for irrigation from the canal during the kharif season, as the rainfall was sufficient. At the beginning of the poppy cultivation, however, some water was wanted, and 854 acres of land were irrigated. In 1889-90 the total area irrigated was 9,134 acres, of which 2,166 acres were for poppy cultivation.

GENERAL RESULTS.

NET REVENUE.

150. The net results of the year 1890-91 are shown below, compared with those of the previous year:—

	Receipts from all sources (less refunds).	Working expenses (direct and indirect).	Profit or loss.
MAJOR IRRIGATION WORKS.	Rs	Rs.	Rs.
1889-90	15,04,474	14,22,368	+82,106
MINOR WORKS AND NAVIGATION.
For which Capital and Revenue accounts are kept.
1889-90	5,83,989	3,88,171	+1,95,818
1890-91	6,27,654	4,39,636	+1,88,018
For which only Revenue accounts are kept.
1889-90	1,85,823	92,989	+92,834
1890-91	2,00,482	1,09,894	+90,588
For which neither Capital nor Revenue accounts are kept.
1889-90	9,406	34,117	−24,711
1890-91	3,639	46,622	−42,983
Total 1889-90 ...	22,83,692	19,37,645	+3,46,047
Total 1890-91 ...	21,70,916	20,28,288	+1,42,628

Compared with the figures accepted in the revised Budget Estimates, the actual receipts were less by Rs. 7,084, and the expenses less by Rs. 1,07,092.

EARNINGS.

151. The net result of the Major Irrigation Works reckoned on earnings, that is on assessed revenue instead of on actual receipts, was compared with 1889-90:—

	Earnings.	Working expenses.	Profit or loss.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1889-90 ...	14,50,115	14,22,368	+ 27,747
1890-91 ...	13,54,379	14,32,136	– 77,757

The decrease is accounted for by the reduced area under irrigation on the Sone Canals, due to favourable rainfall and to a diminution in the Navigation receipts on the Midnapore and Hidgellee Tidal Canals.

The expenditure was normal.

The revenue from Minor Works and Navigation is derived mainly from tollage receipts. There are satisfactory increases from the Calcutta and Eastern Canals, and from the Nuddea rivers, which are the most important items of this class.

ARREARS.

152. The progress in the recovery of water-rates during the year is summarised below:—

	Outstanding on 1st April 1890.	Demand of 1890-91.	Collected or adjusted.	Outstanding on 1st April 1891.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Orissa Canals	1,76,762	2,69,650	2,48,048	1,98,364
Midnapore Canal	50,644	1,30,595	1,16 272	64,967
Sone Canals	2,81,782	6,29,124	6,66,178	2,44,728
Total ..	5,09,188	10,29,369	10,30,498	5,08,059

The progress on the Sone Canals has been good, and taken together with the diminished number of complaints is satisfactory evidence that the modifications in the system lately introduced have been successful. In Midnapore there has been a falling off, which it may be hoped is only temporary. In Orissa the outstanding balances have been steadily increasing, and the state of affairs is far from satisfactory. It is hoped that certain alterations in the method of assessment, which are now being considered, will be effective in placing that part of the work on a sound footing. It is, however, imperative that the rates shall be collected promptly, and this ever-increasing arrear balance put an end to.

VALUE OF CROPS.

153. The approximate value of crops irrigated by Major Irrigation Works during the last two years is shown below:—

CANALS.	1889-90.		1890-91.
	Acres.	Rs.	Acres.	Rs.
Orissa Canals	186,627	40,45,961	180,299	39,10,595
Midnapore Canal	68,810	17,20,250	82,002	18,86,046
Total ...	560,719	1,63,10,285	543,315	1,66,04,844

The average value per acre of the various crops irrigated has increased from Rs. 29·0 to Rs. 30·5.

154. A table is attached as an appendix to this note showing the number of days spent on tour by each officer of the Irrigation Branch of the Department during the year 1890-91.

155. The date fixed for the submission of revenue reports to the office of the Chief Engineer is the 15th September. The dates when the different reports were received are shown below:—

Sone Circle ...	Commissioner's report ...	20th ditto ...	7th October.
	Superintending Engineer's report	15th ditto ...	14th September.

The reports from the Commissioner of Orissa, and the Superintending Engineer, Sone Circle, were received within the fixed time, and the other reports were practically punctual, with the exception of those of the Commissioner of Patna and the Superintending Engineer, Orissa Circle. The finance and administrative accounts of the year 1890-91, due in the Chief Engineer's office on the 1st August, were received from the Examiner, Public Works Accounts, Bengal, on the 27th August and 5th September 1891, respectively.

* Mean of 5 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Saturday, the 9th of January 1892.

CALCUTTA, the 12th January 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 9TH OF JANUARY 1892.

THE meteorological conditions of the week have again continued practically without any important change until Saturday, the 9th of January. On the 3rd pressure was rising rather rapidly, and had become slightly but distinctly above the normal, while temperature was above the normal at the western and below it at the eastern and southern stations. The northerly wind current blowing over the province was a little less regular than usual, but fine clear weather obtained at all stations. On the 4th the rise of pressure continued, while temperature fell and became below the normal over the whole province; and winds also became more steady. From the 5th a fall of pressure set in which continued on the 6th and 7th, though a slight rise set in on the 8th. A rapid fall then commenced on the 9th, the fall at some stations exceeding a tenth of an inch, and pressure generally became nearly a tenth of an inch below the normal. This fall apparently accompanied the commencement of a barometric depression in North-Western India, and on this day also temperature increased rapidly and became from 2° to about 5° above the normal, while humidity also increased very largely and became very high. The northerly wind also fell off in force, and at several stations winds became more or less southerly. Cloud proportion also commenced to increase, but no rain fell. Conditions at the close of the week were therefore becoming a little abnormal, but fine clear weather still obtained at all stations, and for the whole week the province has again been absolutely rainless.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been slightly in excess of the normal in all districts and at almost all stations except a few in and near the line of the hills, where there has been a slight defect. At most stations, however, the variations do not exceed more than a few thousandths of an inch, and the general pressure of the province has not been more than about 0·01 inch above the normal.

Temperature—Was below the normal in the early part of the week and largely above it at its close. For the whole week, however, the mean temperature has not been very far removed from the normal, and the general temperature of the province has been about a fifth of a degree in excess of the normal. Orissa has on the one side shown a distinctly defective temperature, while Chutia Nagpur and East and North Bengal have shown an excess of half to one degree.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. It will be seen that the day temperatures have been generally in excess of the normal, while the night temperatures have been in defect.

Table showing the excess or defect of the actual mean temperature from the normal for the week ending 9th January 1892.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·6° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Report on the Monthly Statistics of Deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of September 1891.

THE total deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal during the month of September 1891 numbered 149,431, against 146,205 in September 1890 and an average of 126,666 in the corresponding month of the previous five years, 1886—90. These figures represent an annual death-rate of 27·12, 26·52 and 23·04 per 1,000, respectively, of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. The death-rate of September 1891 is 4·08 higher than the mean rate of the corresponding month of the past five years 1886—90, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years with which comparison is made, vide the figures below—

	September 1886.	September 1887.	September 1888.	September 1889.	September 1890.	Monthly average of five years, 1886—90.	September 1891.

Ratio per mille per annum	21·60	20·28	22·08	24·60	26·52	23·04	27·12

The death-rate of the forty-five districts during September 1891, as will be seen from the following table, is greater than the previous months of the year except March and April:—

Months.	Number of deaths.	Ratio per mille.
January	143,492	26·04
February	137,553	24·96
March	168,185	30·60

July	121,977	22·20
August	142,154	25·80
September	149,431	27·12

The following table shows the registered results as they occurred among the different sexes and the several classes of the community which comprise the population of the Bengal Province. As usual, on the whole, more males died than females. The ratio of deaths among the sexes, calculated on the proportion the mortality bears to the total male and female population of the province, is as 110 is to 100; but, individually considered, in only three districts, viz., Rajshahye, Darjeeling, and Purneah, the death-rates among females are greater than that among males. Considered with the population of each class, the death-rate per mille per annum among the Hindus is greater than among the Mahomedans or other classes, Christians come next, Buddhists suffered least:—

	Sex.			Class.
	Males.	Females.	Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population.	Christians.	Hindus.	Mahomedans.	Buddhists.	Other classes.

The following table exhibits the proportions of deaths registered during the month of September 1891, above 30 per 1,000 of population, arranged in order of sequence, and compared with the ratios of the corresponding month of 1890:—

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— Sept. 1891.	Sept. 1890.	Districts.	Ratio per mille during— Sept. 1891.	Sept. 1890.

Monghyr	36·12	35·88	Bhagulpore	30·00	30·00

The maximum death-rate was registered in Maldah, 52·20 per mille, and the minimum in Tipperah, 16·08. Fever is accountable for the high death-rate in Maldah, 2,821 deaths having occurred from this disease out of a total of 3,091. In seventeen districts the death-rates ranged between 30· and 39·48, in eighteen they were between 20·40 and 28·68, and in the remaining nine they were below 20.

The total mortality from the several registered death-causes during the month under notice is compared in the following table with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding month of 1890 and the average of the previous five years 1886-90:—

	Ratio per mille during—
	September 1891.	September 1890.	Monthly average of five years 1886-90.
Cholera	1·20	·84	·96
Small-pox	·09	·06	·04
Fever	20·76	20·16	16·92
Dysentery and diarrhœa	·60	·60	·72
Injury	·60	·72	·60
Other causes	3·72	3·84	3·36

The only noticeable point in connection with the above table is that the death-rate of September 1891 under the head fever is higher than the mean rate of the corresponding period of the past five years 1886-90.

Cholera caused 6,844 deaths, or at an annual death-rate of 1·20 per 1,000 of population, against 14,548, ratio 2·64, in the preceding month. The highest death rate occurred in Chumparun, 6· per 1,000 per annum, next in Shahabad 5·76, then in Gya 3·84, Sarun 3·72, and in Mozufferpore 2·88. In four districts, viz. Dinajpore, Rungpore, Noakhali, and Singbhum, the disease was entirely absent.

The deaths from small-pox numbered 557, ratio ·09 per mille per annum, against 959, ratio ·12, in the previous month. Cuttack returned the highest death-rate, viz. ·96 per mille per annum, followed by Poori ·72 and Midnapore ·60. The disease was entirely absent in fourteen districts, viz. Birbhoom, Hughli, Serampore, Jessore, Murshedabad, Khulna, Rajshahye, Rungpore, Pubna, Darjeeling, Noakhali, Monghyr, Maldah and Sonthal Pergunnahs.

Fever caused 114,017 deaths and dysentery and diarrhœa 3,641 (ratios 20·76 and ·60 per 1,000 of population respectively), against 99,028 and 3,668 (ratios 18· and ·60 respectively). These diseases were present in every district. Maldah seems to have suffered most from fever, the annual death rate being 47·64 per mille. The death-rates from fever were also high in Nuddea 35·04, Murshedabad 33·96, Jessore 33·84, Rajshahye 31·68, Julpaiguri 30·12, Dinajpore 29·40, Monghyr 28·32, Gya 27·96, Rungpore 25·56, Shahabad 25·32, and Purneah 25·20. Darjeeling returned the highest death rate from dysentery and diarrhœa 7·20 per mille of population, followed by Balasore 3·96.

Injury caused 3,654 deaths (ratio ·60 per mille) against 4,204 (ratio ·72) in the month before, and the mortality from all other causes not specified amounted to 20,718 (ratio 3·72 per mille), against 19,749 (ratio 3·48) in the preceding month. Poori returned the highest death-rate from the unspecified diseases coming under the head " All other causes," viz. 11·28 per 1,000 per annum, next Sarun 9·96.

With regard to mortality according to age, infants under one year of age, as usual, perished in the largest numbers, viz. at the rate of 202·56 per 1,000 of population per annum; next came old persons (60 years and upwards) with a death-rate of 64·68 per mille. The lowest death-rate occurred among persons between 10 and 15 years of age, viz. 12·96 per 1,000 per annum.

Detailed information regarding the mortuary statistics of the forty-five districts of Bengal during the month under review will be found in the statement appended.

AUSTRALIA—MONTALIVET ISLANDS.

Existence of certain reefs lying near the island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 564 of 1891) that information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H.M. Surveying vessel Penguin, dated 17th September 1891, of the existence of the undermentioned reefs lying near Montalivet islands, the result of recent examination of the locality:—

1. Ingram reef originally reported by Mr. H. Lee, commanding the Adelaide S.S. Company's vessel Rob Roy, is one mile in length in a north-west and south-east direction, and three cables broad, with depths of 28 to 30 fathoms around. The shallowest part, a coral patch of small extent, is awash at low water, and lies with the northern Montalivet island bearing S. by W., distant 6½ miles, or in approximately on Admiralty charts lat. 14° 6′ 55″ S., long. 125° 20′ 45″ E. The sea does not usually break on this reef except near low water. The Penguin passed twice within a mile of it, before finding it, and though the weather was favourable, no indication of shoal water was seen.

2. Albert reef lying westward of the West Montalivet island, appears to be detached from that island, but vessels should not attempt to pass between. The north-west part which dries at low water is situated in approximately lat. 14° 11′ S., long. 125° 6′ E.

3. Rob Roy reefs extend about 6 miles in a north and south direction, with a breadth of about 3 miles. The western breakers lie in approximately lat. 14° 25′ S., long. 124° 50 E.; the northern breaker is situated in approximately lat 14° 22′ S., long. 124° 52′ E, About half a mile south-east of the northern breaker there is a sand cay, which is awah at half tide.

CAUTION.—As in the neighbourhood of the dangers near Montalivet islands the tides are strong, the banks and reefs steep-to, and the water unusually turbid, great care is necessary when navigating in the locality.

The depths given are at low water spring tides.

BENGAL FAMINE CODE.

Revised Edition of January 1892.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

PROCEDURE OF GOVERNMENT AND DUTIES OF CIVIL OFFICERS.

Duties of Local Government.

1. The following rules will be observed by the Local Government in reporting to the Government of India the condition of tracts suffering from failure of crops:—

I. The first indications of failure of harvest or scarcity should be communicated in the weekly telegraphic reports on the state of the season and the prospects of the crops, which are published in each Government of India Gazette.

II. When the indications are sufficiently serious to cause apprehension that, from continued want of rain or other cause, relief measures may have to be undertaken, the weekly telegrams should be supplemented by monthly written reports.

III. These reports should give as distinct information as possible regarding the areas affected (or likely to be affected), and should be accompanied by a sketch map on which such areas should be indicated by colours. A revised sketch map should be submitted whenever the area of scarcity expands or contracts.

IV. So soon as the information is available, there should be entered in one or more of the monthly reports—

(a) an account of the economic condition of the tract, the crops affected, and the extent to which they have suffered, the contingencies on which the probable duration of distress depends, and the position of the affected area as to local trade, food supply, and communications.

(b) a rough estimate of the number of the population of the affected tracts for whom it is anticipated that relief may have to be provided in poorhouses or on the relief works, large or small, which it is proposed to start for their employment.

(c) a list of the larger works which it is proposed to open for the relief of each affected tract or district. If any such relief work is one which would ordinarily require Imperial sanction, a separate report should be submitted for communication to the Public Works Department.

(d) the rise or fall of prices should be specially noticed in every monthly report.

V. When any poor-houses or relief works have been opened, or any considerable expenditure has been or seems likely to be incurred, the monthly report should give an abstract of the information received from District Officers with a statement of the amount spent and granted up to date, and an estimate of the available funds from which it is proposed to meet future expenditure. If there is any reason to believe that the Provincial funds will prove insufficient to meet the exigencies of famine, the extent to which Imperial aid is likely to be demanded should be estimated.

VI. The extent to which suspension of land revenue may be necessary should be stated whenever the adoption of such a measure is contemplated.

VII. In the case of serious famine being apprehended in a Presidency or Province, an estimate of the number of officers of different grades and departments likely to be indented for from other Provinces should be given.

VIII. When in any affected tract cause for anxiety is removed, a request that the tract may be removed from the list of affected areas should be included in the monthly report.

Duties of the Commissioner.

2. The Commissioner of a Division is bound to keep himself at all times informed of the agricultural condition of every part of his division, and to enforce the observance of all rules laid down by Government for the collection of agricultural statistics and information, or for the relief of famine.

To furnish statement of areas liable to famine, and number of people who may require work.

3. As soon as possible after the publication of these rules, and thereafter whenever he is of opinion that a statement previously submitted requires amendment, he shall forward to the Local Government, through the Director of Agriculture, a statement of the areas within his division which are most liable to famine, and a rough forecast of the maximum number of persons within those areas likely to require employment in a year of extreme drought. He shall also be responsible for the preparation and submission to Government of the two lists of relief works (Civil Agency and Professional Agency) which are required under sections 26 and 57 of this Code.

To report impending famine.

4. When the Commissioner of a Division has reason to believe that scarcity prevails, or a famine is imminent, in any part of his division, he shall report the fact to the Local Government, stating, as far as possible—

(a) the grounds of his belief;
(b) the area and population likely to be affected;
(c) the character of communications in the affected area;
(d) the condition of the grain stocks;
(e) sources from which supplies of food may be obtained;
(f) proposed measures of relief;
(g) an estimate of the expenditure likely to be incurred, and the local sources from which it can be met;
(h) any other matters necessary for the due information of Government.

Commissioner to propose relief works.

5. When famine is impending or exists, the Commissioner of the Division shall be responsible (1) for proposing, in consultation with the Superintending or Chief Engineer, the action to be taken by the Public Works Department, (2) for organising private agency, and (3) for prescribing the action to be taken by District or Local Boards in respect of works to be carried on under their agency and with their funds; provided that no relief circle shall be formed, and no special relief work or poor house or system of gratuitous relief shall be commenced, the cost of which will fall on Provincial Funds, without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

No special relief measures to be undertaken without sanction of Local Government.

Commissioner to exercise administrative control in all measures of famine relief.

6. The Commissioner shall exercise administrative control over all measures undertaken by the District Officer, or by District or Local Boards, for the relief of famine. He should also be supplied with, and may call for, periodical information with regard to relief measures carried out under the agency of the Public Works Department.

Other duties.

7. The Commissioner should from the outset direct his attention to (a) the due strengthening of the normal staff of each district, (b) fixing, where necessary, suitable administrative areas in view to the proper administration of famine relief, and (c) advising the Superintending Engineer as to the best distribution and employment of the Public Works agency in his Division.

Duties of District and Sub-divisional Officers.

8. The Collector or Deputy Commissioner and the Sub-divisional Officer shall, mutatis mutandis, be responsible for the performance, within his district or sub-division, of all the duties which are laid down for the Commissioner within his Division.

Reports to be submitted by District Officer.

9. When famine is impending or exists, the District Officer shall submit to the Local Government, through the Commissioner of the Division, a half-monthly report for the periods 1st—15th and 16th to end of the month, giving all the necessary information as to the state and prospects of the affected tracts: some of the following particulars are required only in the event of relief works or poor houses being opened, or gratuitous relief being afforded :—

(2) General state of the affected tracts during the fortnight under report, crop prospects, prices, food-stocks, importation or exportation of food-grains, rainfall, public health, emigration or immigration of famished people, condition of cattle.

together with the daily or average numbers of persons employed on these works, distinguishing (i) men, (ii) women, (iii) children, and showing separately the numbers paid by daily wages and those paid for task work: the rates of daily wages and of task work to be also reported. If any relief works have been opened under private agency, such information as is possessed regarding them should be given.

(4) Number of poor-houses open, and daily or average numbers at each in receipt of gratuitous relief, distinguishing (i) men, (ii) women, (iii) children.

The scale of food distributed should also be stated.

If any private poor-houses have been opened, the numbers there relieved should be reported, if known.

(5) Organization for employment of artizans, women, &c., at their homes in weaving, cotton-spinning, husking corn, &c. Number of persons so employed, distinguishing between (a) men, (b) women, (c) children.

(6) Organization for the distribution of grain doles or money doles, number of recipients and amount of money and value of grain distributed.

(7) Number of persons to whom loans under the Land Improvement Act, or under the Agriculturists Loans Act have been made, the system and security on which such advances are given, and the average amount usually lent to each and the total amount lent under each head.

(8) Financial statement for the fortnight under the following heads:—

A.—Receipts, distinguishing between grants from District Boards, grants from the Provincial Government, and private subscriptions, and showing, in the case of Government grants, the date of each grant being sanctioned, and the purpose for which it was made.

C.—Balances of funds in hand under each head.

CHAPTER II.

CIRCLE ORGANIZATION AND DUTIES OF THE CIRCLE OFFICER.

Division of districts into relief circles in times of scarcity or famine.

10. In times of severe scarcity or famine each district affected shall be divided into relief circles, the boundaries of one or more of which shall be conterminous, as far as possible, with territorial divisions made for purposes of administration (such as sub-divisions or thanas).

Circle Inspectors to be appointed. Their duties.

11. For each circle there shall be an Inspector of relief operations whose duty it shall be—

A.—To decide what persons residing in the local area should be placed in receipt of gratuitous relief, and to prepare a correct register of such persons.

B.—To organise a system of private charity for the relief of persons whose names are entered in the register of gratuitous relief;

C.—When the distress cannot be relieved by private charity, to make an application for funds to the district authority, and to carry out such instructions as he may receive for arranging for the supply of money or grain required to give the necessary relief;

D.—To keep strict and accurate accounts which shall be open to the examination of the Sub-divisional or District Officer whenever he may wish to inspect them, of all moneys expended and grain distributed in gratuitous relief, and to submit half-monthly reports of the expenditure incurred;

E.—To ascertain and report what works can be carried out in the circle, what kind of labour they will require, and for how many labourers, and for what period they will probably afford employment, with a rough estimate of the cost; and if the civil authorities decide on opening any such work, in the local area, to aid in every way in the execution of such work and the supervision of labourers employed thereon;

F.—To supervise the management of any children's kitchen or poor-house established in the local area;

G.—To encourage by all the means in his power the employment of labour on agricultural operations, and to invite applications for advances to make wells, tanks, and other improvement;

H.—To make known the places at which relief works are opened, the nature of each work, wages offered, and the classes of persons to whom such work is suitable;

I.—To visit as frequently as possible each village in his circle;

J.—To test, as far as possible, by personal inspection, and to correct the register of gratuitous relief;

K.—To report the condition of cattle in the circle, and suggest any measure that may be suitable for providing them with food;

L.—To report the occurrence of any unusual sickness in the circle;

M.—To ascertain that relief has been properly and effectually distributed in the manner laid down; and generally to make any suggestions as to relief measures which he thinks requisite, and to carry out such instructions as he may receive from the Sub-divisional or District Officers.

Services of village headmen, village accountants, and other local agency to be used.

12. In preparing the list of gratuitous relief and generally in all relief operations, the Circle Inspector should utilize, as far as possible, the services of village headmen, village accountants, clerks, chowkidari panchayats, Ward Committees in Municipalities, and other local agency.

Circle Inspector to submit reports.

13. The Circle Inspector shall submit half-monthly reports in which he shall include, besides the matters indicated above, the general result of his observations, remarks on the condition of the people, and their willingness or otherwise to work, the prices of food, the supply of food, the condition of growing crops, the state of communications, and any other matters worthy of notice, on which he is required by the District Officer to report.

To be supplied with money.

14. He shall be supplied with money sufficient to meet the expenditure of the current half-month and of one week in advance, and he shall indent from time to time on the local treasury accordingly.

Appointment of contractors for grain.

15. In times of famine or scarcity one or more contractors for the supply of grain required for poor-houses or grain doles may be appointed for each circle. They should be chosen from among the grain-dealers of the locality. Each contractor should be furnished with a list of the probable daily demand for the supply of which he is responsible.

Indents for grain and payments for same.

16. When it is necessary to require a contractor to supply grain to his circle, the Circle Inspector shall indent on him in the prescribed form, stating the amount and kind of grain required for a week's supply, the place and date of delivery, and any other matters that may be necessary for his information.

The Circle Inspector shall at the same time give him an order on the district treasury for an advance to cover the cost of the supply indented for.

Payments to contractors.

17. The contractor shall be paid weekly, or more often if he desires it, on presentation of vouchers for expenditure duly signed by the Circle Inspector.

Relief of starving wanderers.

18. The Circle Inspector in any area to which a starving wanderer comes shall give such wanderer such food as may be necessary, and shall, if or when he is fit to move, send him to the poor-house or relief work which is nearest to such village. Sums expended by the Circle Inspector under this rule shall be treated as expenditure on gratuitous relief under section 21. This rule shall apply to any village headman or other local agent who may be placed in charge of relief operations in subordination to a Circle Inspector.

If it is found that starving travellers or beggars are lying about the bazar or streets of the town where the poor-house is situated, the Circle Inspector shall send a patrol out daily to gather them into the poor-house.

Rest-houses for emigrants.

19. On the roads along which emigrants are known to travel in large numbers, it may be necessary to keep up places at which they can be fed. At these places the conditions of residence and work will not be insisted on. Two meals will be cooked a day, morning and evening; those who arrive in the evening will receive a meal and shelter in a shed for the night, and will be sent on next day after receiving a second meal in the morning. The Superintendent is responsible for seeing that they eat the meal in his presence and do not carry it away, and that this indulgence is granted only to bonâ fide travellers who are in want. The circle relief officer will pay special attention to these rest-houses; will endeavour to dissuade feeble and emaciated persons from emigrating, and offer them employment on a relief work; and if the number becomes at all considerable, he will report the facts to the Collector of the district. He will also be careful to visit these rest-houses frequently, and at feeding times, in order to test the Superintendent's returns as to expenditure and the number of emigrants fed. The Superintendent will add to his daily abstract register a note showing the number of people going to and returning from the place which is the goal of emigration.

CHAPTER III.

GRATUITOUS RELIEF.

Classes of persons entitled to gratuitous relief.

20. The following classes of persons are, as a rule, entitled in time of famine to receive gratuitous relief, provided that they have no relatives able, and, by the custom of the country, bound, to support them:—

(a) idiots and lunatics,
(b) cripples,
(c) blind persons,
(d) all who from age or physical weakness are incapable of earning their living,
(e) all persons whose attendance on the sick, or on infant children in their own homes, is absolutely necessary.

Relief in money or in grain.

21. Relief may be given gratuitously to persons included in the register maintained under section 11A, either in money or in grain.

When no register is ready, the distribution of gratuitous relief is to be governed by special orders of the Circle Inspector.

Grain doles to be preferred to money.

A.—Grain doles are more advisable than money, and money doles should only be given under most exceptional circumstances to persons registered under section 11A.

Proviso 1.—Money is not to be given when food is not easily obtainable in the local market.

Proviso 2.—Money may be given (i) when the recipients of gratuitous relief are scattered, and cannot be brought together without an amount of hardship not called for by the gravity of the situation, and grain doles cannot be provided easily, (ii) when gratuitous relief in no other form will be accepted.

Proviso 3.—If money is given, the amount shall be sufficient to procure the minimum ration prescribed in Chapter XIV.

Relief to respectable women.

B.—Gratuitous relief shall ordinarily be given at the home of the recipient. Respectable women who are debarred by national customs from appearing in public shall always be relieved at their own homes.

Persons receiving gratuitous relief are to do some work.

22. When grain doles are given, the persons whose names are entered on the Register of Gratuitous Relief shall receive from the Circle Inspector tickets authorising them to receive weekly a grant of 7lb. of common flour for each adult and 3½lb. for each child (or a corresponding quantity of unground grain) from some grain merchant in the town. In return for this, they should be expected to do some work, and spinning cotton is a work most suitable for women to do at their homes, and one which is not repugnant to the feelings of any female. A certain quantity of cotton should therefore be given with the ticket to each woman on the list, and she should be expected to return it spun into thread by hand before she receives the second weekly allowance. It is genefrally reckoned that a woman who is not particularly skilful can spin about 1 seer of cotton in a week. Each woman should have a basket in which the cotton can be sent and returned, and she should be allowed to send it and to draw her ration of flour through any male relation or child who is able to go abroad for the purpose. But, as a rule, women who possess able-bodied male relations (not in receipt of relief) should not be admitted to this relief list, and care must be taken lest such relations should try to throw on to the State the burden of supporting the relations who are entitled to look to them for help.

Removal of name from relief register.

23. If a person whose name is entered on the register maintained under section 11A becomes from any cause disentitled to receive gratuitous relief, his name shall be removed from such register by the Circle Inspector.

CHAPTER IV.

FAMINE RELIEF WORKS.

Two kinds of famine relief works.

24. Famine relief works are of two kinds—

(I) Civil Agency works which employ small numbers of unskilled labourers and do not require professional supervision ; and

(II, Professional Agency works which employ large bodies of labourers, some of whom will generaly be skilled labourers, and require professional supervision.

I.—Civil Agency Works.

Definition.

25. Civil agency works may be managed by a civil or professional officer, and are under the control of the District Officer or Chairman of the District Board. They are distinguished from relief works under professional agency by the following characteristics :—

(a).—They should be not so large as to require professional ability for their laying out, or for the due organization of the labour. As a rule each project should provide for the employment of not more than 300 labourers for three months.

(b).—They should be suitable for the employment of unskilled labourers who are only accustomed to dig or carry earth.

(c).—They should be sufficiently numerous to supply labour tolerably near to the homes of those who require it. For instance, there should be approximately one work for each 16 square miles of the affected tract.

(d).—The wages given shall be governed by the principles laid down in Chapter XIV of this Code.

Relief works carried out by the District Board under the District Engineer and his staff, if they satisfy the above conditions, may be classed under this head.

Programme of relief works to be prepared for districts liable to famine.

26. For each district containing areas reported under section 3 to be liable to famine, the District Officer shall, as soon as possible after the publication of these rules, prepare, thana by thana, a programme of such civil agency works as it is intended to carry out in the event of famine or scarcity, together with a rough forecast of the number of labourers who can be employed on each of them, and shall submit to Government, through the Commissioner of the Division and the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, a revised programme, complete up to date, in April each year. They should, as far as circumstances admit, consist (a) of agricultural works calculated to increase the outturn of the proximate harvest or harvests, e.g., the construction of wells, the digging and clearing of village tanks, the construction of irrigation reservoirs or channels; (b) of roads which have to be constructed, raised or repaired. It is highly important, especially at the beginning of a famine, that the tendency to migrate or to wander aimlessly should be checked: and with this object the programme of relief works should be so arranged that work may be available for any one who requires it within such a distance from his home that he may be able to go to it every morning and return home every evening after completing his task.

An officer to be placed in charge of the work.

27. An official shall be placed in charge of every separate civil agency work either by the District Officer or Chairman of the District Board or by an officer to whom he may have delegated the power.

Responsibilities of officer in charge.

28. The officer in charge of a work shall be responsible for the following matters:—

(1) The admission of applicants.
(2) The classification and treatment of labourers.
(3) The provision of tools and shelter.
(4) The adjustment of rates.
(5) The payment of wages.
(6) The supply of food.
(7) Market arrangements.
(8) The hearing and investigation of complaints.
(9) Hospital inspection.
(10) The care of children and infirm persons unfit for work.
(11) The submission of special reports.

Admission of applicants.

29. At every work a place shall be fixed for the admission of applicants. Such place shall be marked by a flag and shall be visited twice a day, at morning and midday, by the officer in charge, or one of his subordinates, who shall classify the applicants and draft them, if fit for labour, on the relief work.

Allowance before commencing work.

30. All persons, being bonâ fide applicants for labour, or relatives depending on such applicants, who arrive at the relief work in the morning shall, in addition to the full working wage which will be paid in the evening, receive half the minimum wage on admission, and shall be allowed, if they desire, to take a meal before commencing work. Those who arrive in the evening shall, under the same conditions, receive on admission the full minimum wage.

Classification of labourers.

31. All Civil Agency works are open—

(a) to able-bodied persons accustomed to labour;
(b) to able-bodied persons not so accustomed;
(c) to persons not able-bodied, but fit for light employment of the kind required at the work.

32. All applicants for admission to Civil Agency works shall be received, but those who come under class (a) shall be drafted from time to time to Professional Agency works, when any such have been opened and designated for the purpose of receiving such drafts.

Persons to be retained on Civil Agency works.

33. In selecting the labourers who are to be drafted to Professional Agency works, regard shall be had to the distance of such works from the labourer's home, and to the number of women, children, and infirm persons dependent on, or belonging to, the family of such labourer.

Drafting of labourers to Professional Agency works.

34. The District Officer shall, from time to time, instruct the officer in charge of a Civil Agency work as to the Professional Agency works to which able-bodied labourers may be drafted, and regarding the maximum number which may be so drafted.

Information about Professional Agency works.

35. The system of payments-by-results or piece-work may be introduced where it is suitable. Persons unaccustomed to labour, or weakly persons, shall, as far as possible, be separated from able-bodied labourers accustomed to labour and provided with suitable work, and remunerated in accordance with the rates prescribed in section 152.

Payment-by-results to be introduced.

36. Labourers should be permitted and encouraged to form their own gangs under a headman or paymaster appointed by themselves. When they do not do so, the officer in charge should form them into gangs, allowing the members of a family, or of the same vicinity, to work together as far as possible.

Gangs of labourers.

37. In drafting persons to other works, the officer in charge shall observe the following rules:—

Transfer of labourers.

(1) The drafts shall ordinarily consist of not less than twenty persons.

(2) A numerical roll of men, women, and children shall be sent with all drafts with the reason for sending them.

(3) The draft shall be placed in charge of a trustworthy official, to whom shall be given money sufficient to support the members of the draft until they reach the work. If necessary, a police guard may be sent with the draft.

(4) On reaching the work, such official shall make over the gang, with the roll, to the officer in charge, who shall at once compare the roll with the draft and satisfy himself by inspection and enquiry that the draft has been properly fed en route.

(5) If the officer in charge finds everything in order, he shall sign the numerical roll, certify the expenditure, and return it to the official in charge of the gang.

(6) If the draft received does not correspond with the roll, he shall note the difference, and cause the official aforesaid to explain it, and then transmit the roll and the official's explanation to the officer who despatched the draft.

(7) If complaints of ill-treatment or insufficient feeding are made by any persons in the draft, he shall enquire into the complaints, and shall note his finding on the roll, and may refuse to certify the whole or any portion of the expenditure.

If necessary, precautions must be taken against desertion on the road.

Tools and shelter for labourers.

38. The labourers' camp or camps shall be selected with as careful regard as possible to sanitary conditions, with reference to which the sanitary and medical officials should, whenever an opportunity occurs, be consulted.

Huts.

39. If it is considered necessary to make huts for the labourers, hutting materials should be provided in sufficient quantity. The District Officer shall satisfy himself that shelter is provided where it is necessary. Proper arrangements must be invariably made for latrines.

Residence in camp

40. Residence in camp is compulsory for all labourers on Civil Agency works whose home is not within a resonable distance

Tools.

41. The District Officer, before opening a work, shall see that proper tools are provided.

Adjustment of rates.

42. The officer in charge shall watch the variations in the price of food, and shall adjust the rates of wages in accordance with the rules laid down in Chapter XIV whenever the variation is not less than 10 per cent.

Payments of wages.

43. Labourers in classes (a) and (b) (section 31) should, as a rule, be paid at first daily, afterwards twice or thrice a week, for which purpose they may be divided into two or more sets, who shall be paid on different days. In no case shall payment be made less often than once in seven days.

Payment when to be made daily.

44. Labourers in class (c) (section 31) shall be paid daily.

Mode of payment.

45. The officer in charge shall be responsible that every labourer receives the wage to which he is entitled. Payment may be made for piece-work to the head of each gang, but in all other cases must be made individually.

To be made in cash.

46. All wages must be paid in cash unless food cannot be procured in the local market, in which case uncooked rations on the scale prescribed in Chapter XIV may be given in lieu of wages.

Day for which to be paid.

47. The minimum wage prescribed in section 148 shall be paid to labourers or boná fide applicants for employment on the work—

(a) for all days occupied in classification, medical inspection, or the like;

(b) for any days on which work is stopped by order on account of weather or other causes.

Fines.

48. Fines may be imposed for short work, provided that the daily payment does not fall below the minimum wage. In the case of contumacious refusal to perform all work, payment may be made in proportion to the work done. Any labourer persisting in such conduct may be sent to the poor-house.

Supply of food.

49. When an officer receives orders to undertake any relief work, he should make an immediate estimate of the amount of food which will be required for the number of labourers to be employed, and should notify the same to the district officer. He shall from time to time, as circumstances may require, vary such estimate, and shall report weekly or oftener, if necessary, to the district officer the condition of the supplies sent and the rates at which they are sold.

Market arrangements.

50. When it is necessary to have a market for the supply of food at a relief work, the officer in charge shall see—

(a) that the shop-keepers are provided with suitable and healthy accommodation;
(b that the weights and measures used are fair;
(c) that the articles supplied are fit for human food;
(d) that the current prices are written up and notified daily in the market.

If it shall appear to him that the current prices are excessive, he shall report the matter to the district officer.

Hearing of complaints.

51. The officer in charge shall give daily opportunity to labourers and others employed or supported at the work to make complaints or bring forward grievances, and shall make due enquiry into every case which appears to require investigation.

Hospital accommodation.

52. Hospital accommodation shall be provided at every relief work for the sick. If there is no medical officer on the work, his duties shall be performed, as far as may be, by the officer in charge, who shall send all cases of serious illness to the nearest place at which medical treatment is obtainable. The hospital shall be inspected daily.

Care of children and infirm.

53. Labourers' children unfit to work shall be fed in kitchens and put in charge of nurses while their parents are engaged in work. Rules regarding children's kitchens will be found in Chapter VI. Infirm persons unfit to work, who apply for relief, shall receive the minimum wage prescribed in section 148, and if dependent on labourers employed on the work, shall be allowed to remain on such work so long as such labourers are so employed: if not so dependent, they may be drafted to a poor-house or entered in the register of gratuitous relief and relieved at their homes under the rules contained in Chapter III.

Submission of progress return for relief work.

54. The officer in charge of a relief work shall make a progress return in Form 1 appended to this Code for each week ending on Saturday night.

In the controlling office (e.g., the Collector's or Subdivisional Office) this return shall be recast in Form 2.

Report to accompany progress return.

55. He shall also state—

(a) the physical condition of the labourers, of those seeking relief, and of the neighbouring population;
(b) the numbers who have been rejected from the work, and the reasons for rejection;
(c) the causes of any refusal to work or failure to accomplish the full task, and the action taken;
(d) the sufficiency or insufficiency of the scale of wages of payment for piece-work;
(e) any other information which it is expedient to communicate to his superiors.

II.—Professional Agency Works.

Definition.

56. Professional Agency Works are those which from their nature require the supervision of a trained Engineer Officer, whether he be an Executive Engineer of the Public Works Department, or a District Engineer. The characteristics of this class of works are:—

(a) they should be of such a character as to require engineering skill in laying out or in organising;

(b) they should be on a larger scale than Civil Agency Works; and should employ only able-bodied labourers. They should be ordinarily sufficient to provide employment for a period of six months to the maximum number of persons who may need relief in a famine area, in accordance with the information furnished by the Commissioner under section 3. As a general rule there should not be more than one such work to a sub-division;

(c) they need not, like Civil Agency Works, be confined to the employment of unskilled labourers;

(d) the contract system should be prohibited, but the method of payment by the piece may be introduced with advantage, provided that it is optional with the labourers to choose between it and the daily wage, and that the rates for piecework should be so fixed as to give only a little more than the ordinary daily wage in return for the quantity of work likely to be performed.*

N. B.—1. Railway projects are not suitable as relief works unless the embankment itself would be useful as a feeder-road, even if no rails are laid upon it.

2. If a public work, sanctioned as such, is transferred to the list of Professional Agency Works, it is not necessary that the whole of the work should be utilized for relief purposes and brought under the rules of Chapter IV, Part II.

Programme of relief works.

57. It is the duty of the Commissioner of the Division, in communication with Superintending Engineers on the one hand, and District Officers on the other hand, to prepare, under the sanction of Government, a programme of famine relief works as described above for each sub-division of a district containing areas reported under section 3 to be liable to famine. The programme shall be revised, and a copy of the revised programme, complete up to date, shall be furnished to the Chief Engineer in charge of the Public Works Department of Government in April each year.

Order of undertaking works.

58. When any works in the programme of Professional Agency Works have been sanctioned and funds allotted for them in the current year, those works should be opened as relief works in the first case, and others in the list should be undertaken when the first are exhausted.

Redistribution of work.

59. When the Local Government decides that professional relief works are to be undertaken, the Commissioner shall, in communication with the Chief Engineer, determine in what order (subject to the preceding rule) each work is to be set in hand. He shall then arrange for the redistribution of works, funds, and establishments accordingly; and such redistribution may, in urgent cases, be carried into effect in anticipation of the Local Government's sanction.

Emergent Budget.

60. If the funds assigned in the Public Works Department Budget for the current year, or if the existing establishment, be insufficient, the Chief Engineer shall submit an emergent budget with as little delay as possible for the sanction of the Local Government.

61. The Superintending Engineer or Inspector of Works shall be responsible for issuing timely and ample instructions to the proper officials for the provision of tools, treasure chests, small coin, and other requisites for the conduct of the selected works.

Provision of tools, &c.

Report to District Officers.

62. The officer in charge of a work shall give timely notice to the District Officer—

(a) of the date on which such work will be ready for the admission of the labourers;

(b) of the date on which it will probably close;

(c) of any sickness or other occurrence which renders it advisable to stop admissions to such work; and shall keep such District Officer informed from time to time of the condition of the work, the number of labourers on it, and the number which can be admitted to it.

Transfer of labourers.

63. In drafting persons to other works, the Engineer in charge shall observe the rules laid down in section 37.

Progress return for relief work.

64. The officer in charge of a relief work shall forward to the District Officer a progress return in Form No. 1 for each week ending on Saturday night.

In the Controlling Office (e.g., the Collector's or Sub-divisional Office) this return shall be recast in Form 2.

Report to accompany return.

65. He shall also state—

(a) the physical condition of the labourers, of those seeking relief, and of the neighbouring population.

(b) the numbers who have been rejected from the work, and the reasons for rejection;

(c) the causes of any refusal to work, and the action taken;

(d) the sufficiency or insufficiency of the scale of wages or payment for piece-work;

(e) any other information which it is expedient to communicate to his superiors.

Channel for submitting it.

66. The Superintending Engineer or Inspector of Local Works may order a copy of such return to be sent directly to him by all officers in charge of works.

CHAPTER V.

THE POOR-HOUSE.

Definition.

67. A poor-house is an enclosure within which cooked food is distributed gratuitously to inmates on the condition of residence within the enclosure.

Persons to be admitted.

68. The persons for whom this provision is intended are mainly—

(1) persons who have no homes or have cut themselves adrift from their homes, and are unfit for employment on works;

(2) persons who, being fit for employment on works, refuse to labour;

(3) professional beggars who find the sources of private charity dry up in a famine;

(4) other applicants for relief, of whom it is doubted if they are really in want, and to whose case willingness to reside in a poor-house is applied as a test.

Inmates to be kept in compulsorily.

69. Inmates once received into a poor-house shall be kept there: if of the first class, until they are fit for work or to be sent to their homes; if of the second, until they consent to work; if of the third class, till private charity can again be relied on to feed them; if of the fourth class, till they have proved their necessity by submitting to the test.

70. The number of poor-houses to be established in any district shall be determined by the District Officer with the sanction of the Commissioner. In the earlier stages of famine, one poor-house will be sufficient for each sub-division of a district; if the famine is severe, there should be one for each relief circle.

Number.

71. The poor-house shall be managed by a Superintendent, assisted by such staff as is necessary to keep the accounts and registers and to enforce discipline. It shall be directly under the Sub-divisional or Circle Officer. He shall be assisted by a body of visitors who shall be appointed by the District Officer, and shall join with him in supervising the administration. These shall ordinarily be chosen from the members of the District or Local or Municipal Boards, or shall be Revenue or Police Officers of the locality, or some other officials of a similar position.

Supervision.

72. The site of the poor-house should be chosen with regard to the following circumstances:—

Site.

(1) it should be within easy reach of the head-quarters of the visitors;
(2) it should be situated on the outskirts of the head-quarters of the sub-division or relief circle;
(3) the situation should be healthy;
(4) the drainage should be good;
(5) an ample supply of water for drinking and bathing purposes should be available.

It should be surrounded by an enclosure such as not to be easy to surmount, but not so formidable as to make it resemble a jail, since the authorities, for the keeping the residents inside, should rely not so much on the wall as on the certainly that the patrol will catch and bring back wanderers and beggars. There should be only one entrance to the poor-house: a peon should always be on duty there to check ingress or egress. There should be to every poor-house a superintendent and a writer, with sufficient assistance to enforce discipline and keep the accounts and registers. The menial establishment should consist of cooks, water-carriers, sweepers, &c., the paupers themselves being utilized in this work as well as in grinding the flour for their food as far as possible.

73. To each poor-house shall be attached a hospital, which shall be placed as near the poor-house as is consistent with health. The hospital shall be in charge of a medical officer.

Hospital.

74. When it appears to the District Officer that a poor-house should be closed, he shall determine a date for the closing of such poor-house, and shall direct that no one shall be admitted after that date; and that all inmates who are fit for work shall be dismissed.

Closing of the poor-house.

He shall also arrange for the transmission to their homes, or the support by private charity, of such inmates as are unfit for work and incapable of supporting themselves.

75. In case the famine becomes very severe, and starving people resort to poor-houses in very large numbers, the organisation must be more elaborate. In this case a special set of rules is provided in an Appendix to this Code.

Rules for administration.

CHAPTER VI.

KITCHENS FOR CHILDREN.

Relief in children's kitchens.

76. Experience having shown that starving parents cannot, in times of severe famine, safely be entrusted with the means of relieving their children, it is essential that a daily supply of cooked food should be issued to them under proper supervision.

Method of effecting it.

77. For this purpose villages should be grouped into circles not more than 5 miles in diameter, so as to admit of the children coming or being brought daily to the central village in the morning, and returning to their homes in the evening. In the most central village of each circle should be erected a kitchen and feeding sheds; if necessary, a small shed may be erected in the vicinity of the kitchen to afford sleeping accommodation to homeless children.

Treatment of children abandoned by their parents or guardians.

78. Children abandoned by their parents or guardians should, if old enough, be sent to a suitable relief work, and, if too young to work, should be admitted to the nearest children's kitchen. A Register should be kept of all children admitted to the kitchen (see Form 3), and in it all the information procurable as to the parentage and villages of the children should be entered, in order to facilitate the tracing out of their parents or natural protectors, and the future restoration of the children to them.

Materials to be used in construction of kitchens, &c.

79. The outer and partition walls of kitchens should be built of mud or any suitable form of fencing which may be stiff enough to prevent egress and ingress. A ditch should be dug round the whole enclosure so as to prevent superficial drainage into the enclosures and to carry it off from the interior, for which purposes small open drains can be made leading into it from the enclosures; the floors of the eating sheds should be raised above the surrounding surface to ensure proper supervision.

Maximum number of children in one kitchen.

80. The number of children attached to one kitchen should not exceed 300.

Children's tickets.

81. Every child on first admission to a kitchen shall be furnished with a tin ticket, on which are to be stamped the number of the kitchen, the number borne by the child in the kitchen register, and the letter M with the number of its mess.

Loss of tickets.

82. These tickets must be worn suspended from the child's neck when it presents itself for admission at meal time. To check careless loss of tickets, a child should be punished for loss of its ticket by withholding one issue of condiment, soup, or sugar. Lost tickets must be replaced by the Circle Inspector, and in case of removal of a child from the kitchen register, its ticket should be returned into store and given by the Superintendent to his Circle Inspector, who shall retain it; a ticket should never be re-issued to any but the orginal holder. Example: if No. 5 has been removed, and at the time of admission there are 50 on the register, the next child admitted shall be numbered 51. The object of this rule is to ascertain the total number of the children who obtain relief in a kitchen.

Eating utensils.

83. Utensils sufficiently large to contain the ration prescribed for the mess to which a child is attached will be furnished to each child on its admission to a kitchen; they are not to be removed from the kitchen premises; and care must be taken that the utensils of one section do not get mixed with those for the use of another section. A stout basket should be provided for each mess in which its utensils should be kept when not required for use.

Classification of children into messes.

The following plan has been found to work well: divide the children into castes; allot to each caste a separate feeding space marked by a suitable flag—white, blue, red, or green, &c.

84. To facilitate the issue of the cooked rations, children of each section may be classified into messes according to their ages. All members of a mess will receive the same ration. There should be four messes—

M. 1. Consisting of children from 9 to 12 years of age.
M. 2. Consisting of children from 6 to 9 years of age.
M 3. Consisting of children from 3 to 6 years of age.
M. 4. Consisting of children under 3 years of age.

Note.—Children of the 4th mess are often unable to feed themselves; such children are usually in the charge of some bigger child; the issue of rations to such children should be deffered until the elder child has finished its meal; it will then receive the ration of the little child in its charge and feed it under the special observation of the mess-cook. In the very rare cases of such a child having only an audit relation to feed it, the same course can be pursued, with this difference that the admission as well as feeding of the child will be deferred till all the other children have left the enclosure, and it will be fed under the personal supervision of the gomastah.

Admission of children for meals.

85. There should be two meals, morning and afternoon. Half an hour before meal-time the Superintendent shall commence to call the Attendance Register, Form 4. As soon as a child's name is called, it should enter the enclosure and obtain from its mess-cook its eating utensils, and then sit down in its usual place in the eating shed of its mess. Children of the fourth class who are unable to take care of themselves should be admitted along with the child in charge.

Removal of cooked food prohibited.

86. The removal of cooked food should be strictly forbidden.

Permanent establishment.

87. The establishment shall be as follows for each kitchen containing 300 children:—

1 Superintendent.	2 Cooks.
2 Warders.	2 Scavengers.
3 Waterwomen.

Note.—The number of cooks beyond the fixed minimum shall be increased in the ratio of one for every fifty or fraction of fifty children—up to the maximum of six for a kitchen. The children in each section shall, as far as possible be equally divided amongst the cooks appointed to it, having regard to the retention of intergrity of messes. One cook must not prepare food for a portion of a mess in addition to the mess or messes which are specially allotted to him, otherwise the rations of different messes are likely to get mixed up, and responsibility is not limited.

Position and duties of Superintendent.

88. The Superintendent shall be under the immediate orders of the Inspector of the circle in which the kitchen is situated. He shall obtain daily. on indent from an agent appointed for the purpose, the supplies required for his kitchen; one copy of the indent shall be left with the agent to be given up on payment of the articles indicated on it. The Superintendent shall personally weigh and distribute the raw rations for each mess: these issues shall be made twice daily. After the morning issue he shall place the remaining raw supplies under lock in the store-room of the section for which they have been procured. After the issue of the raw rations he shall give out to each mess-cook the eating utensils in use by his mess or messes, and after each meal he shall inspect the utensils to ascertain that they have been cleansed, and after he has seen them put into their respective baskets, he shall lock them up in the store-room. Half an hour before meal-time he shall commence to call the roll or attendance register, and shall supervise the issue of the rations and remain till the kitchen is closed. He shall submit weekly to the village Circle Inspector an abstract of his kitchen register, and shall be held responsible for the discipline of his kitchen, the carrying out of regulations, and the condition of the children.

Duties of a warder.

89. Warders shall be appointed to each section of the kitchen; they shall maintain order among the children, and shall observe, as far as possible, the issue of the rations and at once report to the Superintendent if they consider a short ration is issued. At the close of each meal they shall carefully inspect each child as it goes out to see that neither cooked food nor utensils are removed; they shall also ascertain that the servants on leaving the kitchen do not take away any food or utensils belonging to the kitchen. One warder must always be on the premises of the kitchen to prevent unlawful egress or ingress, and they shall sleep in their respective sections every night.

Duties of cooks.

90. The cooks shall carry the supplies required for their respective sections; they should be present one hour and a half before each meal to receive the raw rations and eating utensils of their respective messes, and shall cook and distribute the food. After each meal they shall collect and cleanse the eating utensils of their messes and replace them in the store-room of their sections. As soon as this is done, they shall leave the kitchen premises till again required to be present.

Duty of water-carriers.

91. The water-carriers shall thoroughly sweep out their respective sections; the rubbish they collect shall be deposited in a fixed place for their removal by scavengers. They shall also cleanse their sections after each meal; they shall supply the filters for drinking and culinary purposes, and all water required in their respective sections during meal-times; they shall move among the children ready to supply water to any child asking for it.

Cooks and water-carriers how to be chosen.

92. The cooks and water-carriers must be chosen with reference to caste requirements.

Scavengers.

93. It will be found necessary to daily cleanse the ground round the kitchen, and also to have the latrine areas cleaned after each meal, and the ordure removed and buried or burnt.

Contingent charges.

94. Under the head of "Contingent charges" are included cost of firewood, cooking pots, small repairs to sheds, fences, &c.; the simplest method of supplying firewood and pots will probably be to allow the Superintendent a fixed sum for each 50 children. The Superintendent shall keep an account of expenditure under these heads.

General remarks—Inspection of kitchens.

95. Independently of official inspections, encouragement should be given to a few men of position and reputation and residents in the circles to visit these kitchens and to record their impressions in a book which should be kept by the Superintendent.

Payment of food contractors.

96. The agent at his option can either be paid locally in cash by the Circle Inspector, or at the Sudder or Sub-divisional treasury, on presentation of his copy of Indent, countersigned by the Circle Inspector.

CHAPTER VII.

OTHER MEASURES OF RELIEF.

Relief to respectable men.

97. So far as may be, consideration shall be shown to persons of respectable position and family who are reduced to starvation. Such persons shall not be forced to labour on the works, but shall, wherever possible, be employed as overseers of gangs, supervisors, accountants or clerks on the works. If no suitable work can be found for them, they may be admitted by order of the Circle Inspector to gratuitous relief. A list of all such persons so admitted shall be sent weekly to the district officer.

Relief to artizans.

98. Artizans who require relief shall be employed as far as possible in their own trades on the Professional or Civil Agency works, and in localities where the members of any particular trade or calling are numerous. Preference may be given to works which will provide employment for men of such trade or calling.

Relief to weavers.

99. In localities where weavers are numerous, the Circle Inspector shall arrange for the distribution of thread, and the payment for cloth woven, at the market price.

Price of their cloth to be raised.

100. If the market price is so low that a weaver cannot support himself, the price given may be raised, with the sanction of the Commissioner, to such an extent as may be necessary.

Money distributed to artisans should be repaid.

101. Money distributed to artisans or weavers is not to be regarded as gratuitous, since repayment should be required.

Orphans and deserted children, how to be disposed of temporarily.

102. A temporary orphanage may (if necessary) be established at the head-quarters of the district, to which shall be sent, on the closing of a poor-house or children's kitchen, any children who are left without relations, or whose relations are unknown, or, if known, cannot be compelled to support them. Such orphanages may be placed under the management of the District Board, who shall have the power to make over the children to the care of any respectable persons who wish to adopt them.

If several persons apply for leave to adopt the same child, preference shall ordinarily be given to the person, if any, who is of the religious persuasion to which such child belongs, or is believed to belong.

How to be disposed of eventually.

103. If after three months from the admission of a child to the temporary orphanage no respectable person has adopted it, such child may be sent, with the Commissioner's approval, to any orphanage or other public institution for the care of destitute children, which is willing to receive it:

Provided that in any case a child may be reclaimed by parents or near relations who have a legal right to its custody.

CHAPTER VIII.

Register of cattle.

104. The following measures for the protection of cattle shall be carried out in any part of the province to which they may be considered applicable by the Local Government.

The District Officer shall, when called on by the Local Government to do so, prepare and maintain a Register showing for his district—

(a) the approximate number of cattle depending on pasture;

(b) the pasture-grounds ordinarily in use;

(c) the reserve pasture-grounds belonging to Government to which in times of drought the cattle can be most conveniently driven.

105. A copy of this Register shall, when called for, be submitted to the Local Government, who shall decide annually, in concert, if necessary, with the Forest Department, to what reserves the cattle from each district may be driven in case of need.

To be taken to fodder reserve.

106. On receiving the orders of Government, the District Officer shall notify from time to time what reserves are, in case of drought, to be opened.

Mode of sending cattle to reserves.

107. When it appears to the District Officer that the pasture of his district or any portion of his district is about to fail, he shall report the matter through the Commissioner to the Local Government, who may open the reserve set apart for such district.

District officer shall report scarcity of fodder.

108. On receipt of the order opening the reserves, the District Officer shall inform the people of the affected tract, and shall urge them to send the cattle of their villages to the reserve opened to them.

People to be encouraged to send cattle to the reserves.

109. The District Officer shall at the same time arrange, if necessary, and as far as may be, for the sale of fodder along such routes as are most suitable for reaching the reserves. If no fodder is procurable, and the cattle cannot otherwise be preserved, he may order the trees (if any) fit for fodder, which are on or near the routes, and which belong to Government, to be utilized to the utmost.

Utilization of trees.

110. If water is deficient along such routes, the District Officer in concert with Municipal Committees, and the District or Local Boards, shall make such arrangements to supply the want as may be practicable.

Supply of water.

111. The management of the pasture reserves and the control of the cattle admitted to them shall be in the hands of the Forest Officers or other officials who ordinarily have charge of such reserves. The fees ordinarily charged for pasturage may be reduced or remitted as the Local Government may direct.

Pasture reserves to be under the Forest Officers.

112. In districts irrigated by canals, the Commissioner, in consultation with the Canal Officers, shall take such measures for the growth of fodder, and for increasing the growth of grass, by flooding the ordinary pasture-grounds or otherwise as to him may seem advisable.

Protection of fodder in canal-irrigated districts.

CHAPTER IX.

Utilization of Forests.

Withdrawal of restrictions.

ble as human food, and not available to the neighbouring population, it shall be the duty of the Commissioner to arrange for the temporary withdrawal of all restrictions tending to exclude persons in distress from the full benefit of the natural products of the forest or waste land. If the forest is under the control of the Conservator of Forests, the Commissioner shall communicate with him before making such arrangements.

Reference to Government in certain cases.

114. If such forest is in part or in whole reserved or protected forest, and subject to rules and regulations under the Forest Act which do not admit of the edible forest produce being utilized by the neighbouring population free of charge, and to the extent that the Commissioner may consider necessary, he shall apply by telegraph to the Local Government for permission to suspend, for the time being the operation of any such rule or regulation in so far as it may conflict with the objects in view:

Provided that permission shall not be given in either of the above cases to kill any animal of which the destruction is prohibited by law throughout the year:

Provided also that no such concession shall be held to permit any damage by fire or by a negligent or wasteful process of obtaining the produce sought after.

Proclamation of the concession

115. When the Commissioner shall have obtained permission to open any such Government reserved or protected forest, not aleady available to the neighbouring population in this respect for the unrestricted collection and removal of edible forest, produce, he shall proclaim the nature of the concession in all the surrounding country, specifying the areas to which the concession applies and the kinds of produce which the people may temporarily collect and remove for their personal use He shall similarly, when there is no longer occasion, in his opinion, to continue the concession, proclaim with the same publicity its discontinuance from a date to be specified in the proclamation.

Duties of Divisional Forest Officer.

116. The Divisional Forest Officer shall obey any order communicated to him by the Commissioner of the Division, through the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district, in relation to the use and management of the Government forests under his charge in times of scarcity or famine; and shall see that there is no unnecessary and vexatious interference on the part of his subordinate staff.

Explanation of rise of prices above 20 per cent.

119. Where the prices of rice and other principal food-grains, referred to in clause (7) of section 117, rise above 20 per cent. over the normal rates, an explanation should be submitted by the District Officer to the Commissioner of the Division.

120. Wherever patwaris or village accountants are appointed in temporarily-settled districts, they shall in times of scarcity be constituted Local Officers under this Code, and shall be called upon by the Collector to submit weekly reports of the nature prescribed in section 118.

Shall visit lanes and bye-ways.

121. The District Superintendent shall, in times of severe famine, organise a system of patrol to visit the lanes and bye-ways of towns and villages, rest-houses or serais, as well as the main roads, in order to conduct starving wanderers to the nearest relief work or poor-house, or if they are unable to go so far, to the headman of the nearest village, for the purpose of receiving relief.

Shall take precautions to protect grain.

122. He shall take extra precautions for the protection of markets and all places where grain is stored, and shall place special patrols on lines of communications along which grain is carried.

Shall require extra force if required.

Shall take advance to supply food in urgent cases.

124. 125. It shall be the duty of the Police to see that persons found dead by the roadside are properly buried or burnt by the village authorities.

CHAPTER XI.

DUTIES OF DISTRICT BOARDS.

126. In the Resolution of this Government, Revenue Department, dated 24th January 1890, the following principles were laid down as to the duties of District Boards in times of scarcity and famine:—

The first charge for Relief works to fall on District Boards.

District Boards must be regarded as forming an integral part of the administration, and it becomes their duty, as it is that of other departments of Government in time of serious scarcity, to subordinate the ordinary objects and methods of their expenditure to the special consideration of saving life. District Boards are the primary agency available for coping with famine, and must be expected in such crises to direct their whole resources, subject only to the maintenance of absolutely necessary works in non-affected tracts, to affording relief. This primary obligation having been carried out, it remains for Government to supplement the resources of Boards, if necessary, so as to enable them not only to combat famine, but also to perform their ordinary functions connected with the up-keep of district communications. Before, then, an appeal is made by the Boards to Government for funds, all possible expenditure, beyond that absolutely necessary for bare maintenance and establishment charges, should be diverted from non-affected to affected areas, and on the opening of relief operations, the district budgets should be remodelled with this object.

Who shall be guided by this Code.

127. The relief operations carried on by District Boards, whether in the form of—

Gratuitous relief,
Poor-houses,
Kitchens for children, or Relief works, (whether Civil Agency or Professional Agency).

shall be regulated by the provisions, and their officers shall be subject to the rules, laid down by the Local Government in this Code.

CHAPTER XII.

DUTIES OF MEDICAL OFFICERS.

Chief Superintending Medical Officer shall require special return.

128. The Chief Superintending Medical Officer of the province shall, in times of scarcity, require Medical Officers in civil charge of districts to submit special monthly reports to himself and to the District Officers on the following matters:—

(1) increase of illness and disease believed to be due to want of food;
(2) number of cases of death due to want of food, or illness induced by want of food, which have been brought to his notice;

(3) number of in and out-patients received in the hospitals or dispensaries of the district, and in any special famine hospitals which may be under the control of his subordinates, with such details of the cases as may be required for the information of the Local Government;

(4) the distribution of the subordinate medical staff and any increase to it that may be required.

Shall send abstract to Local Government.

129. He shall submit a monthly abstract of these reports to the Local Government.

Shall regulate diet for famine patients.

130. He shall issue such special instructions as are necessary and advise the Local Government regarding any alterations he may consider necessary in the rules for the treatment of famine patients and in regard to their diet, and may in case of urgency issue direct any special instructions which he may consider necessary.

Shall supervise medical arrangements.

131. He shall, if necessary, personally inspect and supervise the medical arrangements for famine relief, and shall be responsible that such arrangements are duly made in all districts.

Shall report when staff is deficient.

132. Whenever an increase to the medical staff of any locality appears necessary, he shall report the matter to Government, suggesting the measures necessary, with suggestions as to the means by which it can be increased.

Shall submit a general report.

133. At the end of any period of severe scarcity or famine, he shall submit a general report on the operations of his department in connection with famine relief.

Duties of Medical Officers in Civil charge.

134. The Medical Officer in Civil charge of a district shall send copies of the monthly reports required under section 128 to the District Officer, and shall also be responsible for reporting to him all cases of death, starvation, or illness due to starvation, which may come to his knowledge.

Shall inform District Officer of any defective arrangements.

135. He shall bring to the immediate notice of the District Officer any cases in which he has reason to believe that sanitary arrangements connected with special famine institutions are not on a proper footing.

Shall inspect.

136. The Medical Officer in civil charge of a district shall, if required by the District Officer, inspect the labourers and visit the hospitals at relief works or poor-houses, and shall aid the civil authorities in making the necessary arrangements for sanitation and for the proper care of the sick.

Medical Officer attached to relief works.

137. A Medical Officer or subordinate competent for independent charge should, if possible, be attached to every poor-house and large relief work.

Shall have charge of hospital established under section 52.

138. The Medical Officer on a work shall have charge of the hospital established under section 52. He shall also constantly visit the relief work, inspecting the labourers and treating any cases which do not necessitate the patient's removal to hospital. He should also inspect the water-supply and the conservancy arrangements.

Procedure in case of dispute.

139. If any dispute arises between the Engineer or Civil Officer in charge of a relief work and the Medical Officer attached to the same regarding any matter connected with hospital management, sanitation or the health of the people on the works, the Engineer or Civil Officer may, if he thinks fit, refer the matter in dispute, through the District Officer, to the Chief Civil Medical Officer of the province. But, pending the reference, he shall be bound to act in accordance with the Medical Officer's opinion.

Medical Officer shall report insufficient allowance of food.

140. If the wage paid or the ration given on any relief work in any famine institution appears to the Medical Officer in charge of the district or of the work or institution to be insufficient for the support of the labourers or inmates, the Medical Officer may report the matter to the district officer, who may order the ration to be increased pending the order of the Commissioner, to whom the matter shall be reported.

CHAPTER XIII.

DUTIES OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Periodical inspection.

141. It shall be the duty of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture and his assistants to ascertain by periodical inspection that the system for the supply of information from police and local officers prescribed by section 117 and section 120 is being efficiently and properly worked in each district, and to report to the District Officer and any other authorities whom the Local Government may direct any defects in its working.

Compilation.

142. It shall be the duty of the Director to compile and collate periodically in an intelligent form the facts and statistics which are derived from the system established for the provision of the information of the character above described. For this purpose he should have full access under such rules as may be laid down by the Local Government to any statistical and agricultural returns and reports which are submitted by District Officers to the higher revenue authorities.

Agricultural information.

143. It shall be his duty to prepare from time to time after an examination both of Settlement reports and other similar sources of information which may be available, as well as of the information periodically collated in his own office, a statement of the agricultural circumstances of each tract of the Province and of the measures, if any, which are in his opinion required to improve the agricultural efficiency thereof.

Revision of Code.

144. The Director is the officer to whom the Government will primarily look for the revision and correction of this Code and for making suggestions from time to time as to the improvement of the system for Famine Warning and Famine Relief.

CHAPTER XIV.

NOTE—The flour should be that of the coarsest cereal or millet ordinarily consumed and commonly purchaseable in the bazar: where rice is made the standard of wage, if should be cleaned rice. The price should be that at which the flour or rice is sold at the bazar attached to or nearest to the relief work; if flour is not sold, the price should be based on that at which the grain is sold. In calculating the price of flour, it should be remembered that flour is always dearer than the grain of which it is composed.

Minimum wage.

148. The minimum wage under this Code is the a mount of money which, at the current rates authorized by the District Officer, is sufficient to purchase a minimum ration.

Definition of full wage.

149. The full wage under this Code is the amount of money which at the current prices is sufficient to purchase a full ration.

Payment for Professional Agency works.

150. Payment for labour on Professional Agency works may be made by the piece-work system ordinarily in force in the Public Works Department, provided that the rates are so fixed that the sum which a labourer can ordinarily be expected to earn by a fair day's labour shall in no case be less than the full wage prescribed in section 149, and shall exceed it only by about ten per cent.

Payment for Civil Agency works.

151. Payment for labour on Civil Agency works, where payment is made by results, shall be so arranged that the sum which able-bodied labourers can ordinarily be expected to earn shall be as nearly as possible equal to the full wage prescribed by section 149.

Payment for task work.

152. Payment for labour on Civil Agency works, where made according to task, shall be arranged at the discretion of the civil officer in charge:

Provided that in no case it be greater than 75 per cent. of the full wage, nor less than the minimum wage prescribed in this chapter.

ACCOUNTS.

Estimate of extra expenditure.

153. The Commissioner of a Division, when he has reason to believe that scarcity prevails or a famine is imminent in any part of his Division, shall submit to Government for sanction an estimate for the extra expenditure likely to be incurred with any details that he can furnish.*

* See section 4 (g.)

154. When orders have been received from Government on the estimate, and an allotment has been made, the Commissioner shall distribute the sum so allotted, at his discretion, among the districts of his Division on estimates which the District Officers are required to submit to him not later than the 15th of each month for the following month.

Distribution of allotment.

155. The Commissioner shall return the estimate after signature and alteration (if that is necessary to show the correct sum assigned locally to the District Officer, and forward at the same time a consolidated statement of the total amount assigned each month (or on each occasion) to each district to the Account Office, registering the same in his own office.

Communication of the distribution to the Account Office.

156. The Account Office shall advise each Treasury Officer what amount has been assigned to his district, and the Treasury Officer shall make payments within the amount so advised. Every payment, as soon as made, with its date, shall be entered in the treasury, under the initials of the Treasury Officer, in lump, on the reverse of the advise, which should be carefully filed, and the progressive total of the expenditure ascertained before fresh payments are made. The unexpended balance of a monthly assignment shall not lapse, but should be added to the next assignment, and may be drawn against by the authorized disbursing officer at any time before the close of the official year, or before the close of the relief operations in the district, whichever may be earlier.

Account Office to communicate the district allotments to the Treasury Officers.

157. In case a District Officer should find his assignment insufficient, he should make a supplementary application to the Commissioner, who may sanction the amount out of the balance of his divisional assignment, or, if that be exhausted, may sanction the amount in anticipation of the approval of Government, advising the several officers in the manner indicated above.

Supplementary allotment.

158. District Officers are authorized to sub-divide their district assignments amongst responsible disbursing officers (Circle Inspectors and others) who may be authorized to undertake the administration of expenditure and to draw bills upon the treasury direct. When such a distribution of the district assignment is made, the District Officer shall inform the Treasury Officer of the amount placed at credit of each disbursing officer, who shall draw money against the credit from the treasury, as required by him, on bills signed by himself. The Treasury Officer shall note the distribution on the advice received from the Account Office, and shall see that the amount thus assigned to each disbursing officer is not overdrawn, and that the total of all does not exceed the district assignment.

Sub-division of district allotment.

159. Permanent advances on a sufficient scale, which shall be fixed by Government when occassion arises, shall be allowed to the several disbursing officers, viz:—

Permanent advances.

The Commissioner, | The District Officer, Circle Inspector,

and any other special officers who may be appointed to administer relief or to conduct work requiring immediate payment. The permanent advance is to be employed in paying charges which, from the nature of the case, cannot be held over until a regular bill is cashed at the Treasury, and officers who are granted permanent advances are at liberty, on their own responsibility, to allot portions of their permanent advances to select subordinates who have to carry out executive details on their behalf.

Permanent advances how to be drawn.

160. Permanent advances should be drawn from the Treasury by the officers authorised by Government on receipts stating the purpose and authority therefor, and should be refunded into the Treasury at the close of relief operations.

Register of payment.

161. Every disbursing officer shall keep a Register in which he shall enter the payments as they are made by him (Form 5.) This register shall show date of payment, name of the person to whom paid, number of sub-voucher and of contingent abstract, detailed heads of expenditure in separate columns, with particulars, total of each contingent abstract, total of each month's bill, date of detailed bill, date of submission with initials and remarks. Particular attention is drawn to paragraph 19 of Chapter 5, Civil Account Code.

Abstract contingent bills.

162. When the permanent advance from which the disbursing officer has been making payments appears to require recoupment, the disbursing officer shall rule a red ink line across the page of the register, add up the several columns, enter their cross-totals in the column of "Total of each contingent abstract," post the several totals in a form of contingent abstract (Form 8, Civil Account Code), detailing against each entry the numbers of the sub-vouchers, and entering in its proper place the description of charge, number the abstract bill in a separate monthly consecutive series, and then sign and date it. If the disbursing officer is authorized to draw money from the Treasury on bills signed by himself, he shall recoup the permanent advance by cashing the bill at the Treasury; otherwise he should first get the bill countersigned by the officer above him authorized to draw money from the Treasury before presenting it for payment at the Treasury. There is no limit to the number of recoupments allowed, so that, if necessary, they may be made every week or oftener.

Payments of demands in excess of permanent advance.

163. Where the permanent advance is running short a demand may be presented in excess of the balance: this item, too, should be charged in the register of payments and included in the abstract, the number given being that which the sub-voucher will bear when payment has been made (see note, Rule 8, Chapter V, Civil Account Code). It must be distinctly understood that a disbursing officer is only authorized to draw a sum in excess of the amount necessary to recoup his permanent advance when an actual immediate payment has to be made, and not in advance for prospective payments,—that is, he may draw such a bill when a payment in excess of the balance of his permanent advance has actually become due and has to be paid; but if he habitually finds it necessary to draw sums in excess of his advance for any other reason, he should immediately apply for an increase to his permanent advance. As the entries in this register of payments are to precede, not follow, the signing of the abstract bill, which will in reality be constructed from the register, it cannot possibly fall into arrears, so long as this procedure is followed.

Monthly detailed bill.

164. After the close of each month, the forward total of each column should be made in the register of payments, and when the foot of the page is reached, it should be carried forward in ink to the top of the next. From these totals the monthly detailed bill shall be prepared in the same form as the abstract bill, but headed Not payable at the Treasury, and showing the monthly total of each column, with description (as in the abstract) of each charge; the numbers of the sub-vouchers shall be entered against each item; at foot shall be a memorandum of the number and date of every contingent abstract and the sub-vouchers included in each, and the amount charged in the bill must be agreed with the amount actually drawn from the Treasury within the month. It shall be signed by the officer, and submitted to the controlling officer, or, if there be no controlling officer, to the Account Office direct with sub-vouchers for all sums above Rs. 10, and a certificate in the following form:—

"I certify that the expenditure charged in this bill could not, with due regard to the interests of the public service, be avoided. I have satisfied myself that the charges entered in this bill have been really paid. The grain charged for in the bill has been actually issued in gratuitous relief and in payment of relief wages as shown in the memorandum below. The rates prescribed by the Famine Code for wages and gratuitous relief have been observed. Vouchers for all sums above Rs. 10 in amount are attached to the bill. I have, as far as possible, obtained vouchers for other sums, and am personally responsible that they have been so destroyed, defaced, or mutilated that they cannot be used again."

Bills which require no countersignature.

165. From officers whose bills require no countersignature, monthly bills in adjustment of their contingent abstracts are not required; provided that they omit from the heading of the abstract bill any reference to future submission of a detailed bill, and that they attach the certificate of section 164 and all vouchers for sums in excess of Rs. 10.

Duties of the countersigning officer.

166. It is the duty of a countersigning officer to see that the charges made in the contingent bill are of obvious necessity, and are at fair and reasonable rates; that the vouchers are all received and in order; and that the calculations of those which he detains are correct; and especially that the expenditure has not exceeded the amount assigned to the officer.

Countersigning officer's register of bills passed.

167. On receipt of the monthly detailed bill in the office of the countersigning officer, its figures shall be transcribed in a register of the same form as the disburser's register, and the bill shall then be reviewed by the countersigning officer with the sub-vouchers. Any disallowance, with the number of the sub-voucher and the explanation of the objection, shall be noted on the bill at foot and in the "Remarks" column of the register, and the amount shown in the register in the column affected shall be corrected in red ink: explanation of the objection should be given on the reverse of the bill, if there is not room on the face. The countersigning officer will then take up register and bill together, enter in the former the date of admission under his initials, sign the bill, and despatch it to the Account Office with the large vouchers, and the following certificate in lieu of the smaller ones:—

"I certify that in support of every charge of more than Rs 10 made in this bill a receipt or other voucher has been given me, and is now in my possession. The receipts and vouchers for items in excess of Rs. 100 are attached to the bill, and I am personally responsible that the receipts and vouchers for all other items of more than Rs. 10 are in proper form and order, and that they have been so cancelled that they cannot be again used to support claims against Government.

Disallowance by the countersigning officer.

168. After despatch of the bill to the Account Office, the countersigning officer should communicate any disallowance to the disbursing officer, and its amount should be, without fail, refunded into the Treasury. If the amount be subsequently passed by the countersigning officer, it may be redrawn. When a refund is made, a note of the same should be made in the disbursing officer's register, and the Treasury Officer should be careful to add the amount of refund to the balance shown on the back of the advice mentioned in section 156.

Establishments.

169. The pay of the extra establishments only which may be employed in connection with the relief operations shall be a famine charge. Bills for such establishments must be always made out in full detail on the usual establishment form, and must cite the authority of Government under which the establishment has been entertained, except when, under emergent circumstances, the previous sanction of Government could not be obtained, in which case the bill shall be paid, but the charge shall not be finally passed until the sanction of Government subsequently obtained is communicated to the account office. These charges are not to be drawn on abstract bills or be paid from permanent advances.

Extra allowances to officers deputed on famine duty.

170. The pay and the ordinary travelling allowances of officers and of establishments deputed on special famine duty are not famine charges. They shall be drawn in the usual way, and shall be adjusted against the departments to which the officers are permanently attached. But if any special allowances be sanctioned for these officers and establishments in addition to their substantive pay, they should be treated as famine charges.

Relief in grain.

171. In case it becomes necessary to grant gratuitous relief and pay relief wages in grain, the grain required for the purpose should be obtained on indent from the grain contractor appointed for the circle. The contractor shall draw out a bill weekly or more often, if he desires it, for the value of the grain supplied by him, attaching the receipts received by him for the grain so supplied to the bill as sub vouchers, and present it to the officer by whose authority the grain was supplied. The officer shall first check the bill to see that the quantities, rates, and charges are correct, enter the amount to be paid in his register of payments, and make out an abstract bill in the same way as in section 162. This abstract bill may be passed for payment at the Treasury to the contractor, or the amount may be drawn from the Treasury for payment to the contractor, or where convenient, can be paid from the permanent advance. In the monthly detailed bill in which the value of the grain is included, a plus and minus memorandum should be given, showing the balance of grain which was in stock at the end of the previous month, quantity charged for in the bill, total including balance, quantity issued in gratuitous relief and in payment of relief wages, and the balance in stock at the end of the month.

Registe to be kept of grain supplied by contractors.

172. Every officer ordering the supply of grain by a contractor shall keep a register (Form 6) in which he shall enter the grain supplied as the contractors' bills are passed for payment. In this register he shall also enter the quantity issued in gratuitous relief and in payment of relief wages, any necessary details being obtained from his subordinates. At the close of each month this register shall be totalled and balanced, and the balance agreed with that of the plus and minus memorandum to be given at foot of the monthly detailed bill. If the balance be in charge of different officers, an abstract should be entered at foot of the register showing the balance in charge of each.

Relief works by Professional agency.

173. Funds for relief works, which are conducted under the direct control of the Public Works Department shall be supplied to that Department by means of letters-of-credit issued in favour of the officers concerned on the application of the Examiner of Public Works Accounts. The officers shall draw money from the Treasury, as they require it, by cheques against their letters-of-credit, and shall submit their account of expenditure to the Examiner according to the rules of the Public Works Department.

Advances and loans.

174. Advances and loans for land improvement, &c., shall be regulated under the general rules laid down by Government for the purposes. The payments shall not be debited to famine, but to the ordinary heads provided for the disbursements. No special rules for these advances and loans are therefore necessary, as they shall be made, not from permanent advances, but direct from the Treasuries, on orders signed by the District Officer or other officer who may be authorized to grant such advances or loans.

APPENDIX

Rules for the Management of a Poor-house in time of severe Famine.

Interior accommodation.

1. The poor-house should be divided into sleeping sheds, working yards, and offices. The sleeping shed should ordinarily be erected round the sides of the enclosure, the working yards being in front of them and the offices collected in one corner or along the side nearest the gate. The walls of the sheds should be of earth or of wattle, according as is most suitable to the climate of the locality and the time of year. They should be thatched so as effectually to keep out rain. A free current of air should pass through them, but the sheds allotted to families may have spaces divided off into cubicles or apartments for each family. Superficial space should be allowed to each sleeper, 7 feet by 4, a mat provided to sleep on, and a ticket hung up over the mat corresponding in number to that worn by the pauper. The area of the poor-house should be staked off, so as to provide separate enclosures for men, women, children, and for entire families. Families should not be broken up, but otherwise the sexes and ages should be separated. Each of these enclosures would contain the sleeping sheds and working yard of the class to which it belongs, and where this is found necessary, separate enclosures should be provided for those of good caste and those of low caste. The offices shall consist of a store-room for the grain required for food, another for the work done by the paupers, a grinding-shed, a cook-room, and an office in which the accounts would be written up and the records and registers kept.

The above sketch may serve as a suggestion as to the way in which a poor-house should be laid out and arranged.

Either inside or (which is better) outside the enclosure there should be a wall used solely for washing purpose. A trough or both should be attached to it, which should be filled from the well, and to which the paupers should be marched in detachments to bathe as often as is thought good with reference to the climate and time of year.

Reception of applicants for relief.

In front of and near the door of each relief camp an enclosure shall be railed off in which all fresh applicants for relief shall be received, whether they present themselves voluntarily or are sent in by the police or by relief officers. In this place some superior relief officer shall attend at a fixed hour every day; either the special relief officer of the circle, or the village relief officer, or the tehsildar, or, in the absence of all these, the peshkar, to receive the applicants, and either forward them to a relief work or admit them into the relief camp.

If the severity of the famine render it necessary, some official with a supply of cooked food should be present at all hours of the day.

Food.

2. The food should be distributed twice a day, and should consist of a daily ration of the following quantities of the meal or flour of the common coarse grain of the country, or the same quantities of cleaned rice, where rice is the usual food of the people:—

For men and women ... 1 lb. flour or rice + 2 oz. pulse and condiments.
For children under 12 .... ½ lb. " + 2 " "
For children in arms a special milk diet should be provided, and nursing-mothers should receive 50 per cent. above the usual female ration.

If thought necessary, a stock of food can be laid in to guard against contingencies, but ordinarily it shall be sufficient to contract with a merchant to provide the daily requirements. Care should be taken that every evening enough grain is in store for two days' supply, and enough flour for the food of the next day; the grain should be ground every day for the food of the day after. The flour should be carefully weighed out for cooking, and a definite relation fixed by experiment between the weight of the raw and the cooked food, and the latter should be tested constantly by weighment by the Superintendent as well as by the visiting official.[1]

They should also see that the food is thoroughly cooked, and is served in a state as palatable as possible. The pulse should contain a certain quantity of pepper and of spices to be fixed in each province according to the local custom. The paupers should be arranged in rows in the feeding-sheds in their own enclosures, and the number of rations required for each enclosure should be taken to them, after being counted by an official at the cook-room door, and distributed. A plate or pot should be given to each in which to receive the liquid portion of the meal. They should be supervised while eating it, and not allowed to get up till it is eaten, or to give any away; especial watchfulness is required in the case of the children, who are liable to have the food snatched from them by other children, or by adults, or who may be induced by fear to save a part of it, to give to their parents.

Establishment.

3. The establishment should consist of paupers as far as possible. The only paid officials should be the Superintendent, the accountant, and the hospital assistant; but Re. 1 per month may be paid to the overseers and to the head-cook in addition to food. Carpenters and blacksmiths, if required, may be called in and paid in cash. But all other servants in the poor-house should be paid in food, or in raw grain if their caste requires it, and

---

[1] The importance of frequent testing cannot be overrated. Under the most careful superintendence errors will creep in on this head if the cooks are not subject to constant inspection; and it must be remembered that, where the daily ration is cut down to a low scale, to sufficiency to sustain life cannot be ensured, if the pauper can be defrauded of even a small fraction of it.

should, as far as possible, be appointed from among the paupers themselves, not from outside.

The Superintendent.

4. The duty of the Superintendent is general supervision. He is responsible for examining the supply of grain received from the contractor, testing its quantity and quality, and entering it in the stock register; also for seeing that it is securely kept in a safe chamber under a good lock or sufficient guard. He is bound to be always present at feeding time, to see that the food is well cooked and the amount of it correct; to see that paupers are properly organized into gangs and parties, are set to work at labour suitable to their capacities, and do a sufficient quantity of work, and that all members of the establishment do their duty punctually and thoroughly. He shall muster the establishment every day, and record their attendance in a register. He shall also receive daily from the circle relief officer all new admissions, and see that their names are entered by the overseer on his muster-roll.

The accountant.

5. The accountant must always be a member of the Collector's office permanent establishment, and must be selected for this work because of his special qualifications, a temporary officiating man filling his place. He has to keep up the prescribed returns and registers.

The overseer.

6. The overseer shall keep the nominal register of the paupers in the poor-house. If there are more than 400 inmates, a second overseer may be appointed. He should ordinarily be a respectable literate inhabitant of the circle, Muhammadan or Brahman, or of other good caste, who is in distressed circumstances, and is glad to do the work for a payment of one rupee a month, plus half as much again as the daily ration, which may be given raw. He shall marshall the people in the morning to the early meal, and shall take the roll call while it is being eaten. When it is taken, he shall write out a slip in the following form, and make it over to the accountant:—

Attendance morning of

Name of gangsman.	Men.	Women.	Children.	Total.	Total number of lb grain.

During the day he shall supervise the work of the gangs either generally or any particular set of gangs as the Superintendent may direct. In the evening he shall again marshall the people to the evening meal, and take the roll-call, and give a slip to the accountant in the same form as in the morning.

Organization of enclosures.

7. There should be a gangsman or monitor to each enclosure, a female being appointed to the female enclosure: they should be responsible for the discipline of all the residents in their enclosure at night, when at work, or when eating. If the numbers in an enclosure are small, persons of good caste can be allowed to sit a little apart in working and eating from the other members of the gang, and can have a portion of the shed walled off for them. The gangsman or monitor should, if possible, be chosen from among the more respectable and capable paupers in the poor house; if none such are available, he should ordinarily be a respectable illiterate resident of the circle in distressed circumstances, who is glad to accept the post for the wages of a ration half as large again as the ordinary one, i.e., 1½ lb of grains, which may be given raw. The discipline of the party should be kept as uniform as possible, so that people may know their work and their place and each other; they should sleep in the same shed, eat meals in the same place, and after meals go together to the same work in the same place as nearly as possible. Proper arrangements should be made as to the water-supply, the latrines and urinals, and the burial of those who die in the poor-house or hospital.

Employment of the inmates.

8. A certain number of the residents should be selected as water-carriers, sweepers, grinders, &c. and as monitors or orderly peons to enforce discipline. For the rest, such employment as they are capable of should be provided; for instance, rope-making, spinning, stone-breaking, basket-making, &c.

Medical establishment.

9. This establishment, which consists of cooks, water-carriers, rice-cleaners or grinders, guards and sweepers, should be kept down to a moderate strength, and should, as far as possible, be recruited from the paupers of the kitchen, or from respectable people of the circle who are in distressed circumstances. As a rule, they should be paid in grain, which may be given raw, if desired, at the rate of 1½ lb, or for the most onerous task 2 lbs. a day; but where the numbers are large, the head cook may, in addition, receive Re. 1 per mensem. The number of each class of servants should be arranged on a sliding scale in proportion to the number of paupers to be attended to. The number of cooks should be about 1 per cent. of the number to be fed, and where the resident population is very feeble, more persons must be entertained to carry and distribute the cooked food than where there are able-bodied paupers who can be so employed. Great care should be taken that the persons employed in the cooking and handling the food should be of such castes that the prejudices of the inmates should not be offended. The number of water-carriers and of sweepers should be about the same as the cooks. But for the sick in hospital probably one sweeper will be required for 25 patients. The occupation of rice cleaning or grinding is one that can be suitably given to women of respectable castes; two women in good health should easily grind thirty seers of grain a day, or enough for sixty adults; but if they are enfeebled, then two relays of two women each should be allowed for each mill. It is not intended in these rules to tie officers down to a too rigid uniformity; but every Superintendent and circle relief officer is expected to do all in his power to combine efficiency with economy.

The hospital.

10. There should be a hospital and a medical officer attached to each poor-house. The site of the hospital should be as near to the poor-house as possible, subject to sanitary considerations, and it should be selected with great care by a superior medical official. Its arrangements should correspond in all important particulars with those laid down for the hospitals on large relief works. The medical official should be appointed with due consideration of the relation between his rank and experience, and the difficulties and responsibilities of the post, the most experienced men being put in charge of the largest hospitals and poor-houses. He shall be responsible for seeing that all the requirements of a hospital are provided, and that the sheds are dry and ventilated. He shall send in to the Superintendent a daily return showing the number of sick in hospital, the daily admissions, discharges, and deaths, and the number of rations, and the quantity of extra food required for his patients. He shall also keep up a nominal register of all admissions, of their diseases and history; and shall prepare from this such return as may be called for by his own department. He shall constantly go round and inspect the residents in the poor-house, and give out-door treatment to those in need of it, avoiding, as far as possible, any compulsion on the paupers to enter the hospital as in-patients. He should notice the condition of all the residents to see if they are improving, or the reverse; and he should report at once to the Superintendent or the civil relief officer if he believes the food to be insufficient or bad in quality. For those who are specially emaciated, he should prescribe special diet, such as milk or ghee or other nutriment. He should also report to the Superintendent if he thinks that in any case the work exacted is too severe for any of the paupers.

Inspection.

11. The poor-house is under the immediate charge of the civil relief officer of the circle, and the Superintendent of the poor-house is directly subordinate to him. But whenever a poor-house is established, a body of respectable native gentlemen shall be associated with the relief officer as a committee of management. They should be consulted on all matters connected with caste and social observances, and their influence should be exerted to spread abroad the knowledge that everything possible is done to prevent any offence being given to the sensitive feelings or prejudices of the inmates. They should be specially consulted as to the appointment of cooks and overseers, in order that no one may be appointed to whose caste any objection can be taken. One of them should be invited to visit the poor-house every day according to a roster, and specially to be present at feeding time; and the whole committee should, if possible, meet the relief officer weekly at the poor-house, where any suggestions may be offered, or any objectionable practices brought to light and stopped. The relief officer should then, accompanied by the committee, inspect the residents, and enquire into their cases and condition. Those who have improved in strength sufficiently to enable them to work should be sent to a relief work; those who have not, should, if their homes are known, and there is any reasonable prospect that they will stop there, be sent back to their homes and put on village relief.

Who are to be kept as permanent residents of poor-house.

12. The exceptions, who must be kept as permanent residents as long as the famine lasts, are (1) incurable wanderers who have been sent to their homes more than once, but have not gone or have not stayed there; (2) able-bodied professional beggars who have been sent to work more than once, but have persistently left it; (3) persons from villages in which village relief is not given.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The 13th January 1892.

Notification No. 14.—Whereas an application has been duly made to the Local Government of Bengal by the Bengal Provincial Railway Company, "Limited," for the purpose of authorising the construction of a Tramway between Tarkeswar and Mugra, both in the district of Hooghly, and whereas it appears to the Local Government expedient and proper that the said application should be granted, the Local Government, in pursuance of section 5 of the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883, makes the following order :—

The Bengal Provincial Railway Company, "Limited," are empowered to make the said Tramway upon the guage and in the manner described, and in accordance with the provisions contained in the schedule hereunto annexed and marked A, and whereas the Promoters of the said Tramway are not the local authority of the area in which the said Company are empowered to make the said Tramway, the agreement made between the Promoters and the said local authority is set forth in the schedule hereunto annexed and marked B.

Description of the Tramway.

The following is a description of the undertaking, that is to say—

1. A steam tramway (or light railway), starting from a point about 16 feet north from the edge of the platform of the Tarkeswar station of the Tarkeswar Railway, and running along its own alignment to the Mugra Gunj, near the Mugra station of the East Indian Railway, being a distance of 30¼ miles and entirely within the Hooghly district.

2. From the "zero" or "fixed point" as stated above, the line will run to Gopinagar, about 3 miles, and thence to Dasghara, 5 miles north of Tarkeswar, passing along the ridge to the west of the villages Chowtara and Barna. After Dasghara, near which the Kana Nadi will be crossed with a girder bridge of one 40 feet span resting on masonry abutments, the line will run eastward to the south side of the well-known hât of Dhaniakhali at about the 11th mile, and thence to the populous village of Basua, at about the 13th mile, passing through the villages Bunpur and Ghazipur. Near Bunpur the Kana Damoodar will be crossed with a girder bridge of one 40 feet span resting on masonry abutments. From Basua the line will take a north-easterly direction, and will cross the river Ghea at Kanajuli with 3 spans (girder) of 40 feet each, resting on masonry abutments and piers. After crossing the Ghea the line will run in a northerly direction, and after skirting the village Majinan will reach Gopalpur, at 16½ mile, which is the site selected for serving the important village of Bhastara and its neighbourhood. From Gopalpur the line will run eastward, skirting the south side of Dwarbasinee (at 21¼th mile) to Mahanad (at 23¾th mile). From the latter place the line will continue to run eastward over the high waste land known as Jamai Jangal up to the 28th mile, where it will leave the Jangal and taking a north-easterly direction reach the terminal station near the Gunj of Mugra, crossing the East Indian Railway line by an under-bridge about ¼ mile up from the Mugra station. Permission of the East Indian Railway authorities for crossing their line by this under-bridge has been obtained.

3. The line will be of 2 feet 6 inches guage. Land for borrow-pits will be provided on one side only of the line, which will be fenced with galvanized iron wire on both sides, as provided in the estimates. Provision has, however, been made for enough land for a future double line. Whenever district, village, or any other important roads will be crossed, suitable arrangements for cross traffic, with gates and gate-keepers' lodges or self closing field gates, will be made. For unimportant cross communications turn or foot-styles will be provided.

Whenever during construction of the tramway any district or village road shall have to be crossed, arrangements will be made so as not to endanger, and to impede as little as possible, the traffic along such road.

4. The maximum speed to be maintained on the line will be 12 miles an hour, or such other speed as may from time to time be authorised by the Local Government.

5. There will be at the outset 13 stations, including the two terminal ones, Tarkeswar and Mugra. Arrangements for the running of the trains will be made to suit the times of the East Indian Railway and the Tarkeswar Railway, and the convenience of the passengers of the locality to be served by this line.

6. Flat-bottomed steel rails weighing 25lb. to the yard, and wooden or steel sleepers, spaced 2′ 9″ centres, over 6″ of fine ballast will be used throughout the line. The ruling gradient on the line will be 1 in 500, which will be confined to only one place for about 25 chains. The rest will vary from 1 in 1,000 to 1 in 5,000. The curves will generally have radii of 1910, 2365 and 5730 feet, and at one place only a curve with a radius of 1,432·5 feet has been found unavoidable.

7. The bridging on the line will be throughout of a simple character. Steel plate girders of 40 feet span resting on masonry abutments and piers will be provided for the principal waterways, and rolled steel joists for the less important streams. The waterway provided averages about 18 lineal feet per mile, and more will be added wherever necessary, not only for efficient drainage, but for irrigation also. The two arches of the under-bridge of the East Indian Railway line by which this line is to cross will be dismantled and made into one span of 24 feet clear, to be bridged with iron girders of a suitable design, carrying the East Indian Railway roadway on the bottom booms. This arrangement has been approved of by the East Indian Railway authorities, and the cost has been provided for in the estimates. Twenty level crossings, nine styles, and two subways will be provided along the entire length of the line, and more will be added if found necessary.

Subject to the approval of the local Government the Promoters may hereafter from time to time make all such crossings, passing places, junctions, and other works as may be required, in addition to those particularly specified in their application for this order; and the Promoters bind themselves to provide also at their own cost all level crossings that may be considered necessary by the local authority after the opening of the line.

8. Water-supply for stations and locomotives will be made from wells or tanks dug in the station-yards. At the two terminal and three intermediate watering stations cast-iron tanks of the capacity of about 2,000 gallons each, and resting on masonry structure, will be built for feeding the engines.

9. The line will nowhere run along any of the district roads. The total land to be acquired will be 768 bighas, of which 470 bighas, which will include the station compounds and land for a double line, will be permanent, and 298 bighas of a semi-permanent nature. Where the required land cannot be purchased by private treaty, it will be acquired under the provisions of Act X of 1870.

10. All the buildings will be built of bricks, with terraced, tiled or corrugated iron roofing, according to the designs submitted.

The following is the list of the buildings:—

Maintenance and Working of the Tramway.

15. In the event of any necessity arising in the carrying out of local works, in or on land occupied by the tramway, for which interference with the tramway may be considered necessary by the local Government or the local authority, the said Government or local authority may, by notice in writing, call upon the Promoters to show cause why such portion of the tramway should not be closed for traffic as may enable the said works to be carried out in safety. After considering the necessity for closing such portion of the tramway as well as any objections or suggestions that may be made by the Promoters, the local Government or the local authority may direct that the Promoters shall close the said portion of the tramway for such a period of time and under such other conditions as in the circumstances of the case may appear necessary.

The Promoters shall be bound to comply with such directions and allow the work referred to therein to be carried out, provided that, unless otherwise directed, any portion of the tramway which it may be necessary to remove in order to the carrying out of such work, shall be removed and reinstated by, or at the expense of, the said Government or local authority, or by the person or persons at whose instance the work is carried out.

In the event of the Promoters desiring that any drain, water-course, telegraph-line or other thing whatsoever, in or on the land occupied or to be occupied by the tramway, should be interfered with, or that the position of any one of them should be altered, the Promoters shall give notice in writing to the local authority and to the person or persons in charge of or interested in the things to be interfered with or altered, and shall also submit an application to the local Government; and after considering the application of the Promoters, as well as any objections or suggestions that may be made with reference to such application, the local Government may grant the application if it think proper under such conditions as in the circumstances of the case may appear fit.

16. The Promoters shall at all times maintain and keep in good condition and repair, to the satisfaction of the local Government, and so as not to be a danger or annoyance to the public and passengers using it, the permanent-way, rolling-stock, and all other belongings of the tramway.

17. All permanent and crossing stations of the tramway shall be provided with both Home and Distant signals of 20 feet in height, the Home signals being located in the platform, and the Distant signals 400 yards from the facing points at both ends of the station. The trial stations will have only the Platform signal provided with arms and lamps. In thick, foggy or tempestuous weather detonators shall be used in addition to the regular day and night signals. Between sunset and sunrise, and during foggy weather, every train shall exhibit a red tail light and two red side lights in rear of the train, and every engine running alone shall exhibit at least one red tail light.

19. If in the opinion of the Consulting Engineer or other officer duly appointed by the Government any engine or vehicle shall not appear save for use he may prohibit the running of such engine or vehicle on the tramway. Any such prohibition shall hold good until the same is either confirmed, modified or set aside by the Local Government, and the Promoters shall be bound by whatever order may be passed by the Local Government respecting such engine or vehicle.

20. The undertaking and all works, stock and appliances appertaining thereto, shall at all times be open to the inspection and examination of any person or persons whom the Local Government may appoint for that purpose, and the Promoters shall afford all reasonable facilities for the inspection or examination to the officer making it.

21. When after inspection of the tramway or portion of the tramway or any rolling stock used thereon, the officer making the inspection under clause 20 of this schedule (A) reports to the Local Government that in his opinion the use of the tramway, or portion thereof or of any specified rolling-stock, will be attended with danger to the public using it, the Local Government may direct that the tramway or portion thereof be closed for the public conveyance of passengers, or that the rolling-stock so specified shall no longer be used, as the case may be.

22. When the tramway or any portion of the tramway has been closed under clause 21 of this schedule (A), it shall not be re-opened for the public conveyance of passengers unless and until it has been inspected and its opening sanctioned by the Local Government.

23. When the Local Government has under clause 21 of this schedule (A) prohibited the use of any rolling-stock, the said rolling-stock shall not be used unless and until the officer named in clause 20 of this schedule (A) reports that it is fit for use, and the Local Government sanctions its use.

24. When from accident or flood, or by reason of the execution of local works under the provision contained in clause 15 of this schedule (A), or from any other reason, it is in the opinion of the Local Government necessary or expedient to remove or discontinue the use of the tramway, or any part thereof, the Promoters, subject to such conditions and in accordance, in all respects, with such regulations as the Local Government may make from time to time, may construct and maintain, so long as occasion may require, a temporary tramway in lieu of the tramway or part of the tramway removed or discontinued.

25. The tramway may be used for the purpose of conveying passengers, passengers' luggage, animals, goods, minerals and parcels. But the Promoters shall have the liberty to refuse to carry any person or any animal suffering from any infectious or contagious disorder and articles that may be declared dangerous or offensive by their bye-laws to be framed under section 27 of the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883.

26. In the event of it being necessary for any railway line to cross the tramway, under the authority of the Government, on the level or otherwise, the Promoters shall not be competent to raise any objection, provided that the expenses incurred by the Promoters on account of any interference with their line that may be necessary for such crossing shall be borne by the administration of the railway authorised to cross.

27. The Promoters shall not have power to transfer the undertaking without previous sanction of the Local Government, otherwise than as provided in clause 5 of schedule B to this order.

Liabilities and penalties.

28. In the case of accidents and offences the Promoters agree to bind themselves by the requirements, conditions, and penalties provided in Chapters VIII, IX, and X of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (Act IX of 1890).

29. The Local Government may hereafter from time to time apply in the case of this tramway such other provisions of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, as may appear to it necessary and expedient.

30. The Promoters shall, within three months from the date of this order, commence the construction of the said Tramway. In the event of the said Promoters failing so to commence the construction of the said Tramway, the Local Government shall be at liberty to revoke this order, and the local authority shall be at liberty to enter into any arrangement with any other person or persons for the construction of a tramway from Tarkeswar to Mugra.

31. The Promoters shall complete in every respect (ready for opening and working for traffic) the said Tramway now to be constructed, and all necessary plant, buildings, stores, live-stock and rolling-stock within two years from the date of this order. In the event of the said Promoters failing so to complete the work, the Local Government shall be at liberty to revoke this order, and the local authority shall be at liberty to enter into any arrangements with any other person or persons for the construction of a tramway from Tarkeswar to Mugra.

32. If the Promoters fail in any respect to comply with any of the provisions of the said Act III of 1883, especially sections 14, 15, 16, 17, 20, and 22, and the local authority shall find it necessary or desirable to do anything or incur any expense to remedy any such failure on the part of the said Promoters, all expenses so incurred shall be on demand repaid to the local authority by the said Promoters, and the certificate of the chief officer of the authority shall be conclusive evidence that all expenses referred to in such certificate were so incurred, and the said Promoters shall not be at liberty to dispute the same.

33. If the Promoters fail to observe the conditions or directions contained in or made under this order, they shall for such violation be liable to a penalty which may extend to two hundred rupees, and in the case of a continuing violation, to a further penalty which may extend to fifty rupees for each day after the first during which the violation continues.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF DECEMBER 1891.

THE most important features in the meteorology of December have been—

1. There has been a complete absence of the cold-weather storms originating in or coming from North-West India, and which in most years pass through Bengal in December, particularly in the second half of the month. Fine weather with almost cloudless skies has therefore prevailed in Bengal practically throughout the month.

2. There has also been a complete absence of anything like cyclonic storms such as frequently occur in December in the southern half of the Bay of Bengal. Though no actual storms have formed, weather has on several occasions been disturbed in the south of the Bay, and a barometric depression was formed off the South Madras coast on the 8th, which afterwards passed over the south of the peninsula. Another feeble depression formed in the south-west of the Bay about the 12th, which after existing for three or four days filled up, giving heavy rain to the stations on the Madras coast, but disturbed conditions also continued to exist in the centre and south of the Bay up to the 19th or 20th of the month.

3 These disturbed conditions in the Bay were at no time sufficiently influential to materially affect the weather in Bengal, beyond on one or two occasions giving rather cloudy weather at some of the southern stations in the province.

4. Owing to the absence of storms of either kind which could affect Bengal, rainfall has been absent from the entire province almost throughout the month, and the only showers of rain recorded were one or two in the Chittagong district on the 15th to the 17th and again on the 21st of the month. Rainfall has therefore been in defect of the normal in all districts.

5. The mean pressure for the month has been unusually high, and at all stations excess pressures have been recorded, the excess in Bengal ranging from 0·03″ to 0·04″ in the south-western districts to 0·06″ to 0·08″ in Behar. In Assam, also, there has been an excess pressure of 0·036.″

6. Temperature has also been in excess of the normal, the excess in all the seven meteorological divisions in Bengal ranging from 1° to 2°, but in Assam the excess has been rather less than 1°.

7. Humidity has been slightly in excess of the normal at almost all stations in the province, the excess being largest at the western stations.

8. Cloud proportion has also been generally slightly higher than usual, the excess being largest at the south-western stations.

The meteorological changes during the month, therefore, do not call for any lengthened review, for throughout the month fine weather has obtained with only slight oscillations of temperature and pressure, and slight alterations with regard to the amount of humidity, cloud proportion, etc. For the first few days pressure was rather largely in excess of the normal, the excess ranging from 0·04″ to 0·06″. The mean temperature for this period was from about 2° to nearly 5° in excess of the normal, the excess for the province averaging 3°. For the week ending the 12th the excess pressure had slightly increased and had become about 0·05″ to 0·06″, but the excess temperature had slightly decreased, and only averaged 1·5°. For the week ending the 19th the pressure changes were generally in a slightly downward direction, and the excess pressure had become reduced to a few thousandths of an inch at many stations, whilst at the stations in the northern half of the province the excess only equalled about 0·02″ to 0·03″. During this week there were rather considerable variations of temperature, for it rose for the first four or five days of the week, and then fell rapidly, and for the whole province the mean of the week was again 1·5° in excess of the normal. For the fourth week ending the 26th, pressure again rose considerably, and at many stations in Behar the excess averaged more than a tenth of an inch, while the excess pressure of the province generally equalled from 0·07″ to 0·08″. From about the 24th of December, however, a decidedly rapid fall of temperature set in, and though for the week ending the 26th there was still an excess temperature over the province equalling 1·3°, yet for the remainder of the month temperature became fairly normal, though quite at its close temperature commenced to rise owing to the influence of a very feeble barometric depression which had formed in Northern India, and which on the 31st appeared to have a centre near Lucknow. The depression, however, beyond causing temperature and humidity in Bengal to rise and pressure to fall slowly at the close of the month, had no other practical effect on the weather, and for the last four days of the month the pressure registered in the province of Bengal was almost absolutely normal.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the month has been in excess of the normal at all stations in the province of Bengal, the excess ranging from 0·031″ at False Point to 0·084″ at Chupra. The usual excess has equalled from 0·03″ to 0·05″ in Orissa and South-West Bengal, from about 0·04″ to 0·06″ in East and North Bengal, and from about 0·05″ to 0·08″ in North and South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. In Assam the excess has ranged from 0·024″ at Dhubri to 0·042″ at Sibsagar and Silchar.

Temperature.—The mean temperature for the month in all the seven meteorological divisions of Bengal has averaged from 1·3° to 1·7° in excess of the normal, the largest excess being shown in East and North Bengal and South Behar. The extreme variations at any station have been an excess of 2·9 at Beauleah and one of 2·7° at Chittagong to the small excess of 0·3° at Purneah and 0·5° at Cuttack. In Assam, Sibsagar has registered a normal temperature, Dhubri an excess of 0·3°, and Silchar an excess of 2°.

The general variation of temperature from the normal of the month is best shown by the following table, which gives the variation of the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province, week by week, throughout the month:—

Rainfall—Has been practically absent throughout the entire month and over almost the whole province except in the Chittagong district, which has received a few showers of rain; but even here the falls only average 0·20 inch of rain, and in the Noakhally district, where a few drops of rain have fallen, averaging 0·03 inch.

The following table gives in a condensed form the summary of the rainfall information in Bengal for the whole year. It gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall of the year, with the normal values in each of the seven meteorological divisions of Bengal, the actual falls being expressed as percentages of the normal amounts. From these figures it will be seen that all the districts, except Orissa, have received largely defective falls during the year, and that in North Behar and North Bengal the defects exceed 20 per cent. :—

* Mean of 5 days. | † Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last
The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

[F]or the week ending Saturday, the 16th of January 1892.

Explanation.—......indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 19th January 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 16TH OF JANUARY 1892.

ON the 9th of January, or the last day of the previous week, there were indications of the formation of a feeble barometric depression over North-Western India. On the morning of the 10th a distinct but feeble depression existed, the centre of which was probably to the south of Allahabad, and on this day pressure had fallen in Bengal by about a twentieth of an inch, and had become generally from about 0·1″ to 0·15″ below the normal. At the same time, also, temperature had risen moderately and had become from 2° or 3° to about 6° in excess of the normal. The depression on this day had however scarcely affected the winds blowing in Bengal. On the 11th the feeble depression had passed in an easterly direction and was lying over Western Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, but the fall of pressure in connection with it was slight and did not exceed a twentieth of an inch. Winds, however, had changed entirely, and southerly winds were blowing in East, South, and Central Bengal, though they were more or less northerly in the northern districts. With this change of wind, temperature again increased rapidly and became from 4° or 5° to 10° above the normal except at the northern stations, where the excess amounts were smaller. At the same time, also, humidity increased very rapidly, and the air became exceptionally moist for the time of year. On the 12th pressure commenced to rise moderately to rapidly and the depression partially filled up, but the abnormal conditions of winds, temperature and humidity continued. On the 13th pressure fell briskly, and again the depression over Bengal became more marked and, as before, very abnormal conditions of temperature, humidity and wind direction obtained. A further rather rapid fall of pressure had occurred on the 14th, the fall being largest at Berhampore, and pressure was largely below the normal, the defect ranging from about 0·15″ to a fifth of an inch at Berhampore, and on this day a very distinct barometric depression existed over Bengal with a centre near Berhampore, and which depression was accompanied by a distinct cyclonic circulation of winds. Conditions continued as before very abnormal and they were decidedly disturbed though the sky remained very free from cloud and no rain fell. On the 15th pressure rose rapidly over the southern half of the province and rose moderately over the northern half, and the depression thus commenced to fill up. Winds also on the 15th became more northerly, while temperature and humidity began to fall, though even on this day the mean temperature was from 3° to 9° or 10° in excess. On the 16th the rather rapid rise of pressure continued, and the depression had practically entirely disappeared, though there was still a general defect of about 0·03″ to 0·05″ over the province. Winds had also become generally northerly and had driven back the moist southerly winds which had previously obtained, while temperature had commenced to fall rapidly and had even become below the normal at some of the northern stations in the province, though there was still a moderate excess elsewhere. On the last day of the week, therefore, conditions were rapidly reverting to their normal cold weather character, though during the greater part of the period under review weather conditions have been very decidedly abnormal.

Pressure—Has been rather largely below the normal for the greater part of the week, and at many stations in the province the defect exceeds a tenth of an inch. The largest defects have been 0·126″ at Dinagepore and 0·118″ at Berhampore, while, on the other hand, defects of only about 0·06″ or 0·07″ have occurred at Gopalpore, Chittagong, Comilla, and Chyebassa.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the whole province for the week has averaged nearly four degrees in excess of the normal. The excess in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar has equalled from five to five and-a-half degrees, and in East and South-West Bengal from four to four and-a-half.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. It will be seen that both day and night temperatures have been largely in excess:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, GOVT. OF INDIA;

MEMORANDUM.

Report on the Monthly Statistics of Deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of October 1891.

The total number of deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal during the month of October 1891 amounted to 149,140, against 130,294 in October 1890 and an average of 139,989 in the corresponding month of the previous five years, 1886—90. These figures represent an annual death-rate of 27·12, 23·64 and 25·44 per 1,000, respectively, of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. In the following table these results are compared with those of past periods therein specified :—

	October 1886.	October 1887.	October 1888.	October 1889.	October 1890.	Monthly average of five years, 1886—90.	October 1891.
Number of deaths	138,012	134,460	148,569	148,610	130,294	139,989	149,140
Ratio per mille per annum	25 08	24·48	27·00	27·00	23 64	25 44	27·12

The death-rate of October 1891, as will be seen from the above table, is 1·68 higher than the mean rate of the corresponding month of the past five years 1886—90, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years with which comparison is made. In the following statement the mortality of October 1891, as compared with that of the past months of the year, stands as shown below :—

Months.			Number of deaths.	Ratio per mille per annum.
January	...	...	143,492	26·04
February	...	...	137,553	24·96
March	...	...	168,185	30·60
April	...	...	161,980	29·52
May	...	...	125,975	22 92
June	...	...	140,594	25·56
July	...	...	121,977	22·20
August	...	...	142,154	25·80
September	...	...	149,431	27 12
October	...	...	149,140	27·12

The relative proportions in which the deaths occurred among the different sexes and several classes of the community during October 1891 is shown in the following table :—

	Sex.			Class.
	Male.	Female.	Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population.	Christians.	Hindus.	Mahomedans.	Buddhists.	Other classes.
Number of deaths	77,571	71,569	...	181	92,984	52,762	100	3,053
Ratio per mille per annum ..	28·44	25·80	110	22·32	26·04	29·64	24·00	21·96

Taking the province as a whole, the mortality was greater among males than among females. Individually considered, this was also the case except in the six districts of Khulna, Dinajpur, Rajshahye, Darjeeling, Julpiguri, and Purneah, where the mortality was greater among the female population than among the male. Of the several classes of the community, it will be seen that in proportion to population, the death-rate among the Mahomedans was the greatest, next among the Hindus, then among the Buddhists, Christians, and other classes.

The following table shows, in order of sequence, the death-rates during the month of October 1891, above 30 per mille per annum. The rates of October 1890 are also given for purposes of comparison :—

Districts.			Ratio per mille during— Oct. 1891.	Oct. 1890.	Districts.			Ratio per mille during— Oct. 1891.	Oct. 1890.

Murshedabad	...	...	41·52	53·92	Hughli	...	...	30·60	22·92
Serampore	...	...	40·20	30·00

The high death-rate in Maldah is mainly due to an excessive mortality from fever, viz. 3,459 deaths out of a total of 3,990. In thirteen districts the death-rate varied between 67·32 and 30·60; in twenty-three they were below 30 and above 20 per mille; and in the remaining nine they ranged between 19·92 and 15· per mille.

In the following table is exhibited the mortality from the several registered death-causes during October 1891 compared with the mortality from the same causes in the corresponding month of 1890 and the average of the previous five years 1886—90:—

	Ratio per mille during—
	October 1891.	October 1890.	Monthly average of five years 1886—90.
Cholera	1·08	·84	·84
Small-pox	·08	·04	·02
Fever	21·24	17·88	19·66
Dysentery and diarrhœa	·60	·60	·72
Injury	·36	·48	·48
Other causes	3·48	3·60	3·60

It will be seen that, compared with the figures of both the past periods, there was a considerable increase of fever in October 1891. The highest rate (58·32) was returned from Maldah, Nuddea suffered next severely (46·08), then Jessore (40·80), Rajshahye (36·72), Dinajpur (36·48), Moorshedabad (36·12), Julpaiguri (34·20), Darjeeling (31·08), Rungpore and Purneah (29·04 each), and Monghyr (27·24). There was also a noticeable increase of mortality from cholera. Serampore seems to have suffered the most, the death-rate being 6·36 per mille per annum; then Maldah 6·, Howrah 5·16, Pubna 5·04, Bogra 4·68, Rajshahye 2·88, Shahabad 2·28, and 24-Pergunnahs 2·04. In four districts, viz., Birbhum, Darjeeling, Noakhali, and Singbhum, the disease was entirely absent.

According to age, infants under one year of age, as usual, perished in the largest numbers, viz., 189·48 per mille per annum; next came old persons (60 years and upwards) with a death-rate of 68·28 per mille. The lowest death-rate occurred among persons between 10 and 15 years of age, viz., 12·84 per 1,000 per annum.

Detailed information regarding the mortuary statistics of the forty-five districts of Bengal during the month under review will be found in the statement appended.

Existence of a reef on the north-east coast of Queensland.

THE Portmaster, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 38 of 1891) that a reef which dries 3 feet in places at low water spring tides extends about three quarters of a mile N. E. by N. from Tern Island.

The outer extreme lies in the following position :—

Shadwell Peak, S. 65°W. ... ... $1\frac{9}{10}$ miles.
X Reef Beacon, N. 10°W. ... ... $5\frac{7}{10}$ „

Bearings are magnetic.

AUSTRALIA—North-West coast.

Non-existence of certain reefs; and particulars of Baleine Bank and Walker rock.

The following Notice to Mariners (No. 624 of 1891) issued by the British Admiralty is republished:—

The following information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H. M. Surveying vessel Penguin, dated October 1891—the result of recent examination of the several localities on the north-west coast of Australia:—

(1) Non-existence of reef in lat. 13° 35′ S., long. 125° 13′ E.

Search was made during three days, under favourable conditions of sea, for the reef charted as lying in about lat. 13° 35′ S., long. 125° 13′ E., and marked as "not seen in Cushie Doe, 1881;" an area extending about 10 miles around this position was sounded over, but no trace of shoal water was observed. The depths obtained were 30 to 45 fathoms, over an even bottom, consisting generally of coral, sand, and shells.

(2) Non-existence of Expedition Island.

Expedition island, originally reported by the Commander of the barque Tien Tsin in 1865, and charted as lying (the centre) in approximately lat. 15° 34′ S., long. 123° 46′ E. The Penguin, drawing 17 feet water, was anchored in the above position in 32 fathoms water; an examination for a radius of 3 to 5 miles showed that the bottom was uneven, and there were indications of shoal water 3 miles to the west and north-west of the vessel, but no land or sandbank was visible from aloft at low water neap tides. The Penguin approached the reported island on the bearing S. by W. distant 8 miles, and left it bearing N. by E. distant 30 miles, without seeing any danger. The description given of this island agrees fairly well with that of Adèle island lying in the same parallel of latitude, but about 33 miles westward.

Consequent on this examination, Expedition island has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

Note.—Shoal water extends farther south of Adèle island than has heretofore been charted. The Penguin found very uneven bottom in lat. 15° 45½′ S., long. 123° 17′ E., the least depth being 8 fathoms over coral. Nothing, however, was seen to indicate danger, but the locality should be navigated with caution.

(3) Particulars of Baleine Bank and Walker rock.

1. Baleine bank, marked P. D. The western point of this bank lies in lat. 16° 46′ S., long. 121° 49′ E.; thence it was examined for a distance of 5 miles eastward, the general depths being 24 feet over coral, and the least water 18 feet. The bank appeared to extend some miles farther eastward.

Note.—The locality around the 7 fathoms struck in 1890, in lat. 16° 43′ S., long. 121° 37′ E., has been examined, but no danger was found; depths of 12 to 18 fathoms over coral exist between it and Baleine bank; the sea was much discoloured with patches of mud and lime, having the appearance of sunken rocks, but none were discovered.

2. Walker rock, a small coral patch with 24 feet water on it, is situated in lat. 16° 52½′ S., long. 121° 48½′ E.

Note.—The tides in the neighbourhood of Baleine bank are rotatory, with a velocity of one to 2½ knots an hour; the flood stream at first makes South, and works round eastward; at half flood it sets East; and at high water North; the ebb stream at first sets North, and works round westward; at half ebb its direction is West, and at low water South.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—......indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 26th January 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 23RD OF JANUARY 1892.

FOR a part of the previous week a barometric depression had existed over Bengal, but at its close the depression had filled up, and conditions were rapidly becoming normal for the cold weather. On the 17th, or the first day of the present week, pressure continued to rise moderately in Bengal, and it became almost absolutely normal for the day. A rapid fall of temperature took place and the mean temperature of the province became decidedly below the normal; humidity also fell and the sky was almost absolutely cloudless. Winds also were generally westerly and north-westerly, and fine settled weather obtained over the whole province. Conditions generally remained almost unchanged on the 18th, except that temperature continued to fall, while on the 19th there was a very decided increase both of temperature and pressure, though on the 20th the changes were a little variable. On the 20th also there were indications of the advance of a barometric depression over North-Western India, and on the 21st a very distinct depression existed with a centre near Deesa. In Bengal, on the 21st, the general conditions were quite unaffected by the depression, but on the 22nd the depression had advanced in an easterly or south-easterly direction, and had reached the Central Provinces, when weather in Bengal was immediately changed. Winds became more or less easterly at the majority of stations, perhaps forming part of a general cyclonic circulation round the depression. Temperature and humidity also rose, while pressure began to fall at the stations in the extreme west of the province, though it was still rising elsewhere. Cloud proportion also increased rapidly, particularly in South Behar, and on the morning of the 23rd a few rain showers were reported from the Shahabad, Mozufferpore and Dinapore districts, but the amounts were in no case large. The depression had, however, to a great extent filled up and disappeared on the 23rd, though pressure was falling in Bengal and humidity and temperature were rising, and in the case of the mean temperature it had become from about 1° to 7° above the normal. Winds also were generally more or less easterly, and the sky remained decidedly clouded over, particularly in the western districts. Thus for the last two days of the week conditions in Bengal were decidedly disturbed, and abnormally high temperature and humidity generally obtained.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been from 0·05 inch to 0·08 inch in excess of the normal. This excess has been fairly equally distributed over the whole province.

Temperature.—Was in very considerable defect of the normal at the beginning of the week, and in equally large excess at its close. For the whole week, therefore, the mean temperature has not varied very largely from the normal, there being only an excess of about half a degree. The excess has, however, been mainly confined to Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, where it has equalled about two degrees. In the districts of South-West and North Bengal and in North Behar, the variation from the normal has been very small.

The variation of temperature is, however, most clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. It will be seen that there has been an excess generally in the day temperatures, but that at five out of the nine stations the night or minimum temperatures have been in defect.

Rainfall.—As stated above, a few stations in South Behar reported rainfall on the last day of the week, but the falls have been small and mainly confined to the Shahabad district. The falls in excess of a tenth of an inch have been Bhubooah 0·25, Bussawan 0·25 inch, and Mohaniah 0·21 inch, and falls of less than a tenth of an inch are reported at Mohua, Arrah, and Dinapore.

AUSTRALIA—North-West coast.

Non-existence of certain reefs; and particulars of Baleine Bank and Walker rock.

The following Notice to Mariners (No. 624 of 1891) issued by the British Admiralty is republished :—

The following information has been received from Commander W. U. Moore, H. M. Surveying vessel Penguin, dated October 1891—the result of recent examination of the several localities on the north-west coast of Australia :—

(1) Non-existence of reef in lat. 13° 35′ S., long. 125° 13′ E.

Search was made during three days, under favourable conditions of sea, for the reef charted as lying in about lat. 13° 35′ S., long. 125° 13′ E., and marked as "not seen in Cushie Doe, 1881;" an area extending about 10 miles around this position was sounded over, but no trace of shoal water was observed. The depths obtained were 30 to 45 fathoms, over an even bottom, consisting generally of coral, sand, and shells.

Consequent on this unsuccessful search, the reef has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

(2) Non-existence of Expedition Island.

Expedition island, originally reported by the Commander of the barque Tien Tsin in 1865, and charted as lying (the centre) in approximately lat. 15° 34′ S., long. 123° 46′ E. The Penguin, drawing 17 feet water, was anchored in the above position in 32 fathoms water; an examination for a radius of 3 to 5 miles showed that the bottom was uneven, and there were indications of shoal water 3 miles to the west and north-west of the vessel, but no land or sandbank was visible from aloft at low water neap tides. The Penguin approached the reported island on the bearing S. by W. distant 8 miles, and left it bearing N. by E. distant 30 miles, without seeing any danger. The description given of this island agrees fairly well with that of Adèle island lying in the same parallel of latitude, but about 33 miles westward.

Consequent on this examination, Expedition island has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

Note.—Shoal water extends farther south of Adèle island than has heretofore been charted. The Penguin found very uneven bottom in lat. 15° 45½′ S., long. 123° 17′ E., the least depth being 8 fathoms over coral. Nothing, however, was seen to indicate danger, but the locality should be navigated with caution.

(3) Particulars of Baleine Bank and Walker rock.

1. Baleine bank, marked P. D. The western point of this bank lies in lat. 16° 46′ S., long. 121° 49′ E.; thence it was examined for a distance of 5 miles eastward, the general depths being 24 feet over coral, and the least water 18 feet. The bank appeared to extend some miles farther eastward.

Note.—The locality around the 7 fathoms struck in 1890, in lat. 16° 43′ S., long. 121° 37′ E., has been examined, but no danger was found; depths of 12 to 18 fathoms over coral exist between it and Baleine bank; the sea was much discoloured with patches of mud and lime, having the appearance of sunken rocks, but none were discovered.

2. Walker rock, a small coral patch with 24 feet water on it, is situated in lat. 16° 52½′ S., long. 121° 48½′ E.

Note.—The tides in the neighbourhood of Baleine bank are rotatory, with a velocity of one to 2½ knots an hour; the flood stream at first makes South, and works round eastward; at half flood it sets East; and at high water North; the ebb stream at first sets North, and works round westward; at half ebb its direction is West, and at low water South.

NOTIFICATION.

The 1st February 1892.

No. 11*Marine.*—The following draft of Rules which it is proposed to issue under section 29 of the Inland Steam-Vessels Act, 1884, as amended by subsequent enactments, to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Masters of Inland Steam-Vessels, is published for general information. The draft will be taken into consideration on the expiry of a month from the date of its publication in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Lieutenant-Governor will receive and give due attention to any objections or suggestions which may be made by any person within that period:—

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE EXAMINATION OF MASTERS OF INLAND STEAM-VESSELS.

Certificates granted to persons who pass examinations.

1. Certificates of Competency will be granted to those persons who pass the requisite examinations, and otherwise comply with the requisite conditions. For this purpose arrangements have been made for holding examinations periodically at the Port of Calcutta.

Examinations continued till all the candidates are examined.

2. The examinations will be held by the Port Officer and one or more other examiners to be appointed by the Government from time to time. They will commence early in the forenoon, and will be continued from day to day until all the candidates whose names appear upon the Port Officer's list on the day of examination are examined.

3. Candidates for examination must make their application upon the appropriate form (Exn. 2*b*), which must be filled up at the Port Office. The Exn. 2*b* properly filled in, together with the candidates' testimonials and discharges, must be lodged with the Port Officer not later than the day before the day of examination.

Testimonials of character, conduct, and ability required.

4. Testimonials of character, and of sobriety, experience, ability, and good conduct on board ship for at least the twelve months of service immediately preceding the date of application to be examined, will be required of all applicants, and without producing them no person will be examined. As such testimonials and discharges may have to be verified before the candidate can be examined, it is desirable that they should be handed in, together with the Form Exn. 2*b*, as early as possible.

Testimonials of Foreigners.

5. The testimonials of servitude of Foreigners and of British seamen serving in foreign vessels, which cannot be verified by the Port Officer, must be confirmed either by the Consul of the country to which the ship in which the candidate served belonged, or by some other recognized official authority of that country; or by the testimony of some credible person on the spot having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. The production, however, of such proofs will not of necessity be deemed sufficient. Each case must be decided on its own merits; and if the sufficiency of the proofs given appears to be at all doubtful, the point must be referred to the Government.

Certificates as to age.

6. Should any doubt exist as to the age of a candidate, he will be required to produce a certificate of birth or baptism.

Foreigners to know English.

7. Foreigners must prove to the satisfaction of the Examiners that they can speak and write the English language sufficiently well to perform the duties required of them on board a British vessel. In the case of natives of India who may not be able to speak English, their certificates shall be endorsed to the effect that they are valid only for vessels manned and officered entirely by Asiatics.

Colour Tests.

8. The Government have made the following arrangements for the examination of persons as to their ability to distinguish colours:—

9. Examinations in colour are open to any person serving or about to serve in the Mercantile Marine.

10. Any persons including the holders of Certificates of Competency, or persons about to apply for Certificates of Competency, if desirous of being examined in Colours only, must make application to the Port Officer on Form Exn. 2*a*, and pay a fee of one rupee.

11. He must on the appointed day attend for Examination at the Examiner's Office; and if he passes he will receive a certificate to that effect.

12. If he fails, it will be open to him to be examined again in Colours as often as he pleases on payment of the fee of one rupee at each fresh attempt.

13. The application of a candidate who is presenting himself for examination for a Master's Certificate must be made on Form Exn. 2*b*. Such examination will commence with the colour test; and if the candidate does not, at the time of making application, hold a Certificate of Competency of any grade, and should fail to distinguish correctly any one of the colours used in the test, he will not be allowed to proceed with the examination.

14. The fee he has paid for examination for a Certificate of Competency will include the fee for the Colour test, and, with the exception of one rupee, will in such event be returned to him.

15. A candidate for examination for a Certificate of Competency who, at the time of making application, does not possess a certificate, and who fails to pass the colour test, may not be re-examined until after the lapse of three months from the date of his first failure. If he fails a second time, he will be allowed a third trial at the expiration of another three months from the date of his second failure. A fresh fee must be paid at each succeeding examination.

16. It is therefore obviously to the advantage of Candidates for Certificates of Competency to apply in the first instance to be examined in Colours only on Form Exn. 2ᵃ.

17. A candidate who holds a Certificate of Competency, and who, on presenting himself for examination for a certificate of a higher grade, is unable to pass the Colour test, will notwithstanding be permitted to proceed with the examination for the certificate of the higher grade.

18. Should he pass this examination, the following statement will be written on the face of the higher certificate which may be granted to him, viz.—"This Officer has failed to pass the examination in Colours."

19. Should he ultimately fail to pass the examination, a like statement, relating to his being colour blind, will be made by the Port Officer on his existing certificate before it is returned to him.

20. Holders of certificates which bear the statement of their having failed to pass in Colours, and who may desire to have the statement removed from their certificates, must obtain the special permission of the Government.

Qualifications for Certificates of Competency as First Class Masters.

21. Examination in Colours.—All candidates for certificates of competency must first be examined in colours.

22. A candidate for a certificate as first class master of inland steam-vessels must be not less than twenty-four years of age, and must have served as second class master in charge of a steam-vessel for not less than three years, or he must be not less than twenty-two years of age, hold a certificate of competency as second mate granted under Act I of 1859 (for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen), or the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1883, or a certificate to which the provisions of any such Act have been made applicable under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, and have served as mate of an inland steam-vessel or master of a river flat for not less than one year; or he must be not less than twenty-four years of age, and must have served either not less than three years at sea and three years as mate of a river-steamer or master of a river flat, or not less than six years as mate of a river steamer or master of a river flat.

23. Each candidate will be examined apart, and vivâ voce, in each and all of the following subjects:—

(1)—The rules of the road.
(2)—The management of river steamers under all contingencies.
(3)—The tide table.
(4)—Storm signals.
(5)—The provisions of Act VI of 1884, and the rules framed under sections 21, 29, 50 and 51 of the Act.

Qualifications for Certificates of Competency as Second Class Masters.

Examination in Colours.—All candidates for Certificates of Competency must first be examined in Colours.

A candidate for a certificate as second class master of an inland steam-vessel must not be less than twenty-one years of age and must produce satisfactory certificates of sobriety and intelligence, and that he has served three years as Mate of a small steam-vessel or as chief helmsman of a steam-vessel of over 80 horse-power, and shall be examined vivâ voce as to his knowledge in the following subjects:—

(1)—The rules of the road.
(2)—The management of small river steamers.
(3)—Storm signals.

Failure.

25. If a candidate fails, he will not be re-examined until after a lapse of three months from the date of such failure.

Re-examination in case of failure.

Certificate of lower grade.

26. If a candidate has failed in his examination, but the subjects in which he has failed are not included in the subjects required for a certificate of a lower grade, he may, if he desires it, receive a certificate of such lower grade.

27. No part, however, of the fee he has paid will be returned to him, and on presenting himself, when entitled so to do, for re-examination for the higher grade of certificate, he will be required to pay again the full fee.

Fees.

28. Candidates for examination, in making their application on Form Exn. 2*b*, will be required to pay the examination fee before any step is taken, whether by enquiring into their services or testing their qualifications, &c. Should it be found that their service is not sufficient to entitle them to be examined, or should their testimonials be unsatisfactory, or should they from any other cause not be examined, no part of the fee will be returned to them, but when they have filfilled the requisite service, or are able to produce satisfactory testimonials, as the case may be, they will be allowed to again present themselves for examination for a certificate of the same grade without paying any further fee.

Fees to be paid by applicants for examination.

29. The fee for examination must be paid to the Port Officer. In any case in which a candidate offers money to any other officer, and in any place but in the Port Office, the candidate so offering money will be regarded as having committed an act of misconduct, and will be rejected and not allowed to be again examined for twelve months.

30. If a candidate fails in his examination, no part of the fee will be returned to him.

31. If the candidate satisfy the examiners as to his knowledge of the prescribed subjects, and generally as to his competency to command an inland river steamer, they shall certify the same to the Government, which will then grant a certificate to the candidate.

32. The fees are as follows:—

				Rs.
First Class Master	...	...	...	16
Second Class Master	...	...	..	6

General.

33. Certificates of competency of first and second class masters shall be made and issued in the forms hereunto annexed.

34. Every certificate of competency shall be made in duplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded by the Port Officer of Calcutta.

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE EXAMINATION OF ENGINEERS AND FIRST CLASS ENGINE-DRIVERS OF INLAND STEAM-VESSELS.

Certificates of competency granted to persons who pass requisite examinations.

1. Certificates of competency will be granted to those persons who pass the requisite examinations and otherwise comply with the requisite conditions. For this purpose examiners have been appointed and arrangements have been made for holding the examinations periodically at the port of Calcutta.

Examinations continued till all the candidates are examined.

2. The examinations will commence early in the forenoon, and will be continued from day to day until all the candidates whose names appear upon the Port Officer's list on the day of examination are examined.

Application how to be made.

3. Candidates for examination must make their application upon Form Exn. 3*b*, which must be filled up at the Port Office. The Exn. 3*b*, properly filled in, together with the candidate's testimonials, must be lodged with the Port Officer not later than the day before the day of examination.

Testimonials required.

4. Testimonials of character and of sobriety, experience, ability, and good conduct, for at least the 12 months immediately preceding the date of application to be examined, will be required of all applicants, and without producing them no person will be examined. If the service has been on shore, the testimonial must be signed by an employer; if at sea, by either the master, managing owner, chief or superintending engineer.

5. As such testimonials and discharges may have to be verified before the candidates can be examined, it is desirable that they should be handed in, together with the Form Exn. 3*b*, as early as possible.

Testimonials of Foreigners.

6. The testimonials of servitude of Foreigners and of British seamen serving in foreign vessels, which cannot be verified by the Port Officer, must be confirmed either by the Consul of the country to which the ship in which the candidate served belonged, or by some other recognised official authority of that country, or by the testimony of some credible person on the spot, having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. The production, however, of such proofs will not of necessity be deemed sufficient. Each case must be decided on its own merits; and if the sufficiency of the proofs given appears to be at all doubtful, the point must be referred to the Government.

Certificate as to age.

7. Should any doubt exist as to the age of a candidate, he will be required to produce a certificate of birth or baptism.

8. Foreigners must prove to the satisfaction of the Examiners that they can speak and write the English language sufficiently well to perform the duties required of them on board a British vessel.

Verification of services, &c., by Articles.

Qualifications for certificates of competency as Engineers.

Qualification of candidate for Inland Engineer's Certificate.

10. A candidate must be not less than twenty-two years of age :—

Or, if he has not served an apprenticeship, he must prove that for not less than three years in England or five years in India he has been employed as a journeyman or masterhand in some factory or workshop on the making or repairing of engines. In either case he must also have served two years thereafter in the engine-room of a steamer of over 80 horse-power, or as a certificated engine-driver in a steamer of less than 80 horse-power.

Or, failing the above service, he must have served as a certificated engine-driver in charge of a steamer for not less than four years.

(b) He must be able to give a description of boilers and the methods of staying them, together with the use and management of the different valves, cocks, pipes, and connections.

(f) He must be able to state how a temporary or permanent repair could be effected in case of derangement of a part of the machinery, or total breakdown.

11. Candidates for examination must make their application upon the appropriate Form (Exn. 3*b*.), which must be filled up at the Port Office.

12. A candidate for a certificate of competency as first class engine-driver must have attained the age of twenty-two years.

He must have served an apprenticeship of at least four years if in India, or three years in the United Kingdom, and have served as assistant engineer for one year on a steamer of not less than 80 horse-power.

Or he must have been three years principal serang or tindal in the engine-room of a steamer, or have been for three years in charge of the engine of a factory or mill under a European manager or engineer, as well as one year principal serang or tindal or assistant engineer in the engine-room of a steamer under a certificated engineer.

13. He must have the testimonial shown in Appendix B filled up by the engineer with whom he has last served, or his other testimonials must contain all the particulars therein required.

14. He must pass a vivâ voce examination before the Board of Examiners as to the working of an engine and the use of its different parts.

15. He must be able, if required, to show his practical qualifications by one week's trial in a steamer after fulfilling the other tests to which he will be subjected.

General Rules as to Examinations.

16. All books necessary for the use of candidates under examination will be provided by the Government, and applicants will not be permitted to take into the examination room any book, paper, document, or memoranda of any description whatever; and, subject to the provisions referred to hereafter, they will also not be allowed to work out their problems on a slate or on waste paper.

Candidates not to take books, &c., into examination room.

17. Candidates will be allowed in the time allotted to cancel any part of their work, and, when required, additional papers will be supplied by the Examiners. These additional sheets must be attached to, and form part of, the examination papers.

18. In the event of any candidate being discovered copying from another, or affording any assistance or giving any information to another, or communicating in any way with another during the time of examination, he will be regarded as having failed in his examination, and will be turned back for three months, in the same manner as if he had failed in the practical part of the examination; and no part of the fees he may have paid for examination will be returned to him.

Punishment for breaking rules.

19. If a candidate leaves the room before answering any question which has been given to him, he cannot afterwards be permitted to answer it, but the examiners may substitute other data or another question.

Leaving examination room.

20. All applicants presenting themselves for examination for certificates of competency as engineers will be required to give written answers to eight out of a list of ten questions selected from Form Exn. 15*a*, "Elementary Questions for the first examinations of Engineers for certificates of competency." These questions are intended to furnish a record to some extent of the candidate's knowledge at the time of his examination, and also to induce the candidates to pay more attention to their handwriting and spelling.

Questions from Form Exn. 15*a*.

21. The Form Exn. 15*b*., on which these answers will be written, contains also some questions as to the experience of the applicant, to be answered by him in writing.

22. Examiners may add to their vivâ voce questions on the practical management of steam-engines and boilers any of those contained in Exn. 15*a*.

23. If at the expiration of the time allowed the candidate has worked out correctly the whole of the questions set to him, and given satisfactory answers in the vivâ voce examination, he will be declared to have passed.

24. If at the expiration of the time allowed he has not worked out the whole of the questions set to him, but if the result of the vivâ voce examination, taken in connection with the answers to such of the questions as he has worked out, is sufficient to satisfy the Examiner that the applicant is competent to take charge of engines, he will be declared to have passed.

25. In other cases he will be declared to have failed.

(Exn. 15.)

26. A report of the examination, and the examination papers, will be forwarded to the Government on the Form Exn. 15.

Notification of having passed will be given to successful candidates (Exn. 16).

27. If the candidate passes, he will receive the Form Exn. 16 upon which the Government will issue the certificate to the candidate, whose testimonials, &c., will be returned at the same time. It is therefore important that the port of destination of the certificate should be the same on both the Form Exn. 16 and the Form Exn. 2. If circumstances should make any alteration necessary, the examiners should see that it is made in both forms, otherwise delay in the issue of the certificate may be caused.

Fees.

Fees to be paid by applicants for examination.

28. Candidates for examination, in making their application on Form Exn. 3*b*, will be required to pay the examination fees before any step is taken, whether by inquiring into their services or testing their qualifications, &c. No part of the fee will under any circumstances be returned to them; but should it be found that their service is not sufficient to entitle them to be examined, or that their testimonials are unsatisfactory, they will be allowed to present themselves for examination without paying any further fee, when they have fulfilled the requisite service, or are able to produce satisfactory testimonials, as the case may be.

29. The fee for examination must be paid to the Port Officer. In any case in which a candidate offers money to any other officer, and in any place but in the Port Office, the candidate so offering money will be regarded as having committed an act of misconduct, and will be rejected and not allowed to be examined for twelve months.

30. If a candidate fails in his examinations, no part of the fee he has paid will be returned to him.

31. The fees are as follow:—

	Rs.
Engineers	12
First class engine-drivers	10

Failure.

32. If the applicant fails in the vivâ voce or practical part of the examination, he may not present himself for re-examination until he can produce proofs of three months' further service afloat. If he fails in arithmetic or drawing only, he may come up again at any time. Engine-drivers may be examined de novo after six months, if the past examination showed that they might reasonably be expected to qualify.

General.

33. Certificates of competency of engineers and first class engine-drivers shall be made out and issued in the forms hereunto annexed.

34. Every certificate of competency shall be made in duplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded by the Port Officer of Calcutta.

Commissioners' servants at liberty to board boats or vessels.

13. No person shall prevent the Superintendents of the wharves, or other persons deputed by them, from boarding any boat or vessel within 150 feet of the wharves, for the purpose of examining or ascertaining the quantities of the goods in them, or of detaining them for payment of tolls or other charges, or of giving effect to any of the bye-laws and rules passed by the Commissioners.

14. The hours for landing and shipping goods at the inland vessels' wharves shall be from 6 A.M. to 6 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and holidays authorized by the Commissioners; and no business shall be transacted on the wharves during the hours intervening between 6 P.M. and 6 A.M., nor on such Sundays and authorised holidays, except on payment of overtime or extra fees respectively.

Challans to be filled up.

16. Any person committing an infringement of any of the foregoing bye-laws shall be liable for the first offence to a fine not exceeding Rs. 100, and for a continuance of that offence, after notice shall have been given him by the Commissioners of his having committed the offence, to a further fine of Rs. 50 per diem.

Importation at Calcutta.

2. The master of every ship bound for Calcutta and carrying petroleum shall, before reaching Budge-Budge, declare in writing to the pilot,* if there is one on board,—

(a) what quantity of petroleum the ship is carrying,

(b) whether any, and if so what, part of the petroleum is dangerous petroleum.

If there is no pilot on board, the master of such ship shall, before reaching Budge-Budge, despatch a similar declaration to the address of the Vice-Chairman of the Port Commissioners.

3. A ship having petroleum on board may proceed to any mooring in the port and there discharge the petroleum—

(a) if the petroleum has come from a port in British India as part of a general cargo, and has been certified not to be dangerous under section 9 of the Act, and does not exceed five thousand gallons in quantity, or

(b) if the petroleum is dangerous petroleum not exceeding forty gallons in quantity, or

(c) if the petroleum is petroleum which is ordinarily used for lubricating or jute-batching purposes, and which has a flashing-point above 150° of Fahrenheit's thermometer:

Provided that the Commissioner of Police shall be entitled at any time to obtain a sample of any petroleum referred to in clause (a) or (c) for the purpose of having it tested.

4. Every other ship having petroleum on board shall not proceed upwards further than Budge-Budge; and such petroleum, whether landed at the petroleum wharf or otherwise discharged, shall be detained there pending the grant of an import license under section 5 of the Act, or the issue of a certificate under section 9 of the Act, or the issue by the Local Government of directions regarding it.

5. (1) When a ship is stopped at Budge-Budge under rule 4, the Superintendent of the Petroleum Wharf shall, as soon as possible, not exceeding forty-eight hours from the time of the petroleum being landed or discharged into boats, obtain samples of all the petroleum landed or discharged, or intended to be landed or discharged. The master shall deliver to the Superintendent without charge such samples as he shall take.

(2) Every different quality of petroleum shall be separately sampled, and when petroleum is represented to be of uniform quality, a sample shall be taken from one case in every ten thousand cases. When petroleum is imported in bulk, a sample shall be taken from each separate compartment of the ship.

6. The Testing-officer shall, as soon as practicable, and ordinarily within twenty-four hours after the receipt of the samples, sign a report certifying that they are, or are not, dangerous petroleum (as the case may be), and shall forward such report to the office of the Port Commissioners, sending also a copy of the same to the Commissioner of Police. The Vice-Chairman of the Port Commissioners shall, on receipt of such report, forthwith forward a copy of the same to the master of the ship in which the petroleum was imported.

7. Unless with the written permission of the Port Commissioners, no petroleum shall be discharged or landed within the Port of Calcutta, except between daylight and dark, and at the wharves expressly set apart for the landing of petroleum.

8. No smoking, fire or light of any description shall be allowed in any shed reserved for the storage of petroleum at the Budge-Budge wharf, or used by the Port Commissioners for the temporary storage of petroleum brought into the port under rule 3, and no receptacle containing petroleum shall be opened, or the contents drawn off, within the embankments enclosing the sheds constructed for the storage of petroleum, except in such special place or places in the depôt as may be set apart by the Port Commissioners for that purpose.

Importation at Chittagong.

9. The master of every ship bound for Chittagong and carrying petroleum shall, before reaching Jooldia, declare in writing to the pilot,* if there is one on board,—

Provided that the Collector of Customs shall be entitled at any time to obtain a sample of any petroleum referred to in clause (a) or (c) for the purpose of having it tested.

11. Every other ship having petroleum on board shall not proceed upwards further than Jooldia, and such petroleum shall be detained there pending the grant of an import license under section 5 of the Act, or the issue of a certificate under section 9 of the Act, or the issue by the Local Government of directions regarding it.

12. (1). When a ship is stopped at Jooldia under rule 11, the Collector of Customs shall, as soon as possible, not exceeding forty-eight hours from the time of the stoppage of the ship, obtain samples of all the petroleum landed or discharged, or intended to be landed or discharged. The master shall deliver to the Collector without charge such samples as he shall take.

(2). Every different quality of petroleum shall be separately sampled, and when petroleum is represented to be of uniform quality, a sample shall be taken from one case in every ten thousand cases. When petroleum is imported in bulk, a sample shall be taken from each separate compartment of the ship.

(3). Importation at other Ports.

15. The master of every ship carrying petroleum shall, on entering a port in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, other than the Ports of Calcutta and Chittagong, give information of the quantity and description of the petroleum to the District Magistrate, and shall not allow any dangerous petroleum to be removed from the ship for delivery to any one person, except,

(a) if the petroleum exceeds forty gallons in quantity, upon the production by the consignee or his agent of a license under section 5 of the Act for the importation of the same, or

* The pilot should deliver this declaration to the Harbour Master or his Assistant when the latter comes on board.

(b) if the petroleum does not exceed forty gallons in quantity, upon the production by the consignee or his agent of a license under section 6 for the transport or possession of the same, or

(c) if the petroleum does not exceed 3 gallons in quantity, in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the Act as to the vessels in which petroleum of that quantity when kept or transported without a license must be contained.

General.

16. The fee for sampling and testing petroleum shall be five rupees for each sample tested.

17. When the results of the testing of samples raise a doubt as to the uniformity of the quality of the petroleum in any consignment stated to be of one uniform quality, the Testing-officer, if he thinks further tests necessary to satisfy him that none of the petroleum is dangerous petroleum, shall inform, in Calcutta, the Superintendent of the Petroleum Wharf, in Chittagong, the Collector of Customs, or, in places other than Calcutta and Chittagong, the District Magistrate.

The District Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Superintendent of the Petroleum Wharf, or, in Chittagong, the Collector of Customs, or any police officer of, or above, the rank of head-constable appointed by him in writing for the purpose, shall thereupon cause the petroleum in question to be landed and stacked in lots of one thousand cases each, or to be discharged into boats each containing five hundred cases; and he shall select and deliver to the Testing-officer one sample from each lot. The result of the testing of each of these samples shall determine the quality of the lot which such sample represents.

If the petroleum has been already landed and stored, it shall be divided into lots, and samples of each lot shall be selected as already stated.

18. Nothing in the foregoing rules applies to petroleum other than dangerous petroleum comprised in a ship's stores, and manifested as such, provided it is not of unreasonably large amount. If any question arises as to whether any petroleum, manifested as ship's stores, is of an unreasonably large amount, the decision thereon of the Port Commissioners in Calcutta or Chittagong, and of the District Magistrate elsewhere, shall be final.

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The 2nd February 1892.

No. 16*Marine*.—The subjoined draft of rules which the Local Government proposes to make under section 11 of the Petroleum Act, 1886, is published for general information, and it is hereby notified that the draft will be taken into consideration on the expiry of one month from this date.

Preliminary.

1. THE following rules shall extend, so far as they apply to dangerous petroleum, to all the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor, and, so far as they apply to other petroleum, only to those local areas to which the rest of the Act has, for the time being, been extended by a notification of the Local Government under section 1, sub-section (3), of the Act.

2. In these rules, including the forms annexed thereto,—

(1) all words and expressions defined in the Act shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Act:

(2) "the town of Calcutta" means all places within the local limits of the original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal: and

(3) "the municipality of Calcutta" means the municipal limits of Calcutta as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888.

Possession of Petroleum.

3. Licenses for the possession of petroleum within the town of Calcutta shall be granted only when (1) the quantity of petroleum to be kept in one place does not exceed 50,000 gallons, and (2) the place intended to be used for the keeping of the petroleum fulfils the following conditions, namely:—(a) if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place does not exceed 5,000 gallons, the building itself shall be constructed of masonry with a terraced or iron roof, and the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to a height of not less than two feet above the level of the road or street, or the floor shall be sunk at least two feet below the level of the road or street, so that the petroleum cannot flow out of the place in case of fire; (b) if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place exceeds 5,000 gallons, the building itself shall be constructed of masonry with a terraced or iron roof, and the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to a height of not less than three feet above the level of the road or street, or the floor shall be sunk at least three feet below the level of the road or street, so that the petroleum cannot flow out of the place in case of fire, and there shall be a clear open space of at least twenty feet round the building.

4. Licenses for the possession of petroleum outside the town of Calcutta shall, if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place does not exceed 50,000 gallons, be granted on the same terms as those granted in the town of Calcutta for the possession in one place of not more than 5,000 gallons. If a license for the possession in one place of a larger quantity than 50,000 gallons be required, the license shall be granted on the same conditions as those granted in the town of Calcutta for the possession in one place of petroleum exceeding in quantity 5,000 gallons: provided that, if the place in which the petroleum is to be kept is situated within one hundred yards of the river Hooghly or Tolly's Nullah, or the Circular Canal, the building shall further be surrounded by a wall or earthen embankment not less than four feet high with a trench close to, and completely surrounding, the building, of sufficient capacity to hold all the petroleum stored, and to prevent its escape beyond the limits of the trench in case of fire.

5. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing rules numbered 3 and 4, respectively, the Local Government may in its discretion, and subject to such conditions as it may prescribe, grant a license for the possession of any stated quantity of petroleum in a place specially prepared for the storage of petroleum in bulk in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the Local Government.

6. The District Magistrate, or in the town of Calcutta the Commissioner of Police, or any police officer of, or above, the rank of head-constable appointed by him in writing for this purpose, may enter any place in respect of which a license for the possession of petroleum has been granted, for the purpose of inspecting the same at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

7. The District Magistrate, Commissioner of Police, or any police officer as aforesaid, may require a sample to be delivered to him from any receptacle containing petroleum stored in any licensed premises. The procedure prescribed in sections 12 and 13 of the Act shall apply to any demand for samples made under this rule and to the testing of such samples.

8. The following fees shall be charged for licenses for the possession of petroleum under the Act in places situated within the municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah, respectively:—

	Rs.
Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum—

	Rs.
When the quantity to be stored exceeds 500, but does not exceed 1,000 gallons	12

9. The fees for licenses for the possession of petroleum in places situated beyond the limits of the municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah shall be half those prescribed in rule 7.

10. Every license for the possession of petroleum in any place shall specify the maximum quantity of petroleum which may be stored in that place.

11. Licenses for the possession of petroleum shall be in force for one year from the date of the grant of the license: provided that the licensing officer or the Local Government may at any time, for good and sufficient reason, cancel a license.

12. Any sheds on the land belonging to the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta and appertaining to the Budge-Budge petroleum depôt, and any sheds used by the Port Commissioners for the temporary storage of petroleum brought into the port of Calcutta under rule 3 of the rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under section 8 of the Act, shall be deemed to be places in respect to which licenses for the possession of petroleum have been granted under these rules.

13. Any tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk that may be erected on the land belonging to the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, and appertaining to the Budge-Budge petroleum depôt, shall be deemed to be a place in respect of which a license for the possession of petroleum has been granted under these rules.

Transport of petroleum.

14. (1) Licenses for the transport of petroleum other than dangerous petroleum in quantities exceeding 500 gallons may be either general or special. Licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum shall be special only.

(3) Licenses for the transport of petroleum in bulk by railway may be granted if the petroleum is contained in waggons approved by the Railway Administration over whose line it is proposed to transport it.

(4) Licenses for the transport of petroleum in bulk by steamer or barge may be granted if the vessel is certified to be fit for the service by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf.

15. General licenses for a period of twelve months shall be issued for transport by cart only. Such licenses shall authorise the holders to transport by cart any petroleum boná fide their own property without restriction as to destination or quantity.

16. The holder of a general license shall with each consignment of petroleum conveyed under cover of his license issue a pass in Form F appended to these rules, specifying the places from and to which the petroleum is to be conveyed, and the quantity of petroleum covered by it. Each pass shall be numbered, and the number of the general license shall be legibly marked on a conspicuous part of the last case on the cart.

17. Special licenses for the transport of petroleum shall be in force for such period not exceeding six months from the date of the grant of the license as may be specified in the license.

18. (1) Every special license for the transport of petroleum shall specify the places from and to which respectively the petroleum is to be conveyed, the quantity of petroleum covered by the license and the time for which the license is in force.

* (2) Petroleum transported to Calcutta or Howrah under a license shall be conveyed by land and not by water between Garden House and Cossipore.

* NOTE.—This rule shall not be read as prohibiting the conveyance by water between Garden House and Cossipore of petroleum which is brought under a license from beyond the limits of Calcutta or Howrah, and is not intended to be landed within these limits.

19. Applications for special licenses for the transport of petroleum by rail, by cart, by boat or by steamer, or by two or more of these modes of conveyance, shall specify the description and quality of petroleum to be transported, and the places from and to which respectively the petroleum is to be conveyed, and shall describe the receptacles in which it is to be contained. In the case of applications for licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum under section 5 of the Act, the application shall also contain the particulars required by sub-section (2) of that section.

20. When a license has been granted under these rules for the transport of petroleum, the District Magistrate, or, in the town of Calcutta, the Commissioner of Police, or any police officer of, or above, the rank of head-constable, appointed by him in writing for this purpose, may, at any time after sunrise and before sunset, and on or before the arrival of the petroleum at its place of destination, board any steamer or boat, or detain any cart, used for such transport, for the purpose of inspecting the license and seeing whether its provisions are being complied with.

Criticisms of different books should be written on separate pieces of paper, so that all the notices of each book derived from different sources may be filed together. The edition of the book criticised should be stated.

Authors and publishers of books on the authorised list are invited to send to the Committee five copies of the latest edition of their works, if recent alterations or improvements render such a course in their opinion desirable.
